3 Gas Station Workers Flee $15,000 Blaze

Clothing Ignites But Trio Escapes Harm In Lube Pit Flames

Three men escaped injury when their clothing ignited during a fire which caused damage estimated between $12,000 and $15,000 Wednesday night at the Paramount Service Station, 1068 Dresden Ave.

Firemen said the blaze in the lubrication room started while the grease pit was being cleaned with gasoline by William J. McLaughlin, operator of the station owned by the Midway Oil Co., and two employes, David Gilkinson and James Martin.

The blaze was set off either by a spark from an air compressor or from a gas-fired hot water heater, firemen said.

The overhead doors had been raised while the work was in progress, enabling the men to flee quickly when the flames flashed.

Despite a hasty retreat, the fire ignited McLaughlin's coat, Martin's trousers and Gilkinson's trouser legs and shoes but the flames were smothered without injury to any of the trio, McLaughlin said.

The fire spread to the ceiling and burned through with the flames then burning over the entire ceiling, firemen said, adding the fire was contained within the ceiling.

Two other rooms were damaged by intense heat, smoke and water, firemen said, but there was no actual fire damage. Water caused plaster to fall in some places, they said.

Firemen laid 350 feet of hose and also used two booster lines from trucks to combat the flames. The portable light plant also was set up to illuminate the scene.

The first alarm was received at 9:56 p. m. from Dr. Derwin Dimmerling, who resides next to the station.

George T. Farrall, president of the oil company, who estimated the loss, said it is partially covered by insurance.

Dominican Republic Guards Against Haiti

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Generalmissimo Rafael Trujillo's government says it is arming a "foreign legion" to defend neighboring Haiti, a traditional blood enemy, against the threat of invasion.

Both Haiti's President Francois Duvalier and Trujillo's dictatorship are reported marked for overthrow by forces plotting under the benevolent eye of revolutionary regimes in Cuba and Venezuela. Haiti and the Dominican Republic share the island of Hispaniola, in the Caribbean.

Adenauer, De Gaulle See West-Soviet Talks

PARIS (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle see the West and the Soviet Union moving toward a foreign ministers conference and possibly summit talks, French sources said today.

Adenauer was in a cheerful mood as he took off for home after talks with the French leader. An official spokesman said they reached no dramatic decisions and planned no Paris-Bonn axis designed to impose their thinking on their Western allies.

Others Feared Dead

21 Boys Claimed In Arkansas Fire

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Fire roared through a locked dormitory at the State Training School for Delinquent Negro Boys at nearby Wrightsville early today.

At least 21 youths died, and fire officials said they feared others might have perished.

Survivors escaped by kicking out windows which were covered with heavy-gauge, double screens designed to prevent escapes.

About 12 bodies were found piled up in one spot. Apparently they died trying to get out.

The 21 bodies which were recovered were burned beyond recognition.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who went to the scene as soon as he heard of the fire, said the doors should not have been barred and there should have been an adult in the building.

Faubus said an investigation would be made.

Origin of the blaze that destroyed the dormitory within an hour could not be determined immediately. Faubus said he had been told there was an electrical storm at the time.

The dazed survivors, ranging in age from 14 to 17, wandered about as firemen, sheriff's officers, and prisoners from a nearby penal farm tried to quench the smouldering ruins of the dormitory.

Fire Capt. Bill Deaton said he saw eight bodies in a pile and nine other bodies had been taken from the charred remains of the 20-year-old building.

A vocational teacher who normally slept in the building was in the hospital at the time the fire broke out.

George Williamson, 16, a survivor, said: "I heard screaming and hollering. There was smoke all over. I couldn't see anything. I found a window and got out."

Faubus appeared grim as he surveyed the glowing rubble.

"I inspected this school a year ago and found it safe," the governor said. "It's the first time anything like this has happened at such an institution in Arkansas."

First reports said 21 boys were missing but the figure was revised after a roll call was taken.

3 Dead, 2 Others Missing In Hazelton Hotel Blaze

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Screaming in terror, guests shinnied down cables or climbed or were borne down fire ladders early today as flames raged up an elevator shaft of the five-story Gary Hotel.

Authorities said there were 3 known dead, 2 other persons unaccounted for and 2 more critically hurt.

At least 24 persons were taken to hospitals for treatment of burns, cuts, smoke poisoning and shock.

Two of the dead were removed soon after the fire broke out. A third body was found later.

The entire front wall of the hotel collapsed into heaps of rubble. It was thought the two missing persons might be dead in this wreckage.

Victims fled from the flaming building, their night clothes ablaze. Others stood and sat dazed in the street as 100 firemen from four companies fought the raging fire for more than two hours.

Efforts to control the blaze were hampered by icy streets and ice coated hoses resulting from the biting 23 degree weather.

Flames shot from the windows and burst through the roof of the brick building as firemen arrived. Residents stood at windows on the upper floors screaming for help. Two of these were George Klem, 22, and his wife, Beverly, 18.

The Klems waited 20 minutes for help at the window of their fourth floor, rear apartment. Finally, in desperation, Mrs. Klem grabbed a television cable and slid to a pole from where she was able to swing to the roof of an adjoining 1½ story building. Her husband followed by the same route. Both suffered lacerations of the hands.

The scantily clad Mrs. Klem, shaking with fright and holding aloft her wire slashed hands, told of their escape.

"We tried to make the fire escape but we couldn't. It was too hot and smoky. I tried wrapping a wet towel around my face but it didn't help. I decided to grab onto the wire and take a chance.

"I slid down. The crowd hollered for me to let go but I wasn't letting go for anyone. It was awful. I can't believe we got out."

English Lord Inspects Shippingport A-Plant

Lord Edwin Plowden, head of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority, was taken on an hour and a half tour of the Shippingport atomic power station Wednesday by G. M. Oldham, superintendent.

Plowden is in America to inspect installations of the Atomic Energy Commission. Others in the party were Sir William G. Penney, director of the British Atomic Weapons Research Establishment, Dr. Jack Gaunt, an expert of the British Atomic Energy Authority, and Adm. H. G. Rickover, head of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's naval reactors branch.

Pay Tax Bill Is Killed In West Virginia

Measure Aimed To Raise $14 Million Dies In Senate Unit

CHARLESTON (AP) — The 1959 West Virginia Legislature is following a familiar script, which calls for a last-act deadlock between Senate and House on how to raise money.

The climax has been fairly predictable since the curtain went up in January. But it was not reached until Wednesday, 50th day of the 60-day session.

That was when the Senate Finance Committee killed the income tax, the only major general revenue tax measure passed so far by either house.

From the start, leaders of the Democratic majorities of both houses have agreed that the state needs more income for services that are financed from general revenue - education, mental hospitals and public assistance, to name major items. The disagreement has been on how to raise money and how much to raise.

The House made its effort with the bill to impose a state income tax, passed by the delegates Monday. Senate Finance killed it yesterday. The bill was intended to bring in 14 million dollars a year, although this estimate has been disputed as too high.

The income tax bill also would have repealed the soft drinks tax, earmarked exclusively for support of the West Virginia University Medical Center. To replace that loss, four million a year of income tax revenue would have been set aside for the center.

The Senate, for its part, has approached the money problem with a packet of more modest tax measures, mostly to squeeze out more revenue from existing tax laws.

Yesterday the Senate passed one such bill, to raise 1½ million a year by putting contractors under a surtax in the gross sales tax law.

The Senate had up for passage today two more revenue bills, adding up to an additional 2½ million a year in estimated income for the general revenue fund. The bills would extend the gross sales tax to professional people and increase the tax bite on horse race tracks.

Not much enthusiasm for the Senate approach has been displayed on the House side. The only general revenue tax bill of any consequence passed previously by the Senate was amended downward from three million dollars to $200,000 before it was sent to the floor by the House Finance Committee. This was a bill to impose

$1 Million In Bogus Bills Seized; 25 Cited

CHICAGO (AP) — Recovery of more than one million dollars in $100 bogus bills and the seizure of 25 members of a nationwide counterfeiting ring were announced today by the U.S. Secret Service.

Paul J. Paterni, head of the Chicago Secret Service office, said the counterfeit notes were recovered in 22 states.

He said that 25 persons have been arrested since November as agents worked quietly to stamp out the counterfeiting network.

Paterni said the operation was finished off Wednesday night with the arrest of two Chicago men he termed the ringleaders.

Willing To Extend Deadline On Berlin, Khrushchev States

U.S., Allies Expected To Spur Defense

Move Foreseen As Officials Predict Rising Of Tension

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increase in U.S. and Allied defense measures is foreseen by officials who predict tensions will mount over the next few months between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

In spite of moves on both sides toward negotiation, Washington authorities are confident that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev intends to put on much more pressure to get the Western powers out of Berlin.

They expect a period of extreme tension and war threats in the late spring or early summer and say privately the Western Allies must be in position to handle that kind of situation.

One possible move reported under consideration at high levels of the government is a calling up of some military reserve units.

The range of measures which may be taken here and in Europe in preparation for a showdown is one of the subjects likely to be discussed this month by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. A variety of other subjects bearing on negotiations with the U.S.S.R. also will come up when Macmillan comes here in mid-March.

Indications of advance planning to meet the predicted emergency came from President Eisenhower at his news conference Wednesday.

At one point he said that there probably will be a need for a stepped up air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going." This was a reference to the operation of the Strategic Air Command.

But Eisenhower said he considers satisfactory "for the present moment" the ground alert system now in effect. Under this system, planes and crews are kept in a state of readiness to take off in 15 minutes.

The President did not, however, rule out steps short of general mobilization should the situation now progressively more serious.

Sends Back Clear Signals

Pioneer IV Spins By 300,000-Mile Mark Toward Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV spun past the 300,000-mile level today still sending back clear accounts of space mysteries unraveled in its race into orbit around the sun.

The General Electric tracking station in Schenectady, N.Y. received the Pioneer's signal at 10:15 a.m., EST, when the moon probe was 305,000 miles from earth. GE said it expected to lose the signals at about 1:15 p.m.

The tracking station at Goldstone in the Mojave Desert of California picked up the radio voice of the gold-washed cone at 7:37 a.m. EST today from far out past the moon.

At that time the distance from earth, computed from telemetry signals described as strong and clear, was 303,000 miles. In line with advance calculation, speed away from the earth had dropped to 4,250 miles an hour.

The signals showed a temperature of 41 to 42 degrees centigrade —104 degrees Fahrenheit— for the instrument payload of the space traveler. That was higher than the temperatures radioed back by the Army's Pioneer III which went about a third of the way to the moon before it failed and fell back. It was well within the range of comfort for space travelers of the future.

Earlier reports from the American space traveler already had given another favorable indication for man's own ventures outside the earth's environs — no major radiation belt encountered above the two discovered by Explorer satellites.

The 13-pound cone sped past the moon, 37,000 miles to the side, at 5:24 p.m. Wednesday, at a velocity of 4,525 miles an hour.

Before Goldstone picked up the signals this morning, the British station at Jodrell Bank had locked on its signals and followed them from 3 a.m. to about 8 a.m.

The mutiple tracking provided new opportunity for precise new calculations on speed and distance.

Goldstone expected to lose the signal again about 4:20 p.m. as

Would Call It Off Until June Or July

Ready To Postpone Time If East-West Talks Start By Then

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today he is prepared to postpone the May 27 deadline on Berlin—provided fruitful East-West negotiations are under way then.

Khrushchev said the May 27 date might be postponed until June 27 "or maybe July 27. We are in no hurry."

The Soviet Premier made his remarks in an impromptu speech at a luncheon given by the mayor of Leipzig.

The question was brought up by Ian Mikardo, member of the British House of Commons and a deputy chairman of the British Labor party.

Mikardo asked Khrushchev what he meant to do about the May 27 deadline.

Khrushchev noted that the West has been calling the May 27 deadline an ultimatum.

"That is not true," Khrushchev said.

Then came his remarks about a postponement.

He warned again that the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany if the West refuses to sign a peace treaty with all of Germany.

Khrushchev also warned the West against using force on the Communist world.

Crucible Sees Good Sales In Months Ahead

3rd Quarter Outlook Clouded By Union's Contract Negotiation

The Crucible Steel Co. demonstrated a new-found strength in the recession year 1958, according to Joel Hunter, president, who said in his annual message to stockholders that business should be good the next few months but indicated the outlook is clouded by mid-year labor negotiations.

His statement was contained in the company's annual report released today at Pittsburgh.

"The demand for most of our products dropped in the early part of the year to the lowest level in a decade," he said. "Income was small, but increased each quarter and with the business improvement toward the year-end, net income for 1958 was higher than in any postwar recession year."

Hunter predicted that business will be good at least for the next few months.

He said that although Crucible's order book is much improved, it is difficult to predict third-quarter outcome of the mid-year negotiations for a new labor contract.

Chester Sets Deadline For Assessments

Street Repair Bills To Be Due April 1, Councilmen Decree

Chester Council Wednesday night set an April 1 deadline on payment of past-due street assessments in a meeting at which other street and sewer matters were discussed.

Council authorized Clerk Roy Cashdollar to send notices to residents still owing money on street improvements that payments must be made by next month or the bills will be assigned to Squire Eugene Allison for collection.

In other action, Council approved first reading of an amendment to an ordinance governing excavation of streets. The original ordinance required posting of a guarantee of $5 per square yard for excavations to insure the street surfaces will be restored to original condition.

The amendment, requested by the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co., enables utilities to post standing $1,000 surety bonds as a guarantee for all street openings which may be made.

Beltline Firm May Build One At Cleveland

A beltline conveyor to link the Cleveland docks with the Cuyahoga River Valley steelmill district apparently is the "alternative" project that shelved plans for the "rubber railroad" which had designated East Liverpool as a terminal.

Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., of Akron was scheduled to seek enabling legislation in the Ohio Assembly before the deadline today for submitting bills for the river-lake proposal but announced Wednesday the attempt would not be made.

An explanation was promised shortly but later yesterday sources close to the legislature indicated the beltline promoters now will concentrate on the Cleveland project.

Iron ore and limestone brought in by lake ships would be carried overhead to the so-called Flats steelmills, eliminating the present tedious trips of the vessels up the narrow and tortuous river.

A study in 1952 estimated this project, a 5-mile line with a 42-inch wide belt, would cost $6 million, but probably much more now.

The 103-mile conveyor proposed to link East Liverpool with Cleveland or Lorain was once estimated at $225 million but now is considered closer to $336 million.

Continued opposition apparently resulted in the beltline firm's decision not to seek legislation for the right of eminent domain in the current session of the legislature.

Railroad forces and their unions have defeated two attempts for this enabling legislation, the last four years ago. Eminent domain, which is granted common carriers, permits condemnation of land and jury valuation when a property owner refuses to sell for right-of-way purposes.

$5,000 In Bills Stolen From Home At Lisbon

LISBON — Theft of $5,000 in $100 and $50 bills is being investigated today by village police after Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, 123 W. Chestnut St., reported the money was taken from a strongbox Wednesday night, according to Chief Dalton Pike.

The money was left under a coat on the diningroom table while Mrs. Thomas and son, Walter, who resides upstairs, were visiting her husband in the hospital in Salem.

When Mrs. Thomas and her son arrived home just after 9 p. m., they thought they saw a man running off the side porch. They checked and found the side door standing open and the diningroom ransacked.

Entrance was gained with a key which had been stolen from their mail box last summer and it still was sticking in door last night after the burglary, Officer Leon Zahrndt said.

Mrs. Walter Thomas was in the apartment upstairs at the time but told police she heard nothing unusual.

Reds Sharply Protest U.S. Boarding Russian Trawler

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union today sharply protested the U.S. naval boarding of a Soviet trawler suspected of cutting a transatlantic cable off Newfoundland.

Moscow radio said a note handed to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow described reports that the trawler Novorossisk had damaged the cables as "a complete invention."

The boarding took place off Newfoundland Feb. 26. The officer who headed the American search party, Lt. Donald Sheely of Falls Church, Va., said later that the fishing boat "probably quite likely" had something to do with the break in the cables but he didn't know whether accidentally or intentionally.

"The note," said the Moscow broadcast, "points out that the incident involving detention of the Soviet trawler was undertaken with provocative aims in mind.

"The Soviet government expects the U.S. government to take all necessary measures to prevent the recurrence of such unwarranted actions toward Soviet fishing trawlers engaged in fishing in the open seas."

The note said the trawler "did

At one point he said that there probably will be a need for a stepped up air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going." This was a reference to the operation of the Strategic Air Command.

But Eisenhower said he considers satisfactory "for the present moment" the ground alert system now in effect. Under this system, planes and crews are kept in a state of readiness to take off in 15 minutes.

The President did not, however, rule out steps short of general mobilization should the situation now progressively more serious.

Sends Back Clear Signals

Pioneer IV Spins By 300,000-Mile Mark Toward Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer IV spun past the 300,000-mile level today still sending back clear accounts of space mysteries unraveled in its race into orbit around the sun.

The General Electric tracking station in Schenectady, N.Y. received the Pioneer's signal at 10:15 a.m., EST, when the moon probe was 305,000 miles from earth. GE said it expected to lose the signals at about 1:15 p.m.

The tracking station at Goldstone in the Mojave Desert of California picked up the radio voice of the gold-washed cone at 7:37 a.m. EST today from far out past the moon.

At that time the distance from earth, computed from telemetry signals described as strong and clear, was 303,000 miles. In line with advance calculation, speed away from the earth had dropped to 4,250 miles an hour.

The signals showed a temperature of 41 to 42 degrees centigrade —104 degrees Fahrenheit— for the instrument payload of the space traveler. That was higher than the temperatures radioed back by the Army's Pioneer III which went about a third of the way to the moon before it failed and fell back. It was well within the range of comfort for space travelers of the future.

Earlier reports from the American space traveler already had given another favorable indication for man's own ventures outside the earth's environs — no major radiation belt encountered above the two discovered by Explorer satellites.

The 13-pound cone sped past the moon, 37,000 miles to the side, at 5:24 p.m. Wednesday, at a velocity of 4,525 miles an hour.

Before Goldstone picked up the signals this morning, the British station at Jodrell Bank had locked on its signals and followed them from 3 a.m. to about 8 a.m.

The mutiple tracking provided new opportunity for precise new calculations on speed and distance.

Goldstone expected to lose the signal again about 4:20 p.m. as

Would Call It Off Until June Or July

Ready To Postpone Time If East-West Talks Start By Then

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today he is prepared to postpone the May 27 deadline on Berlin—provided fruitful East-West negotiations are under way then.

Khrushchev said the May 27 date might be postponed until June 27 "or maybe July 27. We are in no hurry."

The Soviet Premier made his remarks in an impromptu speech at a luncheon given by the mayor of Leipzig.

The question was brought up by Ian Mikardo, member of the British House of Commons and a deputy chairman of the British Labor party.

Mikardo asked Khrushchev what he meant to do about the May 27 deadline.

Khrushchev noted that the West has been calling the May 27 deadline an ultimatum.

"That is not true," Khrushchev said.

Then came his remarks about a postponement.

He warned again that the Soviet Union will sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany if the West refuses to sign a peace treaty with all of Germany.

Khrushchev also warned the West against using force on the Communist world.

Crucible Sees Good Sales In Months Ahead

3rd Quarter Outlook Clouded By Union's Contract Negotiation

The Crucible Steel Co. demonstrated a new-found strength in the recession year 1958, according to Joel Hunter, president, who said in his annual message to stockholders that business should be good the next few months but indicated the outlook is clouded by mid-year labor negotiations.

His statement was contained in the company's annual report released today at Pittsburgh.

"The demand for most of our products dropped in the early part of the year to the lowest level in a decade," he said. "Income was small, but increased each quarter and with the business improvement toward the year-end, net income for 1958 was higher than in any postwar recession year."

Hunter predicted that business will be good at least for the next few months.

He said that although Crucible's order book is much improved, it is difficult to predict third-quarter outcome of the mid-year negotiations for a new labor contract.

Chester Sets Deadline For Assessments

Street Repair Bills To Be Due April 1, Councilmen Decree

Chester Council Wednesday night set an April 1 deadline on payment of past-due street assessments in a meeting at which other street and sewer matters were discussed.

Council authorized Clerk Roy Cashdollar to send notices to residents still owing money on street improvements that payments must be made by next month or the bills will be assigned to Squire Eugene Allison for collection.

In other action, Council approved first reading of an amendment to an ordinance governing excavation of streets. The original ordinance required posting of a guarantee of $5 per square yard for excavations to insure the street surfaces will be restored to original condition.

The amendment, requested by the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co., enables utilities to post standing $1,000 surety bonds as a guarantee for all street openings which may be made.

Beltline Firm May Build One At Cleveland

A beltline conveyor to link the Cleveland docks with the Cuyahoga River Valley steelmill district apparently is the "alternative" project that shelved plans for the "rubber railroad" which had designated East Liverpool as a terminal.

Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., of Akron was scheduled to seek enabling legislation in the Ohio Assembly before the deadline today for submitting bills for the river-lake proposal but announced Wednesday the attempt would not be made.

An explanation was promised shortly but later yesterday sources close to the legislature indicated the beltline promoters now will concentrate on the Cleveland project.

Iron ore and limestone brought in by lake ships would be carried overhead to the so-called Flats steelmills, eliminating the present tedious trips of the vessels up the narrow and tortuous river.

A study in 1952 estimated this project, a 5-mile line with a 42-inch wide belt, would cost $6 million, but probably much more now.

The 103-mile conveyor proposed to link East Liverpool with Cleveland or Lorain was once estimated at $225 million but now is considered closer to $336 million.

Continued opposition apparently resulted in the beltline firm's decision not to seek legislation for the right of eminent domain in the current session of the legislature.

Railroad forces and their unions have defeated two attempts for this enabling legislation, the last four years ago. Eminent domain, which is granted common carriers, permits condemnation of land and jury valuation when a property owner refuses to sell for right-of-way purposes.

$5,000 In Bills Stolen From Home At Lisbon

LISBON — Theft of $5,000 in $100 and $50 bills is being investigated today by village police after Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, 123 W. Chestnut St., reported the money was taken from a strongbox Wednesday night, according to Chief Dalton Pike.

The money was left under a coat on the diningroom table while Mrs. Thomas and son, Walter, who resides upstairs, were visiting her husband in the hospital in Salem.

When Mrs. Thomas and her son arrived home just after 9 p. m., they thought they saw a man running off the side porch. They checked and found the side door standing open and the diningroom ransacked.

Entrance was gained with a key which had been stolen from their mail box last summer and it still was sticking in door last night after the burglary, Officer Leon Zahrndt said.

Mrs. Walter Thomas was in the apartment upstairs at the time but told police she heard nothing unusual.

Note Handed Ambassador

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union today sharply protested the U.S. naval boarding of a Soviet trawler suspected of cutting a transatlantic cable off Newfoundland.

Moscow radio said a note handed to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow described reports that the trawler Novorossisk had damaged the cables as "a complete invention."

The boarding took place off Newfoundland Feb. 26. The officer who headed the American search party, Lt. Donald Sheely of Falls Church, Va., said later that the fishing boat "probably quite likely" had something to do with the break in the cables but he didn't know whether accidentally or intentionally.

"The note," said the Moscow broadcast, "points out that the incident involving detention of the Soviet trawler was undertaken with provocative aims in mind.

"The Soviet government expects the U.S. government to take all necessary measures to prevent the recurrence of such unwarranted actions toward Soviet fishing trawlers engaged in fishing in the open seas."

The note said the trawler "did

He said the Soviet demand for a peace treaty was made urgent by the fact that nearly 14 years have elapsed since the end of World War II.

Meanwhile East Germany's top Communists are believed urging Khrushchev during his current visit to move more quickly in giving them a peace treaty and control over Allied routes to West Berlin.

Within minutes after arriving in Leipzig Wednesday, Khrushchev declared the U.S.S.R. would sign a separate peace pact with East Germany unless the West comes to terms on an all-German settlement.

Speaking after Khrushchev, East Germany's Communist leader Walter Ulbricht said: "Our people desire a peace treaty. Further delay can no longer be tolerated."

The Soviet premier may not be moving fast enough for the impatient East German leaders. The Red army brought them out of Soviet exile at the end of World War II and put them in charge of East Germany. Ulbricht and his associates badly want the symbols of mastery in their own house. They feel that the sooner they get them, the sooner other governments will recognize them as rulers of a real nation.

The East German Communists have an uncomfortable feeling that Khrushchev considers them at least partly expendable in the global East-West diplomatic warfare.

The Soviet leader undoubtedly regards Germany as only part—though an important part—of the whole world picture. He may feel he can gain concessions from the West by delaying, perhaps indefinitely, giving the East German satellite government the stronger powers it is seeking.

Khrushchev's visit officially is being made to see the Leipzig Trade Fair, an annual showcase of the Communist world's industrial might. But East German officials made plain that they are more interested in the political aspects of his trip.

Khrushchev's visit was given a terrific buildup by the East German government but his first appearance Wednesday failed to arouse much enthusiasm among the people.

reported legal advertising of a proposed ordinance establishing sewage rates for a planned sewage disposal system are to be published in two Hancock County newspapers this week.

The legal notices are a prelude to a public hearing on the rates and subsequent action by Council in enacting the ordinance. Conklin said a public hearing has not yet been scheduled.

Discussion was held on reported parking congestion in front of various churches during Sunday services, especially on Indiana Ave. The street committee is to study the parking problem, and report at the meeting March 18.

Purchase of a quantity of a phosphate compound for use in the city water system, to aid in maintaining cleaner water lines and cutting cleaning costs, was authorized.

The material is to be obtained from Warren Chemical Co. of Chicago, which was represented at the meeting by L. W. Timmons of Butler. Use of the chemical was observed by Councilmen John Abrams, John Olash and James Waggle and Water Supt. Harold Ash in a visit to Butler Sunday.

Timmons explained the material is placed in the water at the pumping station and is carried through the lines. It is harmless, tends to soften the water and is used in many cities, he added.

One ton of the material has been ordered at a cost of $520, and will last about 4 months, officials said this morning. Delivery is expected in a few weeks.

Council took no action last night concerning a request from the Hancock County Education Association to "abolish, or at least limit Daylight Saving Time to Sept. 1.

The letter from Mrs. Caroline Mountford, corresponding secretary, reminded Council a similar request had been filed last September. The association is seeking earlier daylight hours in mornings in the fall for school bus travel. DST has been extended into October in the past.

Cashdollar reported the city sanitary land fill has been inspected by Glenn Montgomery, county sanitation officer, and approved for the year.

While DeMar Miller, reporter, hammered the keys, the legislators lifted voices in song and Councilman Charles Kology tried a clog dance.

County Questions Contract For Use Of Vote Machines

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is studying a proposed contract between the county commissioners and a Canton firm on a rental agreement for use of 14 voting machines in the primary and general election.

The commissioners recently received the contract, but referred it to the prosecutor to determine if the printed form might not constitute a purchase rather than rental.

The original agreement stipulated the rental fees may be applied to the purchase of the machines if the commissioners decided to install permanent voting machine equipment.

The trials of the machines are slated at East Palestine and Lisbon. A Salem women's group is reportedly opposed to the use of machines on grounds they are too expensive and there are more modern devices available anyway.

The proposed agreement calls for the county to pay the Shoup Voting Machine Co. of Canton rental of 10 per cent of the cost of $1,833 per unit. The firm is also to set up the machines and help give instructions on their use.

not cause any damage to underwater telegraph or telephone transatlantic cables."

"Reports in the U.S. press on this question were a complete invention," it declared.

The U.S. State Department had notified Moscow immediately with an explanation that the broading was carried out under terms of an 1884 treaty. This treaty—originally signed by the czarist regime but later subscribed to by the Soviet Communist government—permits inspection of documents of ships suspected of damaging oceanic cables wilfully or through culpable negligence.

Lt. Sheely reported the Soviet crew offered no resistance to the inspection and that the trawler sailed away quietly when told to leave the area.

Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, had exonerated the Soviets earlier of deliberately cutting the cables after getting a report that the American search party found "no indications of intentions other than fishing."

Soviet newspapers and Moscow radio had described the boarding as unlawful but they gave factual reports on the incident.

Rochester Man Indicted In Midland Assault Case

William Bacon of Rochester was indicted Wednesday by the Beaver County Grand Jury on a charge of raping a 14-year-old Midland girl Feb. 12. Seven true bills were returned.

The Grand Jury made its inspection of county institutions and buildings Wednesday afternoon. It was expected to finish with its cases today.

Trials for those indicted will begin Monday, including Delores Pogue of Midland charged with attempt to kill during a stabbing Feb. 12 at 5th St. and Beaver Ave., Midland.

The incident did not occur at the Midland Elks Club, 374 Midland Ave., as first reported in the Review.

Pioneer

the Pioneer passes below the horizon.

By that time the cone, now a minor asteriod of the sun, would be another 35,000 miles out.

At 4:20 p.m. today Pioneer IV will have been followed by tracking stations for 64 hours. The Soviets claimed 65 hours for their Mechta space traveler which they say has been in a sun orbit for weeks.

Goldstone expected to get the signals again at 7:30 a.m. Friday, from a distance close to the estimated 400,000 mile outer range of Pioneer IV's radio. That would be longer than any other space probe has ever been tracked.

Scientists expect to continue receiving Pioneer's signal throughout today and much of Friday until it is more than 400,000 miles away. Its battery was designed to remain strong until Saturday, but by that time it may be too far away for its radio to be heard.

Officials were confident that ever thereafter Pioneer would sail on silently about the sun, traveling about 3,400 miles an hour faster than the earth.

Mostly its orbit will be between that of the earth and the next outer planet, Mars. But sometimes it will be a little way—a million miles or so — inside the earth's orbit, temporarily an "inner planet" like Venus and Mercury.

Already the little space voyager has reported finding no major radiation belt above those discovered by the Explorer satellite vehicles. This was encouraging news for men soon to be trained for space flight.

Presumably trailing close behind Pioneer IV in space is the hull of the final stage rocket—a hollow metal tube 3½ feet long and six inches in diameter. But the rocket shell has no radio voice and no means of being tracked.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration held a news conference Wednesday as Pioneer IV sped past the moon a bit more than 41 hours after its launching early Tuesday. It missed the moon by 37,000 miles instead of the 20,000 or less originally hoped for.

Homer J. Stewart, NASA planning and evaluation director, told newsmen it would slow down gradually to 3,400 miles an hour, although for all practical purposes it had passed the earth's gravity field into the start of its orbit around the sun.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Officially, there's not much new in Maryland—except for a bridge dedication and construction of a harbor tunnel—since the Battle of Monocacy July 9, 1864.

The Hall of Records list says seven important events occurred in Maryland in the 16th Century, 12 in the 18th Century and nine in the 19th Century.

Easter Animal Display Warning Given Stores

Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, today issued a warning to East Liverpool stores on Health Board regulations governing the display of baby chicks and animals for sale for Easter.

The physician's warning said: "The display of baby chicks or other animals for sale or giveaway in any business place where food, drink and confections are handled is prohibited by the Board of Health."

County Questions Contract For Use Of Vote Machines

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw is studying a proposed contract between the county commissioners and a Canton firm on a rental agreement for use of 14 voting machines in the primary and general election.

The commissioners recently received the contract, but referred it to the prosecutor to determine if the printed form might not constitute a purchase rather than rental.

The original agreement stipulated the rental fees may be applied to the purchase of the machines if the commissioners decided to install permanent voting machine equipment.

The trials of the machines are slated at East Palestine and Lisbon. A Salem women's group is reportedly opposed to the use of machines on grounds they are too expensive and there are more modern devices available anyway.

The proposed agreement calls for the county to pay the Shoup Voting Machine Co. of Canton rental of 10 per cent of the cost of $1,833 per unit. The firm is also to set up the machines and help give instructions on their use.

not cause any damage to underwater telegraph or telephone transatlantic cables."

"Reports in the U.S. press on this question were a complete invention," it declared.

The U.S. State Department had notified Moscow immediately with an explanation that the broading was carried out under terms of an 1884 treaty. This treaty—originally signed by the czarist regime but later subscribed to by the Soviet Communist government—permits inspection of documents of ships suspected of damaging oceanic cables wilfully or through culpable negligence.

Lt. Sheely reported the Soviet crew offered no resistance to the inspection and that the trawler sailed away quietly when told to leave the area.

Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, had exonerated the Soviets earlier of deliberately cutting the cables after getting a report that the American search party found "no indications of intentions other than fishing."

Soviet newspapers and Moscow radio had described the boarding as unlawful but they gave factual reports on the incident.

Rochester Man Indicted In Midland Assault Case

William Bacon of Rochester was indicted Wednesday by the Beaver County Grand Jury on a charge of raping a 14-year-old Midland girl Feb. 12. Seven true bills were returned.

The Grand Jury made its inspection of county institutions and buildings Wednesday afternoon. It was expected to finish with its cases today.

Trials for those indicted will begin Monday, including Delores Pogue of Midland charged with attempt to kill during a stabbing Feb. 12 at 5th St. and Beaver Ave., Midland.

The incident did not occur at the Midland Elks Club, 374 Midland Ave., as first reported in the Review.

the Pioneer passes below the horizon.

By that time the cone, now a minor asteriod of the sun, would be another 35,000 miles out.

At 4:20 p.m. today Pioneer IV will have been followed by tracking stations for 64 hours. The Soviets claimed 65 hours for their Mechta space traveler which they say has been in a sun orbit for weeks.

Goldstone expected to get the signals again at 7:30 a.m. Friday, from a distance close to the estimated 400,000 mile outer range of Pioneer IV's radio. That would be longer than any other space probe has ever been tracked.

Scientists expect to continue receiving Pioneer's signal throughout today and much of Friday until it is more than 400,000 miles away. Its battery was designed to remain strong until Saturday, but by that time it may be too far away for its radio to be heard.

Officials were confident that ever thereafter Pioneer would sail on silently about the sun, traveling about 3,400 miles an hour faster than the earth.

Mostly its orbit will be between that of the earth and the next outer planet, Mars. But sometimes it will be a little way—a million miles or so — inside the earth's orbit, temporarily an "inner planet" like Venus and Mercury.

Already the little space voyager has reported finding no major radiation belt above those discovered by the Explorer satellite vehicles. This was encouraging news for men soon to be trained for space flight.

Presumably trailing close behind Pioneer IV in space is the hull of the final stage rocket—a hollow metal tube 3½ feet long and six inches in diameter. But the rocket shell has no radio voice and no means of being tracked.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration held a news conference Wednesday as Pioneer IV sped past the moon a bit more than 41 hours after its launching early Tuesday. It missed the moon by 37,000 miles instead of the 20,000 or less originally hoped for.

Homer J. Stewart, NASA planning and evaluation director, told newsmen it would slow down gradually to 3,400 miles an hour, although for all practical purposes it had passed the earth's gravity field into the start of its orbit around the sun.

EAST PALESTINE — Police Chief Carl Lotze returned Wednesday from Salem City Hospital, where he was a patient for almost two weeks with a leg affliction. He is expected to return to duty soon.

Officially, There's Not Much New In Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Officially, there's not much new in Maryland—except for a bridge dedication and construction of a harbor tunnel—since the Battle of Monocacy July 9, 1864.

The state's latest official information pamphlet, though bearing a portrait of a new governor elected only last November, lists the bridge and tunnel as noteworthy events of the 20th Century.

The Hall of Records list says seven important events occurred in Maryland in the 16th Century, 12 in the 18th Century and nine in the 19th Century.

DiSalle Lays It On The Line

Until some future Ohio governor makes a clearer presentation of the state's budget problem, Michael V. DiSalle will get credit for the best job in the memory of any living Ohioan.

He has gone to the mat with a tough subject and pinned it down. He has confronted a spending-minded legislature with an ultimatum that cannot be brushed aside:

If you want to spend more money, you have to raise more money.

HERE IS what the governor proposes in the way of more money:

1. That Ohioans who use liquor should pay for it at prices competitive with those of neighboring states—enough more to raise 20 million a year.

2. That Ohioans who use cigarettes should pay two more cents a package—enough to raise 23 million a year.

3. That Ohioans who drink beer should be willing to pay for the 3.2 per cent variety at the same rate as the high-powered variety—enough to raise two million a year.

4. That Ohioans who bet on horse races should pay three million a year more than they are paying now.

5. That Ohio corporations should raise 13 million a year more in their franchise taxes.

6. That all Ohioans hold still for adjustments in the way sales taxes are collected to produce 22 million additional revenue.

The total in all new revenue, including a tax boost on gasoline and diesel fuel, would be something more than a third of a billion dollars in the next two years, or a sixth of a billion each year.

Ohioans should become familiar with the idea of billions, because their budgets from now on will be described in billions. The grand total of the budget Gov. DiSalle is talking about—a two-year budget—is $2,076,212,000. The comparable figure for the O'Neill administration was $1,875,287,762.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY can take that figure or leave it. If it takes it, additional taxes must be forthcoming.

If it leaves it, for the sake of avoiding additional taxes, it must give up much of the spending it and preceding assemblies have found so attractive.

Gov. DiSalle has shut the mouths of pop-off critics who try to shove blame on the executive at budget-making time by giving the legislature a range of five choices, from an all-out austerity program to an all-out spending program. His own recommendation is a middle-of-the-road program, to keep the state solvent without crippling its orderly growth.

This is accompanied, moreover, by a recommendation that could make a vital difference to Ohioans in the years to come—a financial study of Ohio, with a view to more orderly budget procedure.

Every state in the Union is having budget trouble in 1959. Some of them have been having trouble for several years. Ohio, itself, has been kept off the financial hook by the surpluses it piled up during the war years from sales tax collections, when large-scale spending had to be deferred because the federal government would not give states priorities on building material.

The fact is that in every year starting in 1948 Ohio has spent more money than it has collected, draining away its surplus. It now has come to the end of the line. The surplus is gone.

The state either must go to its taxpayers or to the dogs.

Fortunately, it can go to its taxpayers with good grace because it has not abused them. Also fortunately, its new governor, with a four-year term to give him time to make adjustments and a point of view that makes going to the dogs a betrayal of his trust, is leveling with taxpayers when he tells them the unpleasant facts of budgetary life.

THE GOVERNOR'S dandor has put the members of the legislature in the middle, where he obviously wants them to be.

They are chock-full of ideas for spending money they don't have. Their constituents back home are chock-full of ideas for demanding money they don't intend to pay as long as they are babied along in the illusion that somebody else can be made to pay it.

Gov. DiSalle and his new state administration have ideas for spending money, too. No one gets elected these days by talling about austerity.

But sooner or later, someone has to get down to brass tacks about money. President Eisenhower has been doing it in Washington, to the consternation of the Spendocrats in Congress. Gov. DiSalle now has done it in Columbus—and he has wounded Ohio Spendocrats with his blunt budget-balancing.

They will be yipping and sobbing from now on. There's no way to balance a budget without making people unhappy. But Gov. DiSalle seems to have plugged his ears with cotton. Come what may, he has made the clearest budget presentation anyone in the Ohio territory has heard of since pioneer governors ran the state on thousands instead of the millions that came later and the billions that are here now.

Five Years Of Child Counseling

To those closely associated with the work during this period and to those who have benefitted from the program, the event has a most significant and satisfying meaning.

When the center first was proposed during a meeting called by the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Organizations, its chances of survival seemed slight when viewed in a realistic light. Its very objectives were of such an intangible nature that even major accomplishments could not be expected to grab the headlines. There was far more hard work than glamor in the offing.

The purpose was to provide guidance for the youngsters and their parents whose problems hinged on the emotional and who, in most cases, knew not where to turn. Therefore, it was not a matter of reaching a fund goal, of sponsoring a specific project or of setting up a program for a definite period of time. Rather it was a case of lending a helping hand quietly and sincerely to those who were asking for help in a special way.

The work could not be measured in terms of one year, two years, three years. Instead it was of a prolonged nature with no assurance of eventual success.

The Child Counseling Center was a challenge. Fortunately, most of those who became interested at the beginning accepted the challenge and overcame the obstacles which face any organization in the "growing" stage. Their reward has been the satisfaction which comes with helping those who need help.

With the exception of a paid psychologist and office secretary, all the workers serve on a voluntary basis. As with most such groups, the center has its yearly budget battle. It must depend on the generosity of others to see that it can maintain its staff and its headquarters. The response has been gratifying to date.

With its fifth anniversary at hand, it is the hope of the directors that the center will become an even more vial part of the tri-state district it serves in the next five years and that more and more people will contribute their time and their money toward its objectives.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

In the recent toothache incident Khrushchev may have fired the "ouch!" heard 'round the world. It is possible his toothache could become the most historic in world history, constituting a definite warning of war and devastation of civilization.

In years to come it may possibly be said, "Never did so many people depend so much on one tooth."

It could be, of course, that Khrushy really had a bad toothache when he took himself out of a scheduled trip with Macmillan. Anybody knows such trouble can make any man irascible and unsociable.

Nothing would make the world more relieved than an official statement from Khrush's dentist, "The premier had a toothache and I mean positively. I advised him not to fight it. After all, why should Khrushchev suffer for England?"

DENTIST who treated Khrushchev must have been highly shaky. When a doctor tells the Soviet leader, "This isn't going to hurt you," he had better be right. Dental office scene:

Dentist: What tooth is it?

Khrush: That's for you to find out.

Dentist: It would speed it up if you told me.

Khrush: You will speed it up or else. I remind you that Russia invented dentistry. I'm not so sure it didn't invent teeth.

Dentist: Open wider.

Khrush: That's what Macmillan kept demanding in our policy talks.

Dentist: I could fill it.

Khrush: I warn you that you have weapons which could constitute an aggression and would be followed by immediate attack.

Dentist (locating tooth): I guess I had better yank this.

Khrush (sharply): DON'T USE THAT WORD "YANK."

Lag On Racket Laws Questioned

By Victor Riesel

BISMARK, N.D.

A great wind soon will be roaring east across the plains. On it will ride the noise of protests from people who haven't lost their verve for indignation — nor their wonderment at the asphalt jungles crawling with mobsters, pushing giant cities around.

Victor Riesel

Here the people of the grain and oil and gas fields — like the citizenry along the 2,000 miles I've rolled from Washington and New York — want to know why there is no law to rob the rackets of their power.

Why come to Bismark? You come because the people ask you to come and explain. (Someone whimsically points out that it is the geographic center of North America.) You report that you have polled much of the Senate — and that the senators say that there will be an anti-racketeering labor law.

But, the people ask, when? And, they ask, why is there so much haggling over the 80 bills which have been introduced in Congress to fight the crime syndicates' infiltration of labor?

THERE ARE questions about the new pension and welfare law passed to protect some 40 billion dollars worth of insurance against old age, sickness and heart-break from idleness. A check shows that the Labor Department's new Division of Welfare and Pension Reports is now a vast file fortress with some 250,000 forms submitted by fund trustees — and probably another 250,000 reports flooding in. But they really can't be checked. Nowhere is there the power to dig into these pension and welfare documents for evidence of willfully crooked filing.

People ask about the section of the Taft-Hartley law which requires the filing of union financial statements. There are thousands of these statements in the U.S. Labor Department cabinets. But there is no way in which the secretary of labor can probe them. Nor can they be made public. No one has the right to audit them.

Yet we know that the business card - letterhead type of racket union just exposed by the McClellan committee files so it can operate as a legitimate union under the protective labor laws of the land.

We know that hundreds of tiny outfits with pompous sounding names, used only for shakedowns, hide their expenditures under such items as office furniture and administrative expenses.

WE KNOW that 63 per cent of all local unions in the U.S. have less than 200 members. Thousands of these are regular units. Yet in this 63 per cent are the mob outfits.

There is, for example, Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, with less than 200 members in its coin machine division, which has been described at McClellan committee hearings as the "enforcing arm" for the mob controlling the Chicago juke box field.

There are no standards, there are no regulations for such unions. Many need no one's permission to print a charter and go into business with professional pickets. One such picket exposed by Bob Kennedy's probers had five business cards on him, each with a different union name. He would picket one store or tavern, then call up and take an assignment for another picketing stint and simply present the proper card to the police official when questioned.

Another goon, specialist in mayhem, printed himself 12 charters, each with the name of a fake union — but each with the power to picket. He had a regular price list for removal of pickets and ending of other harassments.

OUT HERE they don't understand why anyone permits blackmail picketing — and why there is no law against it. These people are far away but let no wise guy talk about everybody north of Broadway and 52nd St. being yokels. They deal with Teamster locals, Building and Construction Trades, Oil Workers, and Packinghouse hands in both Dakotas.

True, the Bismark and Fargo Teamsters voted for Hoffa at the last Miami convention. They used to be a rough crowd back in the days when they were run by the even tougher Minneapolis Teamster headquarters. But neither here nor over the border in South Dakota do the folks let themselves get pushed around.

If there are any rackets, the people haven't found them nor have they passed them on to their "home town boy," Sen. Karl Mundt, vice chairman of the McClellan committee. And he was home two weeks ago, ready to talk to all comers.

The folks here want to know what's the matter with all you Down-Easterners—and Westerners, too.

A Tainted Optimism?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets, latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

Even British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything. Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

'Cold War' Misnomer

By David Lawrence

Reds Foment Trouble Throughout World

Now it's trouble in Bolivia! Yesterday it was in Cuba and before that in other Latin American countries where hostility against the United States was artificially intensified by the Communists.

David Lawrence

Unfortunately, maneuvers of the Communists in the "cold war" are usually pooh - poohed by too many people in this country, despite bold propaganda operations that are obviously planned with care. When the anti - Nixon incidents occurred on the vice president's tour of South America, it was conceded, of course, that an antagonism such as was manifested against the United States could readily have been brought into the open without the slightest simulus by the Communists. But this was no reason to ignore the impetus given anti - American sentiment there or anywhere else in the world by the Communists.

It so happens that this week an article reporting an alleged remark by a minor American official was published in a magazine reaching Bolivia from the United States.

The idea that a chance comment in a magazine, circulating a relatively small number of copies in that country, could produce a riot against the United States Embassy and cause the evacuation of its personnel is too fantastic to believe. Only an organized conspiracy by those malcontents with a desire to focus international attention on relations between the United States and an important South American country could have brought about the tragic episode.

The Bolivian minister of the interior later told newsmen that the attack on the American Embassy was led by a known Communist named Victor Villegas. He appealed to the Bolivian people for information about Villegas' whereabouts.

THE OTHER DAY in Congress, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa), declared that Communist influence is back of some of the demands being made by the government of Panama for an extension of its territorial waters which would adversely affect American rights in the Canal Zone. He said:

"Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin America and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focused their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of causing destruction of amicable relations between the United States and Panama, with complete liquidation of United States control over the Canal itself."

Nor is Communist activity confined to any one part of the globe. It is noticeable just now in Africa, where fuel is being added to the flames of nationalism. It is operative also in the Far East. A few days ago a press dispatch dated Manila said:

"The Foreign Office warned yesterday it has received reports pointing to 'growing infiltration' by Communists among the Philippine student population.

"Foreign Secretary Serrano conveyed the warning to Rep. Lenardo Perez, chairman of the House Committee on Anti - Filipino Activities, and told him to put his committee 'on alert.' "

THIS PATTERN of student infiltration is worldwide. In Latin America, in particular, many of the anti - American demonstrations have originated in the colleges. To plant young leaders who will use any provocation to work up passionate outbursts is a relatively easy device. It has been revealed in Cuba in the so-called "youth movement."

While the top officials there vehemently deny that the Communists have anything to do with the Fidel Castro regime, it is an open secret in Havana that the Communists are busy causing mischief wherever they can in the little republic which is struggling to recover from the ill effects of the Batista dictatorship.

In the Middle East the Communist plotters have been more successful than anywhere else. Everyone who has watched the situation in Egypt is aware that the Communists have played an active part there in anti-Western demonstrations.

Despite the denunciations of anything that even remotely resembles an intervention in their own domestic affairs, the Soviets are spending hundreds of millions of dollars fomenting internal trouble inside many of the countries sympathetic with the West.

IN THE UNITED STATES, the effects of some of the insidious operations by Communists are more and more noticeable. Having won many a big battle in the courts through the aid of legal technicalities, the Communists have continued to plant their propaganda in important places and among groups which are gullible and naive, thus enlarging the scope of the Soviet propaganda drive.

Sooner or later the American people will come to realize that the Communists are succeeding in their infiltration of many countries and are dangerously impairing the relations between the United States and peoples in different parts of the world who normally would be very friendly to the people of this country.

Low-Budget Diversion

By Truman Twill

It is the smart thing among young suburbanites in the New York City area to think up offbeat diversions that can be indulged in at least than $10 a couple per occasion.

They band together in "Crazy Couple Clubs" to share ideas. The members have grown tired of doing the things everybody else in their social stratum has a tendency to do when it is time for a night out.

They have reached the point where it makes no sense to blow $50 or $60 for dinner, a show and a little something afterward—the "big evening" pattern of the denizen of New York City. So they looked for something to relieve their boredom.

They whoop it up in hash houses, amusement parks and wrestling shows. They have been entertained by hypnotists, character analysts and lecturers. Each couple puts $10 into a kitty, which then is made to stretch over an evening's entertainment by a host and hostess. If a club has 12 couples in it, that's $120—and for $120 a lot of laughs can be bought.

At this point, the idea is likely to sound familiar to members of a generation old enough to bear the scars of the Great Depression.

There used to be a lot of budget-saving diversion in depression days. It was common in this part of the country, so presumably it was not unknown among New Yorkers.

The difference was that no one then had grown accustomed to blowing in a week's income for a night out. Budget-saving was not an alternative to something that once had been expensive but a way of life dictated by economic necessity.

Everybody had to remember at all times that the other fellow might be down to his last buck, because that is the way things were in those days. But with tactful inquiry, if it could be ascertained that everybody in the crowd was flush, someone would initiate for a "dutch" excursion.

These pay-as-you-go outings would be interspersed with grander affairs whenever one couple or another had a windfall. There also was the joint-account project, in which two, three, four, or more, couples might split the cost of a shindig.

After the depression was over and all the survivors were in clover, at least comparatively, they reminisced about the good times they used to have. To be sure, some of the reminiscence was like recollections of how good their mothers' cooking once tasted, but more than their golden youth was involved.

There was a special kind of fun to be had in that kind of diversion. It is said that millions of people lived more happily during the depression than before, because they had to work harder at enjoying one another's company.

They were too busy to be bored. They learned how to get their laughs in out-of-the-way places, doing odd-ball things.

DiSalle Lays It On The Line

Until some future Ohio governor makes a clearer presentation of the state's budget problem, Michael V. DiSalle will get credit for the best job in the memory of any living Ohioan.

He has gone to the mat with a tough subject and pinned it down. He has confronted a spending-minded legislature with an ultimatum that cannot be brushed aside:

If you want to spend more money, you have to raise more money.

HERE IS what the governor proposes in the way of more money:

1. That Ohioans who use liquor should pay for it at prices competitive with those of neighboring states—enough more to raise 20 million a year.

2. That Ohioans who use cigarettes should pay two more cents a package—enough to raise 23 million a year.

3. That Ohioans who drink beer should be willing to pay for the 3.2 per cent variety at the same rate as the high-powered variety—enough to raise two million a year.

4. That Ohioans who bet on horse races should pay three million a year more than they are paying now.

5. That Ohio corporations should raise 13 million a year more in their franchise taxes.

6. That all Ohioans hold still for adjustments in the way sales taxes are collected to produce 22 million additional revenue.

The total in all new revenue, including a tax boost on gasoline and diesel fuel, would be something more than a third of a billion dollars in the next two years, or a sixth of a billion each year.

Ohioans should become familiar with the idea of billions, because their budgets from now on will be described in billions. The grand total of the budget Gov. DiSalle is talking about—a two-year budget—is $2,076,212,000. The comparable figure for the O'Neill administration was $1,875,287,762.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY can take that figure or leave it. If it takes it, additional taxes must be forthcoming.

If it leaves it, for the sake of avoiding additional taxes, it must give up much of the spending it and preceding assemblies have found so attractive.

Gov. DiSalle has shut the mouths of pop-off critics who try to shove blame on the executive at budget-making time by giving the legislature a range of five choices, from an all-out austerity program to an all-out spending program. His own recommendation is a middle-of-the-road program, to keep the state solvent without crippling its orderly growth.

This is accompanied, moreover, by a recommendation that could make a vital difference to Ohioans in the years to come—a financial study of Ohio, with a view to more orderly budget procedure.

Every state in the Union is having budget trouble in 1959. Some of them have been having trouble for several years. Ohio, itself, has been kept off the financial hook by the surpluses it piled up during the war years from sales tax collections, when large-scale spending had to be deferred because the federal government would not give states priorities on building material.

The fact is that in every year starting in 1948 Ohio has spent more money than it has collected, draining away its surplus. It now has come to the end of the line. The surplus is gone.

The state either must go to its taxpayers or to the dogs.

Fortunately, it can go to its taxpayers with good grace because it has not abused them. Also fortunately, its new governor, with a four-year term to give him time to make adjustments and a point of view that makes going to the dogs a betrayal of his trust, is leveling with taxpayers when he tells them the unpleasant facts of budgetary life.

THE GOVERNOR'S dandor has put the members of the legislature in the middle, where he obviously wants them to be.

They are chock-full of ideas for spending money they don't have. Their constituents back home are chock-full of ideas for demanding money they don't intend to pay as long as they are babied along in the illusion that somebody else can be made to pay it.

Gov. DiSalle and his new state administration have ideas for spending money, too. No one gets elected these days by talling about austerity.

But sooner or later, someone has to get down to brass tacks about money. President Eisenhower has been doing it in Washington, to the consternation of the Spendocrats in Congress. Gov. DiSalle now has done it in Columbus—and he has wounded Ohio Spendocrats with his blunt budget-balancing.

They will be yipping and sobbing from now on. There's no way to balance a budget without making people unhappy. But Gov. DiSalle seems to have plugged his ears with cotton. Come what may, he has made the clearest budget presentation anyone in the Ohio territory has heard of since pioneer governors ran the state on thousands instead of the millions that came later and the billions that are here now.

Five Years Of Child Counseling

To those closely associated with the work during this period and to those who have benefitted from the program, the event has a most significant and satisfying meaning.

When the center first was proposed during a meeting called by the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Organizations, its chances of survival seemed slight when viewed in a realistic light. Its very objectives were of such an intangible nature that even major accomplishments could not be expected to grab the headlines. There was far more hard work than glamor in the offing.

The purpose was to provide guidance for the youngsters and their parents whose problems hinged on the emotional and who, in most cases, knew not where to turn. Therefore, it was not a matter of reaching a fund goal, of sponsoring a specific project or of setting up a program for a definite period of time. Rather it was a case of lending a helping hand quietly and sincerely to those who were asking for help in a special way.

The work could not be measured in terms of one year, two years, three years. Instead it was of a prolonged nature with no assurance of eventual success.

The Child Counseling Center was a challenge. Fortunately, most of those who became interested at the beginning accepted the challenge and overcame the obstacles which face any organization in the "growing" stage. Their reward has been the satisfaction which comes with helping those who need help.

With the exception of a paid psychologist and office secretary, all the workers serve on a voluntary basis. As with most such groups, the center has its yearly budget battle. It must depend on the generosity of others to see that it can maintain its staff and its headquarters. The response has been gratifying to date.

With its fifth anniversary at hand, it is the hope of the directors that the center will become an even more vial part of the tri-state district it serves in the next five years and that more and more people will contribute their time and their money toward its objectives.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

In the recent toothache incident Khrushchev may have fired the "ouch!" heard 'round the world. It is possible his toothache could become the most historic in world history, constituting a definite warning of war and devastation of civilization.

In years to come it may possibly be said, "Never did so many people depend so much on one tooth."

It could be, of course, that Khrushy really had a bad toothache when he took himself out of a scheduled trip with Macmillan. Anybody knows such trouble can make any man irascible and unsociable.

Nothing would make the world more relieved than an official statement from Khrush's dentist, "The premier had a toothache and I mean positively. I advised him not to fight it. After all, why should Khrushchev suffer for England?"

DENTIST who treated Khrushchev must have been highly shaky. When a doctor tells the Soviet leader, "This isn't going to hurt you," he had better be right. Dental office scene:

Dentist: What tooth is it?

Khrush: That's for you to find out.

Dentist: It would speed it up if you told me.

Khrush: You will speed it up or else. I remind you that Russia invented dentistry. I'm not so sure it didn't invent teeth.

Dentist: Open wider.

Khrush: That's what Macmillan kept demanding in our policy talks.

Dentist: I could fill it.

Khrush: I warn you that you have weapons which could constitute an aggression and would be followed by immediate attack.

Dentist (locating tooth): I guess I had better yank this.

Lag On Racket Laws Questioned

By Victor Riesel

BISMARK, N.D.

A great wind soon will be roaring east across the plains. On it will ride the noise of protests from people who haven't lost their verve for indignation — nor their wonderment at the asphalt jungles crawling with mobsters, pushing giant cities around.

Victor Riesel

Here the people of the grain and oil and gas fields — like the citizenry along the 2,000 miles I've rolled from Washington and New York — want to know why there is no law to rob the rackets of their power.

Why come to Bismark? You come because the people ask you to come and explain. (Someone whimsically points out that it is the geographic center of North America.) You report that you have polled much of the Senate — and that the senators say that there will be an anti-racketeering labor law.

But, the people ask, when? And, they ask, why is there so much haggling over the 80 bills which have been introduced in Congress to fight the crime syndicates' infiltration of labor?

THERE ARE questions about the new pension and welfare law passed to protect some 40 billion dollars worth of insurance against old age, sickness and heart-break from idleness. A check shows that the Labor Department's new Division of Welfare and Pension Reports is now a vast file fortress with some 250,000 forms submitted by fund trustees — and probably another 250,000 reports flooding in. But they really can't be checked. Nowhere is there the power to dig into these pension and welfare documents for evidence of willfully crooked filing.

People ask about the section of the Taft-Hartley law which requires the filing of union financial statements. There are thousands of these statements in the U.S. Labor Department cabinets. But there is no way in which the secretary of labor can probe them. Nor can they be made public. No one has the right to audit them.

Yet we know that the business card - letterhead type of racket union just exposed by the McClellan committee files so it can operate as a legitimate union under the protective labor laws of the land.

We know that hundreds of tiny outfits with pompous sounding names, used only for shakedowns, hide their expenditures under such items as office furniture and administrative expenses.

WE KNOW that 63 per cent of all local unions in the U.S. have less than 200 members. Thousands of these are regular units. Yet in this 63 per cent are the mob outfits.

There is, for example, Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, with less than 200 members in its coin machine division, which has been described at McClellan committee hearings as the "enforcing arm" for the mob controlling the Chicago juke box field.

There are no standards, there are no regulations for such unions. Many need no one's permission to print a charter and go into business with professional pickets. One such picket exposed by Bob Kennedy's probers had five business cards on him, each with a different union name. He would picket one store or tavern, then call up and take an assignment for another picketing stint and simply present the proper card to the police official when questioned.

Another goon, specialist in mayhem, printed himself 12 charters, each with the name of a fake union — but each with the power to picket. He had a regular price list for removal of pickets and ending of other harassments.

OUT HERE they don't understand why anyone permits blackmail picketing — and why there is no law against it. These people are far away but let no wise guy talk about everybody north of Broadway and 52nd St. being yokels. They deal with Teamster locals, Building and Construction Trades, Oil Workers, and Packinghouse hands in both Dakotas.

True, the Bismark and Fargo Teamsters voted for Hoffa at the last Miami convention. They used to be a rough crowd back in the days when they were run by the even tougher Minneapolis Teamster headquarters. But neither here nor over the border in South Dakota do the folks let themselves get pushed around.

If there are any rackets, the people haven't found them nor have they passed them on to their "home town boy," Sen. Karl Mundt, vice chairman of the McClellan committee. And he was home two weeks ago, ready to talk to all comers.

The folks here want to know what's the matter with all you Down-Easterners—and Westerners, too.

A Tainted Optimism?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets, latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the Soviets, by accepting the idea of a ministers meeting, showed they were at least willing to talk a bit.

This sigh was almost instantly stuffed back down the international throat when the Soviets followed up their acceptance by repeating the position they had taken before:

1. That a foreign ministers meeting is just a kind of gum-beating operation by people who can't really decide anything since the decisions are made by men at the top.

2. That, therefore, the only way to get things done is to have the the top men, like President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, get together in a summit meeting.

Even British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous' situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic about settlements with the U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troops out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything. Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

'Cold War' Misnomer

By David Lawrence

Reds Foment Trouble Throughout World

Now it's trouble in Bolivia! Yesterday it was in Cuba and before that in other Latin American countries where hostility against the United States was artificially intensified by the Communists.

David Lawrence

Unfortunately, maneuvers of the Communists in the "cold war" are usually pooh - poohed by too many people in this country, despite bold propaganda operations that are obviously planned with care. When the anti - Nixon incidents occurred on the vice president's tour of South America, it was conceded, of course, that an antagonism such as was manifested against the United States could readily have been brought into the open without the slightest simulus by the Communists. But this was no reason to ignore the impetus given anti - American sentiment there or anywhere else in the world by the Communists.

It so happens that this week an article reporting an alleged remark by a minor American official was published in a magazine reaching Bolivia from the United States.

The idea that a chance comment in a magazine, circulating a relatively small number of copies in that country, could produce a riot against the United States Embassy and cause the evacuation of its personnel is too fantastic to believe. Only an organized conspiracy by those malcontents with a desire to focus international attention on relations between the United States and an important South American country could have brought about the tragic episode.

The Bolivian minister of the interior later told newsmen that the attack on the American Embassy was led by a known Communist named Victor Villegas. He appealed to the Bolivian people for information about Villegas' whereabouts.

THE OTHER DAY in Congress, Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa), declared that Communist influence is back of some of the demands being made by the government of Panama for an extension of its territorial waters which would adversely affect American rights in the Canal Zone. He said:

"Those in charge of the Communist movement in Latin America and especially in the Caribbean area, have undoubtedly focused their conspiratorial activities on the Panama Canal with the purpose of causing destruction of amicable relations between the United States and Panama, with complete liquidation of United States control over the Canal itself."

Nor is Communist activity confined to any one part of the globe. It is noticeable just now in Africa, where fuel is being added to the flames of nationalism. It is operative also in the Far East. A few days ago a press dispatch dated Manila said:

"The Foreign Office warned yesterday it has received reports pointing to 'growing infiltration' by Communists among the Philippine student population.

"Foreign Secretary Serrano conveyed the warning to Rep. Lenardo Perez, chairman of the House Committee on Anti - Filipino Activities, and told him to put his committee 'on alert.'"

THE PATTERN of student infiltration is worldwide. In Latin America, in particular, many of the anti - American demonstrations have originated in the colleges. To plant young leaders who will use any provocation to work up passionate outbursts is a relatively easy device. It has been revealed in Cuba in the so-called "youth movement."

While the top officials there vehemently deny that the Communists have anything to do with the Fidel Castro regime, it is an open secret in Havana that the Communists are busy causing mischief wherever they can in the little republic which is struggling to recover from the ill effects of the Batista dictatorship.

In the Middle East the Communist plotters have been more successful than anywhere else. Everyone who has watched the situation in Egypt is aware that the Communists have played an active part there in anti-Western demonstrations.

Despite the denunciations of anything that even remotely resembles an intervention in their own domestic affairs, the Soviets are spending hundreds of millions of dollars fomenting internal trouble inside many of the countries sympathetic with the West.

IN THE UNITED STATES, the effects of some of the insidious operations by Communists are more and more noticeable. Having won many a big battle in the courts through the aid of legal technicalities, the Communists have continued to plant their propaganda in important places and among groups which are gullible and naive, thus enlarging the scope of the Soviet propaganda drive.

Sooner or later the American people will come to realize that the Communists are succeeding in their infiltration of many countries and are dangerously impairing the relations between the United States and peoples in different parts of the world who normally would be very friendly to the people of this country.

Low-Budget Diversion

By Truman Twill

It is the smart thing among young suburbanites in the New York City area to think up offbeat diversions that can be indulged in at least than $10 a couple per occasion.

They band together in "Crazy Couple Clubs" to share ideas. The members have grown tired of doing the things everybody else in their social stratum has a tendency to do when it is time for a night out.

They have reached the point where it makes no sense to blow $50 or $60 for dinner, a show and a little something afterward—the "big evening" pattern of the denizen of New York City. So they looked for something to relieve their boredom.

They whoop it up in hash houses, amusement parks and wrestling shows. They have been entertained by hypnotists, character analysts and lecturers. Each couple puts $10 into a kitty, which then is made to stretch over an evening's entertainment by a host and hostess. If a club has 12 couples in it, that's $120—and for $120 a lot of laughs can be bought.

At this point, the idea is likely to sound familiar to members of a generation old enough to bear the scars of the Great Depression.

There used to be a lot of budget-saving diversion in depression days. It was common in this part of the country, so presumably it was not unknown among New Yorkers.

The difference was that no one then had grown accustomed to blowing in a week's income for a night out. Budget-saving was not an alternative to something that once had been expensive but a way of life dictated by economic necessity.

Everybody had to remember at all times that the other fellow might be down to his last buck, because that is the way things were in those days. But with tactful inquiry, if it could be ascertained that everybody in the crowd was flush, someone would initiate for a "dutch" excursion.

These pay-as-you-go outings would be interspersed with grander affairs whenever one couple or another had a windfall. There also was the joint-account project, in which two, three, four, or more, couples might split the cost of a shindig.

After the depression was over and all the survivors were in clover, at least comparatively, they reminisced about the good times they used to have. To be sure, some of the reminiscence was like recollections of how good their mothers' cooking once tasted, but more than their golden youth was involved.

There was a special kind of fun to be had in that kind of diversion. It is said that millions of people lived more happily during the depression than before, because they had to work harder at enjoying one another's company.

They were too busy to be bored. They learned how to get their laughs in out-of-the-way places, doing odd-ball things.

To this day they will tell you—if you ask them—that they never had such a good time. It never occurred to them they were doing anything noteworthy, but the depression was a long time ago. A lot of diversion has gone over the dam since then. Being bored is easier than it used to be.

Bank Robber Now Sought In Pennsylvania

Police, FBI Hunt Sky-Hopping Thief In Center Of State

Sprenz, 29, sought for the $25,895 holdup of a Hamilton, Ohio, bank on Monday, was reported seen in this city of 75,000 Wednesday.

Roadblocks were set up at key points in the area, but as the hours dragged on there was no sign to the elusive Sprenz.

After the Hamilton holdup, Ohio police said Sprenz stole an airplane and flew 160 miles to Coshocton. He was reported near Canton Monday night.

Police Chief Vaul E. Rouzer of Altoona said a man fitting Sprenz' description registered at the small Altoona Hotel on the outskirts of town early Wednesday morning and checked out about 12:30 p.m.

Rouzer said the man then had a new water pump installed in his car at a service station and drove toward the center of town.

The chief said a bellhop later discovered money wrappers from the Hamilton bank in the vacated hotel room. The wrappers, Rouzer said, would have held $22,500.

The car was described as a dark blue Buick bearing Pennsylvania license plate 764540. Police said Sprenz was wearing a black leather jacket, blue sport shirt and hunting cap.

State police said he was identified by witnesses through photographs.

"We feel pretty sure it was Sprenz," an officer said.

Police made "continuing checks" at airports in the area and sent alerts to all police in Pennsylvania and neighboring states. They posted a detail at the Lock Haven Airport where Piper Aircraft, Inc., has a number of light planes.

Williams was fined $50 and costs Tuesday in Municipal Court on a fraudulent check charge and was given a preliminary hearing in Juvenile Court yesterday. Williams was held in the County Jail when unable to post the $2,500 bond set by Judge Tobin.

Press Congress Adopts Motto As Conference Ends

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — If we're going to have a free world, we must have a free press.

That was the theme of the World Press Congress as it ended Wednesday night with pleas for more and better coverage of world news. No formal action was taken. The congress met for the first time in 33 years to help the world's first school of journalism at the University of Missouri celebrate its golden anniversary.

The motto was "A strong free press for a better free world."

To achieve that, the delegates set these chief goals in their three days of discussion:

1. Seek greater press freedom in all nations through elimination of governmental restrictions and outside influence.

2. Improve public understanding of world problems by better reporting of foreign news.

3. Strengthen public confidence in newspapers, radio and television through strict accuracy and objectivity.

4. Seek ways to restore the privileges of a free press to journalists caught behind the Iron Curtain.

2 Killed As Explosion Lifts And Rips House

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—An explosion lifted and ripped apart a two-story frame house early today, killing two persons.

The victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ruohonen, both believed to be in their 70s.

Two others in the house were found alive.

Martha Ruohonen, about 40, suffered from burns and shock. She was unconscious in the wreckage when firefighters arrived.

Her son, Gary, 10, was found in a dazed condition on the street nearby. He suffered only minor burns and bruises.

The explosion was witnessed by the engineer of a passing freight train.

He leaned on the engine's horn until he roused the residents of the entire neighborhood.

Bank Robber Now Sought In Pennsylvania

Sprenz, 29, sought for the $25,895 holdup of a Hamilton, Ohio, bank on Monday, was reported seen in this city of 75,000 Wednesday.

Roadblocks were set up at key points in the area, but as the hours dragged on there was no sign to the elusive Sprenz.

After the Hamilton holdup, Ohio police said Sprenz stole an airplane and flew 160 miles to Coshocton. He was reported near Canton Monday night.

Police Chief Vaul E. Rouzer of Altoona said a man fitting Sprenz' description registered at the small Altoona Hotel on the outskirts of town early Wednesday morning and checked out about 12:30 p.m.

Rouzer said the man then had a new water pump installed in his car at a service station and drove toward the center of town.

The chief said a bellhop later discovered money wrappers from the Hamilton bank in the vacated hotel room. The wrappers, Rouzer said, would have held $22,500.

The car was described as a dark blue Buick bearing Pennsylvania license plate 764540. Police said Sprenz was wearing a black leather jacket, blue sport shirt and hunting cap.

State police said he was identified by witnesses through photographs.

"We feel pretty sure it was Sprenz," an officer said.

Police made "continuing checks" at airports in the area and sent alerts to all police in Pennsylvania and neighboring states. They posted a detail at the Lock Haven Airport where Piper Aircraft, Inc., has a number of light planes.

Man In Check Case Held On Morals Count

Charles Williams, 38, of 350 Garfield St., was bound over to the April Grand Jury Wednesday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a charge of sodomy involving a 12-year-old East Liverpool area boy.

Williams was fined $50 and costs Tuesday in Municipal Court on a fraudulent check charge and was given a preliminary hearing in Juvenile Court yesterday. Williams was held in the County Jail when unable to post the $2,500 bond set by Judge Tobin.

Press Congress Adopts Motto As Conference Ends

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — If we're going to have a free world, we must have a free press.

That was the theme of the World Press Congress as it ended Wednesday night with pleas for more and better coverage of world news. No formal action was taken. The congress met for the first time in 33 years to help the world's first school of journalism at the University of Missouri celebrate its golden anniversary.

The motto was "A strong free press for a better free world."

To achieve that, the delegates set these chief goals in their three days of discussion:

1. Seek greater press freedom in all nations through elimination of governmental restrictions and outside influence.

2. Improve public understanding of world problems by better reporting of foreign news.

3. Strengthen public confidence in newspapers, radio and television through strict accuracy and objectivity.

4. Seek ways to restore the privileges of a free press to journalists caught behind the Iron Curtain.

Plan To Extend Barge Service Given Support

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A proposal to extend river barge service to Florida is being backed by shippers and manufacturers on the Ohio and Monongahela rivers.

A number of Pittsburgh district river shippers yesterday urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the application of A. L. Mechling Barge Lines, Inc., Joliet, Ill., for operation of through barge service to and from Tampa, Miami, Fort Everglades and Fort Myers, Fla.

The ICC hearing is the second in a series on Mechling's application. The hearings will wind up in Washington, starting March 11 with testimony from railroads and others opposing the application.

H. B. Reaves Jr., assistant traffic manager of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., said his firm has lost business in Florida because of importation of glass products from Europe and Japan.

Frank W. Kles of Wheeling Steel Corp., said increases in rail shipping rates since 1940 and the expansion of the steel industry in Alabama have practically forced Wheeling Steel out of the Florida market.

Frederick J. Wallister, traffic manager of Weirton Steel Co., said the present service to Florida — river barges to New Orleans and an interchange there to ocean-going barges — has not been entirely satisfactory.

65 Attend Fellowship Event In Newell Church

A total of 3,090 meals were served, costing $984.34, making the average daily expenses per prisoner 95½ cents. There were 206 visitors.

Sheriff VanFossan said 188 papers were served and 4,685 radio transmissions were handled, along with 1,195 phone calls.

Fees totaling $350.18 were collected and the sheriff's office at the courthouse accepted 36 sets of fox feet for bounty during the month.

Spears, War Ax Used In Nysaland Violence

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) —Africans took up spear and war ax Wednesday night in the conflict between government forces and nationalists in this British protectorate.

Security forces shot and killed a native in a clash with a hostile crowd of spear-bearing Africans at a roadblock near Chafeop, in Nyasaland's central province.

The clash came after a day of comparative quiet. But native resentment still ran high at the British government's proclamation of a state of emergency, the outlawing of the African National party and the deportation of the leading nationalist, Dr. Hastings Banda.

The only creatures on earth whose eyes can be focused for different distances are men and apes.

DANIEL

"And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel . . . children in whom there was no blemish . . ."

—Daniel 1:3, 4

Among the many captives Nebuchadnezzar carried back to Babylon after he conquered Jerusalem was a lad named Daniel.

The Bible does not tell us his exact birthplace, but it says he was of noble birth.

Because he was "well-favored, and skillful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge," he was selected by the king's chief eunuch to become one of the pages in Nebuchadnezzar's court.

Daniel was a boy who was not afraid to say "no."

When the tutor who had been placed in charge of him offered him Babylonian food and wine, "Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself."

To have accepted the food would have been to show great irreverance to God. For the Chaldean food was always offered first to their idols, before it was brought to the table.

The eunuch, Melzar, told Daniel he feared that the king would behead him if he saw the Hebrew boys grow thin and learned that they had not been fed the food ordered by him.

Daniel proposed that he allow some of the boys to eat Hebrew food for ten days. At the end of that time, if they were not as healthy looking as the others, "as thou seest, deal with thy servants."

Melzar consented and Daniel ate pulse—the pressed seeds and grain he had eaten at home. At the end of ten days, the faces of the boys who ate this food "appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat."

This act of courage, and many that followed it, helped Daniel and his three friends—Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah—to face wild beasts, and the fiery furnace without flenching.

"God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom," the Bible says. "And Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams."

It was this strange gift—the ability to interpret dreams—that later won for Daniel a place of honor and influence in the Babylonian court.

For it was he who interpreted the dreams of Nebuchadnezzar, and translated the flaming words that appeared mysteriously on the walls of the king's banquet hall.

Salem Ministerial Unit Would Alter Death Penalty Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Legislature has received a proposed amendment to the capital punishment bill from the Salem Ministerial Assn.

The amendment to the proposed bill that would end capital punishment in Ohio said:

"Whosoever shall be convicted on murder, with or without mercy, shall be required to serve his sentence doing good for society's unfortunates, the crippled, the sick, the blind and the infirm, except medical experimentation shall not be required, and this therapy shall be so directed by the administrators of the prison, that the persons convicted of murder be given every opportunity to achieve hope and peace with his creator."

William C. Snowball, president of the association, said the amendment would have an excellent psychological effect on those convicted and would also help repay the financial expenditures necessary for keeping murderers in prison for life.

State Will Abandon Old Route 7 Stretch

Old Route 7 below Wellsville will be abandoned by the State Highway Department, Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville announced today.

He said the original plans called for the road to revert to abutting property owners but this was changed on objections from the property owners themselves.

The road now will be abandoned completely by the highway department, and it will be necessary for Wellsville and Columbiana and Jefferson Counties to retain the road.

Property owners said they would be left without an access to their land if the road had been torn up as originally planned. The state then would be liable and would have to make restitution to the owners.

Shoub said the details were revealed in a meeting last week with Robert Short, Division 11 right-of-way engineer from New Philadelphia.

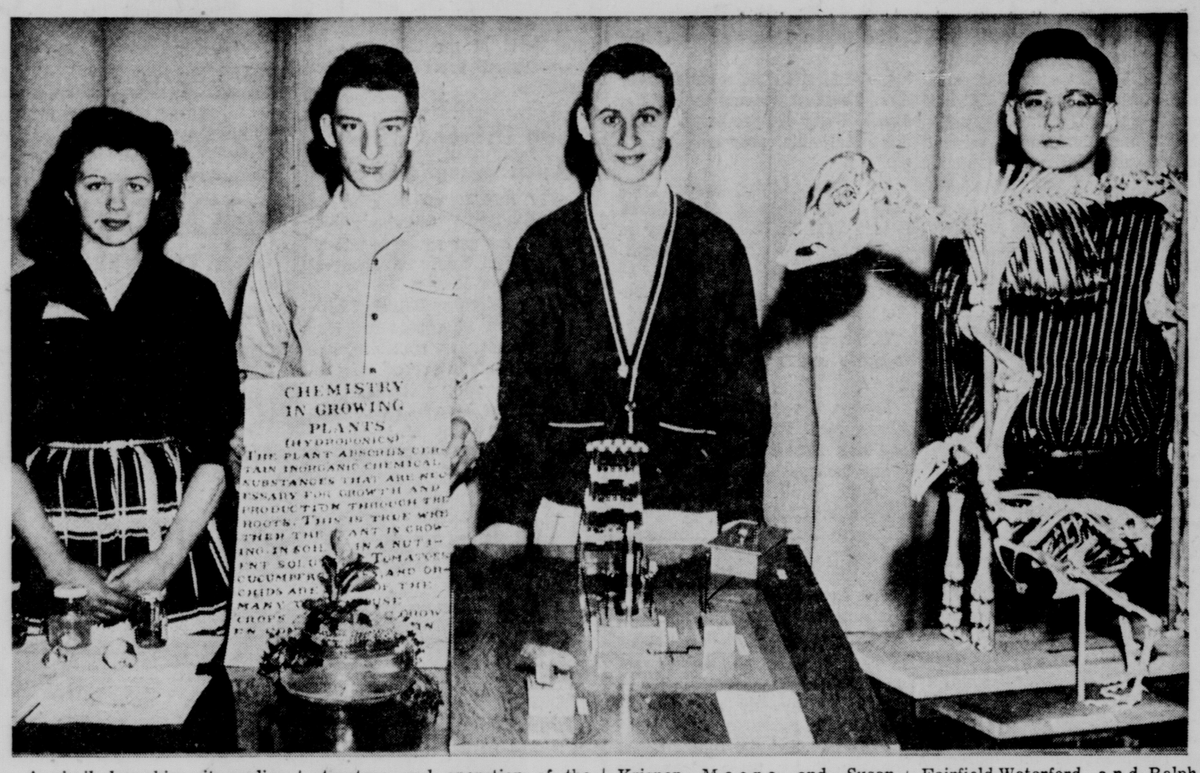
4 Beaver Local Winners Picked

Exhibits At Science Fair Reflect Missile Age



A missile launching site replica and mounted animal skeletons were among first-place displays at the second annual Columbiana County School Science Fair Wednesday night at Beaver Local High School.

Scharf, a junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Regis Scharf of West Point, had a biology display of the chemistry of plant growth.

Weingart, an eighth grader at United, constructed the scale replica of a missile launching pad, and Gamble's display included skeletons of a calf and a chicken.

Tom Plate of Beaver Local won second place in the chemistry and physics division, and Krispen Moore and Susan Beede, both of Beaver Local, tied for third.

Bob Smith of Beaver Local was second in the biology division, and joint projects by John Plate and Beverly Rudibaugh of Beaver Local and Wayne Herron and Floyd Cox of United Local tied for third.

Judges were Dan Freiburg, Leetonia High School principal, and W. A. Black of East Liverpool, chairman of the Tri-State fair.

a new tax on transfers of real estate. It was at amendment stage in the House today.

Yesterday the House passed bills to raise automobile and truck license fees and make West Virginia's unemployment compansation program more generous.

The auto-truck license bill, passed earlier by the Senate in a form which would have raised an additional $2,400,000 a year earmarked for highways, was amended upward to an estimated $3,200,000 before the House passed it. Now it goes back to the Senate for action on the House amendments.

Demurrer Aired In Action Over School Transfer

LISBON — Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Wednesday took under advisement a demurrer motion filed by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw concerning a charge against the County Board of Education of illegally forming the Southern Local School District last year.

The original charge was filed by Walter Laughlin of Wayne District, Thomas Wilkes of Yellow Creek Township and Paul Talbot and others of the Hillcrest area.

The new district was formed from the former Yellow Creek, Wayne and Salineville School Districts.

If Judge Buzzard sustains the demurrer, the case will be dismissed unless the plaintiffs wish to file another plea. If the judge rejects the prosecutor's motion, the County Board will have to file an answer.

Turnoff Notice Given 110 Water Delinquents

Turnoff notices have been given 101 householders and business places owing a total of about $4,176 in delinquent water and sewage service charges, Donald Duke, assistant water department superintendent, said today.

The notices have been sent to customers in the B Billing Zone, which covers the downtown area, he said. The overdue water bills total $1,776, while the sewage charges total about $2,400. With rare exceptions, the delinquents owe for both water and sewer charges, Duke said.

The customers have been notified their water service will be turned off, effective Tuesday, if they do not pay or make arrangements to settle, Duke said.

Babysitter Snatched Infant

Kidnaped Baby Is Safe; Woman Admits Abduction

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—A kidnaped infant was found safe Wednesday night in the arms of a chunky, 37-year-old woman who admitted taking him from his crib while she was babysitting five days ago.

Betty Jean Yocom retreated to the bathroom of her darkened home 10 miles from Ontario when she heard FBI agents kicking in the door. Hugged to her bosom was 9-week-old Eric Leon Flores.

In a bedroom the agents found a brand new bassinet and bottle sterilizer and other indications that Mrs. Yocom had lavished a frustrated maternal love on another woman's child.

The baby, ill with a cold when he was taken from beside his sleeping twin brother last Friday, appeared to have been well cared for, the FBI said.

Mrs. Flores and the friendly woman she had allowed to sit with her children, faced each other tearfully.

They had first met last Feb. 17 when Mrs. Yocom, calling herself Ann Williams and identifying herself as a social worker from a local church, called on Mrs. Flores to offer any help that might be needed. Mrs. Flores' husband, Joseph, was killed in a gas explosion last summer and the community of Ontario has contributed food, clothing and needed services to the family ever since.

Mrs. Yocom, who is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs about 180 pounds, offered to take care of the Flores children. She telephoned the next day and repeated the offer. Last Friday she called at the house again and this time Mrs. Flores agreed to go out with a friend for a few hours, leaving Mrs. Yocom with the children, who range in age from 8 to the infant twins.

In the end it was the baby himself who led to the capture of Mrs. Yocom. His loud wails made a neighbor suspicious. The FBI was notified.

Beaver Concert Tickets Issued To Music Parents

Tickets for the annual Beaver Local High School band and choir concert April 24 were distributed at a meeting of the Music Parents Association Wednesday night at the high school.

Plans were discussed for the annual Tag Day to be held in East Liverpool April 25 with Mrs. Rollie Sheppard chairman. The spring dance will be held May 1 with Frank Craven's orchestra.

Carl Mansfield, president, appointed a nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Herbert Thompson, Mrs. James Kelly, Mrs. Richard Barnhouse and George Nulf.

The committee will confer prior to the next association meeting April 1 to prepare a slate of candidates for election. About 20 attended last night's session.

Hazelton

crackling and sparkling. Huge balls of flame and smoke shot upwards illuminating this eastern Pennsylvania anthracite community for miles. Hazleton is located about 120 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Clarence Krapf, 63, the room clerk, said the fire started at the bottom of the elevator shaft and mushroomed through the building. The elevator plunged to the pit.

The fifth floor wall of the hotel crashed to the street at the height of the blaze. Miraculously, firemen fighting the blaze and the large crowd of spectators watching the spectacular fire, were not hurt.

The hotel, owned by Samuel Mednitsky, reportedly catered to elderly residents.

The dead were identified as Miss Mary Mooney, about 60; Mrs. Howard Deitch, in her late 40s, and Emma Stilgebauer, about 65, all permanent residents of the hotel. Mrs. Deitch's husband, Howard, and another guest, John Dougherty, were reported in critical condition.

3 Women Wait Hearing On Charges Of Fighting

Three women who pleaded innocent today in Municipal Court on charges of disorderly conduct by fighting are scheduled for hearings Friday morning at 9.

Police identified the defendants as Kathleen Hunt, 33, of 1069 Locust St., Sarah Melvin, 32, of 1076 Peake St., and Jeannette Kountz, 64, of 325 Broadway.

They were arrested at 2:25 this morning outside the Diamond Restaurant on the Diamond. Police said the three emerged from the tavern and "started pulling hair, kicking, talking loudly and swinging fists."

Crucible

Barring operating interruptions, however, he expressed confidence that 1959 would be a good year.

Crucible's long-range outlook is bright indeed," he said. "Special-purpose steels will grow and we will enlarge and improve our position as a leading producer and distributor of these useful materials. It can be truly said that Crucible's best years lie ahead."

The report revealed that 1958 sales of $186.4 million resulted in income of $4.3 million, compared to 1957 sales of $235.9 million and an income of $6.5 million.

Despite the 1958 drop in sales and income, caused by "one of the sharpest depressions in recent times," Crucible was able to keep its proportionate share of the markets.

"Net working capital of $60.5 million on Dec. 31, 1958, was the largest in the history of the company," the report stated.

"Long-term debt of $23.5 million was the smallest since 1950, and represented only 16.5 per cent of Crucible's total capitalization. Shareholders' equity was at a new high of $118.7 million, equal to $31.28 per share."

The additions to gross plant property in 1958 totaled nearly $14 million. Crucible's acquisition of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., at Midland and Silicon Steels, Inc., accounted for $9.5 million of this amount.

Other projects last year included a new vacuum melt shop and laboratory at Syracuse and additional soaking pits and completion of the new cold strip facilities at Midland.

Research activity reached a new high level in 1958 with the absorption of the research group and facilities of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., and the opening of a new research laboratory at Sanderson - Halcomb Works in Syracuse.

Stainless, which accounted for about one-third of Crucible's 1958 net sales, is the company's leading growth product. The growth in Crucible stainless has been substantially greater than the growth enjoyed by the stainless industry as a whole, even though industry-wide stainless steel shipments in 1958 were more than 150 per cent greater than the 1947-1949 average.

"This has been accomplished through additions and improvements to Crucible's production and distribution facilities," the report pointed out. "The expansion in flat rolled finishing capacity and the additions to warehouses in 1958 place Crucible in an excellent position to further improve its participation in the growing stainless business."

Although customer inventory liquidation caused a sharp dip in the sale of tool steels in 1958, Crucible maintained its position as one of the largest producers of high speed and tool steels.

Increasing demand for vacuum melted alloys for jet engine parts, bearings, missile and electronic parts and atomic energy applications raised Crucible's sales of these alloys during the past year by 25 per cent over 1957.

Production capacity for both arc and induction melted products is now one of the largest and most versatile in the trade.

While the titanium industry in 1958 shipped less than half the product shipped in 1957, Crucible was able to organize its titanium business to permit profitable operations at very low demand levels.

"Development work continues and, as we find it possible to reduce selling prices as we have in the past, a broader market will eventually come," it was predicted.

Making possible the most efficient distribution of the tens of thousands of separate items and stocks produced by the company, warehouses were opened in Tampa, Toledo, Charlotte and Erie—expanding Crucible's warehousing system to cover 32 cities from coast to coast.

A drunken driving charge was withdrawn today in Municipal Court against Francis Beaver of Bluff St., Dixonville, who then was given a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of driving on the wrong side of a roadway.

The case against Beaver, arrested after an Anderson Blvd. traffic mishap Tuesday afternoon, had ended in a stalemate Wednesday when the elderly man refused to plead guilty to the lesser charge after Judge George L. Brokaw indicated he would not convict him of driving while intoxicated.

Returning to court today, Beaver quickly pleaded guilty to the charge alleging he drove left of the center line in a mishap that also involved an auto operated by Hans Hacker Jr. of Anderson Blvd. Beaver had been fined $50 and costs yesterday for driving without a license, but the penalty was reduced to $25 and costs.

Three other drivers forfeited $16 bonds today.

They are Leroy F. Black of Box 462, Station A, cited at 4:34 p. m. Wednesday for speeding on Harvey Ave., and Donald Poole of Radio Heights and Stanley Tittle of M.C. Route 22, both arrested by the State Highway Patrol Tuesday night for driving left of center on Route 30.

State Will Abandon Old Route 7 Stretch

Old Route 7 below Wellsville will be abandoned by the State Highway Department, Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville announced today.

He said the original plans called for the road to revert to abutting property owners but this was changed on objections from the property owners themselves.

The road now will be abandoned completely by the highway department, and it will be necessary for Wellsville and Columbiana and Jefferson Counties to retain the road.

Property owners said they would be left without an access to their land if the road had been torn up as originally planned. The state then would be liable and would have to make restitution to the owners.

Shoub said the details were revealed in a meeting last week with Robert Short, Division 11 right-of-way engineer from New Philadelphia.

Exhibits At Science Fair Reflect Missile Age

A missile launching site replica and mounted animal skeletons were among first-place displays at the second annual Columbiana County School Science Fair Wednesday night at Beaver Local High School.

Scharf, a junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Regis Scharf of West Point, had a biology display of the chemistry of plant growth.

Weingart, an eighth grader at United, constructed the scale replica of a missile launching pad, and Gamble's display included skeletons of a calf and a chicken.

Tom Plate of Beaver Local won second place in the chemistry and physics division, and Krispen Moore and Susan Beede, both of Beaver Local, tied for third.

Bob Smith of Beaver Local was second in the biology division, and joint projects by John Plate and Beverly Rudibaugh of Beaver Local and Wayne Herron and Floyd Cox of United Local tied for third.

Janet McBane and Dennis Collins of Beaver Local were second-place winners in the freshmen division, and Moira Boyd and Paula Dailey were third.

Second-place winner in the junior division was Bill Yealey of Fairfield-Waterford, and Ralph Bell of Fairfield-Waterford was third.

Barring operating interruptions, however, he expressed confidence that 1959 would be a good year.

Crucible's long-range outlook is bright indeed," he said. "Special-purpose steels will grow and we will enlarge and improve our position as a leading producer and distributor of these useful materials. It can be truly said that Crucible's best years lie ahead."

The report revealed that 1958 sales of $186.4 million resulted in income of $4.3 million, compared to 1957 sales of $235.9 million and an income of $6.5 million.

Despite the 1958 drop in sales and income, caused by "one of the sharpest depressions in recent times," Crucible was able to keep its proportionate share of the markets.

"Net working capital of $60.5 million on Dec. 31, 1958, was the largest in the history of the company," the report stated.

"Long-term debt of $23.5 million was the smallest since 1950, and represented only 16.5 per cent of Crucible's total capitalization. Shareholders' equity was at a new high of $118.7 million, equal to $31.28 per share."

The additions to gross plant property in 1958 totaled nearly $14 million. Crucible's acquisition of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., at Midland and Silicon Steels, Inc., accounted for $9.5 million of this amount.

Other projects last year included a new vacuum melt shop and laboratory at Syracuse and additional soaking pits and completion of the new cold strip facilities at Midland.

Research activity reached a new high level in 1958 with the absorption of the research group and facilities of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., and the opening of a new research laboratory at Sanderson - Halcomb Works in Syracuse.

Stainless, which accounted for about one-third of Crucible's 1958 net sales, is the company's leading growth product. The growth in Crucible stainless has been substantially greater than the growth enjoyed by the stainless industry as a whole, even though industry-wide stainless steel shipments in 1958 were more than 150 per cent greater than the 1947-1949 average.

"This has been accomplished through additions and improvements to Crucible's production and distribution facilities," the report pointed out. "The expansion in flat rolled finishing capacity and the additions to warehouses in 1958 place Crucible in an excellent position to further improve its participation in the growing stainless business."

Although customer inventory liquidation caused a sharp dip in the sale of tool steels in 1958, Crucible maintained its position as one of the largest producers of high speed and tool steels.

Increasing demand for vacuum melted alloys for jet engine parts, bearings, missile and electronic parts and atomic energy applications raised Crucible's sales of these alloys during the past year by 25 per cent over 1957.

Production capacity for both arc and induction melted products is now one of the largest and most versatile in the trade.

While the titanium industry in 1958 shipped less than half the product shipped in 1957, Crucible was able to organize its titanium business to permit profitable operations at very low demand levels.

"Development work continues and, as we find it possible to reduce selling prices as we have in the past, a broader market will eventually come," it was predicted.

Making possible the most efficient distribution of the tens of thousands of separate items and stocks produced by the company, warehouses were opened in Tampa, Toledo, Charlotte and Erie—expanding Crucible's warehousing system to cover 32 cities from coast to coast.

Demurrer Aired In Action Over School Transfer

LISBON — Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Wednesday took under advisement a demurrer motion filed by County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw concerning a charge against the County Board of Education of illegally forming the Southern Local School District last year.

The new district was formed from the former Yellow Creek, Wayne and Salineville School Districts.

If Judge Buzzard sustains the demurrer, the case will be dismissed unless the plaintiffs wish to file another plea. If the judge rejects the prosecutor's motion, the County Board will have to file an answer.

Babysitter Snatched Infant

Kidnaped Baby Is Safe; Woman Admits Abduction

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—A kidnaped infant was found safe Wednesday night in the arms of a chunky, 37-year-old woman who admitted taking him from his crib while she was babysitting five days ago.

Betty Jean Yocom retreated to the bathroom of her darkened home 10 miles from Ontario when she heard FBI agents kicking in the door. Hugged to her bosom was 9-week-old Eric Leon Flores.

In a bedroom the agents found a brand new bassinet and bottle sterilizer and other indications that Mrs. Yocom had lavished a frustrated maternal love on another woman's child.

The baby, ill with a cold when he was taken from beside his sleeping twin brother last Friday, appeared to have been well cared for, the FBI said.

Mrs. Flores and the friendly woman she had allowed to sit with her children, faced each other tearfully.

They had first met last Feb. 17 when Mrs. Yocom, calling herself Ann Williams and identifying herself as a social worker from a local church, called on Mrs. Flores to offer any help that might be needed. Mrs. Flores' husband, Joseph, was killed in a gas explosion last summer and the community of Ontario has contributed food, clothing and needed services to the family ever since.

Mrs. Yocom, who is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs about 180 pounds, offered to take care of the Flores children. She telephoned the next day and repeated the offer. Last Friday she called at the house again and this time Mrs. Flores agreed to go out with a friend for a few hours, leaving Mrs. Yocom with the children, who range in age from 8 to the infant twins.

In the end it was the baby himself who led to the capture of Mrs. Yocom. His loud wails made a neighbor suspicious. The FBI was notified.

crackling and sparkling. Huge balls of flame and smoke shot upwards illuminating this eastern Pennsylvania anthracite community for miles. Hazleton is located about 120 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Clarence Krapf, 63, the room clerk, said the fire started at the bottom of the elevator shaft and mushroomed through the building. The elevator plunged to the pit.

The fifth floor wall of the hotel crashed to the street at the height of the blaze. Miraculously, firemen fighting the blaze and the large crowd of spectators watching the spectacular fire, were not hurt.

The dead were identified as Miss Mary Mooney, about 60; Mrs. Howard Deitch, in her late 40s, and Emma Stilgebauer, about 65, all permanent residents of the hotel. Mrs. Deitch's husband, Howard, and another guest, John Dougherty, were reported in critical condition.

3 Women Wait Hearing On Charges Of Fighting

Three women who pleaded innocent today in Municipal Court on charges of disorderly conduct by fighting are scheduled for hearings Friday morning at 9.

Police identified the defendants as Kathleen Hunt, 33, of 1069 Locust St., Sarah Melvin, 32, of 1076 Peake St., and Jeannette Kountz, 64, of 325 Broadway.

They were arrested at 2:25 this morning outside the Diamond Restaurant on the Diamond. Police said the three emerged from the tavern and "started pulling hair, kicking, talking loudly and swinging fists."

Elderly Man's Drunk Driving Case Dropped

A drunken driving charge was withdrawn today in Municipal Court against Francis Beaver of Bluff St., Dixonville, who then was given a fine of $25 and costs on a charge of driving on the wrong side of a roadway.

The case against Beaver, arrested after an Anderson Blvd. traffic mishap Tuesday afternoon, had ended in a stalemate Wednesday when the elderly man refused to plead guilty to the lesser charge after Judge George L. Brokaw indicated he would not convict him of driving while intoxicated.

Returning to court today, Beaver quickly pleaded guilty to the charge alleging he drove left of the center line in a mishap that also involved an auto operated by Hans Hacker Jr. of Anderson Blvd. Beaver had been fined $50 and costs yesterday for driving without a license, but the penalty was reduced to $25 and costs.

Three other drivers forfeited $16 bonds today.

They are Leroy F. Black of Box 462, Station A, cited at 4:34 p. m. Wednesday for speeding on Harvey Ave., and Donald Poole of Radio Heights and Stanley Tittle of M.C. Route 22, both arrested by the State Highway Patrol Tuesday night for driving left of center on Route 30.

Paced by the scoring and all-around play of Ted Robinson, Chester held on to its lead over Hune Co. last night.

Pettit Shoots For Record In Single Season

By The Associated Press

Bob Pettit goes after his greatest single season conquest of the National Basketball Assn. record book tonight in Philadelphia.

When the St. Louis Hawks' star faces the Philadelphia Warriors in the second game of a doubleheader he will need only 18 points to break George Yardley's record of 2,001 points in a single season.

Pettit scored 32 Wednesday night as the Hawks were dumped 127-97 by the Detroit Pistons. But in warming up for tonight's job, the former Louisiana State All America set two NBA records. His 10 field goals gives him 680, one more than Clyde Lovellette's 1957-58 total at Cincinnati. He has scored 823 foul throws this year, getting 15 against Minneapolis to top Yardley's mark of 808.

Detroit opened a 40-point lead in the third quarter to hand the Western division leaders their worst defeat of the year. Rookie Shellie McMillon paced Detroit with 23-points.

The Boston Celtics take a stab at the record book tonight against Syracuse. Their 120-114 vicory over the Nats Wednesday night gave them 51 for the year, tying the record set in 1951 by Syracuse, Minneapolis and Rochester.

New York clinched second place in the Eastern division, defeating Philadelphia, 118-115, and Jack Twyman scored 46 points as Cincinnati knocked off Minneapolis, 128-122.

Connecticut Wins Title, Added To NCAA Event

By The Associated Press

The Connecticut Yankees are in the NCAA basketball tourament and, late today the Confederate Yankees begin their bid to try to join them.

Connecticut nailed its 10th straight Yankee Conference title and a NCAA berth Wednesday night with an 87-63 romp over Rhode Island. That put the Uconns in a first round tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden next Tuesday among a sextet Frank McGuire's Northern-bred North Carolina Tar Heels hope to join by winning the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament beginning today in Raleigh, N.C.

North Carolina, the NCAA champ two years ago with an unbeaten team, tied for the regular ACC lead with North Carolina State. By the flip of a coin, State is top-seeded in the eight-team tournament at Raleigh with North Carolina No. 2.

Should they meet in the finals, North Carolina is assured of the NCAA nomination since N.C. State is on probation. But the way the ACC functions, no one is ready to start counting crowns before they are polished.

First round games matched Duke with Wake Forest, North Carolina with Clemson, N.C. State with South Carolina, and Maryland with Virginia. Saturday night at the latest, the ACC will know the team that goes against at-large nominee Navy in the wind-up of the New York NCAA tripleheader.

Connecticut, will face an at-large team still to be named by the Eastern NCAA section committee in the opener of the tripleheader.

West Virginia's Southern Conference champs will play the Ivy League champion in the middle game. Their foe could have been decided Wednesday night but wasn't when Dartmouth and Princeton ended their regular seasons tied for first place with 13-1 records.

Dartmouth, a 74-63 winner over Brown, will meet Princeton, a 61-60 winner over Penn, in a chips-down playoff at neutral New Haven, Conn. Saturday night. The co-leaders split their two regular season Ivy games — each winning at home.

Tournament teams Marquette, St. Joseph's (Pa) and Fordham added victories in other games on a schedule concentrated in the East. Marquette, an at-large choice for the NCAA, made it 22-3 with a revenge 82-69 victory over DePaul, another NCAA at-large choice. In their first meeting, DePaul snapped Marquette's 15-game winning streak.

St. Joseph's, winner of the Middle-Atlantic conference's NCAA berth, rolled to its 11th straight for a 21-3 record, 85-63 over Lehigh.

NIT-bound Fordham (17-6) downed Queens (NY) 88-71. Syracuse—a darkhorse contender for the one remaining NCAA at-large nomination—won its sixth straight 67-65 over Niagara.

Dartmouth-Princeton Playoff To Decide WVU Foe In NCAA

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia will have to wait until Saturday night before learning its basketball foe in next week's first-round games in the NCAA Eastern Regional Playoffs at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The WVU Mountaineers, in their role as Southern Conference titlist, will play the Ivy League champion in the second game of the NCAA tripleheader next Tuesday.

The Ivy League title will be decided Saturday at New Haven, Conn. in a playoff between Dartmouth and Princeton, both with 13-1 loop records. Both won contests last night in league competition which was scouted by WVU representatives. Dartmouth turned back Brown, 74-63, at Hanover, N. H. in a contest mapped by WVU assistant coach George King.

The two teams split in previous meetings this campaign. Dartmouth beat Princeton 71-59, in the first game at Hanover but later dropped an 83-67 decision to the Tigers at Princeton.

Regardless who they play, the Mountaineers plan to fly to New York the day of the game and return immediately afterward.

"Those sidewalks in New York can take a lot of basketball out of your legs," Schaus explained. "There are so many shops and sights to see there that you'd walk your legs right off and not even know it."

Casper Launches Defense Of Golf Title At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightning may not strike in the same spot twice, but no one would like to see this adage tested more than Billy Casper, who opened defense of his New Orleans golf title today.

Casper, of Chula Vista, Calif., won the $20,000 tournament title last year. He upset favored Ken Venturi in a sudden death playoff.

Success has been absent from Billy's side this year. A severe attack of influenza has forced him to skip several winter tournaments.

Favorites include Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., 1958 Masters champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and Howie Johnson of San Marcos, Calif.

Art Walls Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., leading money winner on the winter tour with earnings of more than $11,000, withdrew from the tournament because of recurring hernia trouble and returned home.

The two teams split in previous meetings this campaign. Dartmouth beat Princeton 71-59, in the first game at Hanover but later dropped an 83-67 decision to the Tigers at Princeton.

Regardless who they play, the Mountaineers plan to fly to New York the day of the game and return immediately afterward.

"Those sidewalks in New York can take a lot of basketball out of your legs," Schaus explained. "There are so many shops and sights to see there that you'd walk your legs right off and not even know it."

Casper Launches Defense Of Golf Title At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightning may not strike in the same spot twice, but no one would like to see this adage tested more than Billy Casper, who opened defense of his New Orleans golf title today.

Casper, of Chula Vista, Calif., won the $20,000 tournament title last year. He upset favored Ken Venturi in a sudden death playoff.

Success has been absent from Billy's side this year. A severe attack of influenza has forced him to skip several winter tournaments.

Art Walls Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., leading money winner on the winter tour with earnings of more than $11,000, withdrew from the tournament because of recurring hernia trouble and returned home.

Bob Lemon Leaves Mound For Coaching-Scouting Job

Calls It Quits After Attempt At Comeback

That was Bob Lemon's explanation Wednesday when it was announced that he had decided to retire as a pitcher and accept an offer to serve the Cleveland Indians as a scout and trouble shooter.

Manager Joe Gordon made the announcement just before an intrasquad game in which the 38-year-old veteran was scheduled to test his ailing right arm.

Hoping to make a comeback this spring, Lemon came to the Cleveland camp to "help out any way I can, even if it's relief pitching."

He was the last survivor of the staff that pitched the Tribe to an American League pennant and a World Series championship in 1948. He won two series games.

Lemon won 20 or more games in seven seasons in compiling a string of 207 major league victories against 128 defeats. His best season was in 1954, another pennant year for the Indians, when he appeared in 36 games and had a 23-7 record for a .767 average.

Gordon said Lemon would be listed as one of the Tribe's regular coaches and also would do some scouting for the club and some coaching in the minor leagues.

Hamilton Five Eliminated In District Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The tournament trail is still eating away Ohio's high school basketball talent.

Latest to be sidelined in the "lose - and - out" district tournaments was Hamilton's Big Blue—state champion in 1937, 1949 and 1954, and runnerup in 1951.

The Butler County team, playing its final season of basketball, was nosed out 66-64 in overtime Wednesday night by Princeton in the Middletown district meet.

Middletown, seven-time champion of the state—a record unchallenged by anyone—rolled on to an 18-4 record by defeating Wyoming 82-41 at Oxford. The Middies will meet Princeton Friday at Cincinnati for a regional tourney berth.

Steubenville's Big Red, showing its late - season scoring ability, crushed Bellaire St. John 90-35 at New Concord, and Elyria—one of the three unbeaten teams in Class AA—raced over Berea 70-52 at Bedford for its 22nd in a row. Steubenville is 18-4.

In Class A, unbeaten Salem Local made it 24-0 with a 68-41 win over Houston (18-6) at Springfield; Pickerington ran its record to 22-1 with a 44-39 conquest over Licking Heights (16-7) at Westerville, and Ridgedale (23-3) whipped Fredericktown (15-8) by 65-49 at Marion.

Eleven games are slated in the Class AA districts tonight, along with five in Class A. Wednesday night's frays cut the 412 - team Class AA field to 63, and the 601-team Class A contingent to 47.

Pulled Back Muscle Slowed Newcombe Down In 1958

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Memo to Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

Don Newcombe had a winless record with the Dodgers last year not because he was lazy and wasn't trying. He actually suffered from a pulled back muscle, just as he claimed.

Wayne Anderson, trainer of the Cincinnati Reds, the club to which the big pitcher was traded, attests to that.

"There's no question about it," Anderson vouched. "The longitudenal cord which extends across the shoulders, was affected. I recognized the symptoms the first time I examined him. I just busted it down with therapy and massages and heat treatments did the rest."

Newcombe, baseball's outstanding pitcher only three years ago, was only a shadow of his former self in 1958. After losing all seven decisions, he was traded by the Dodgers to the Reds 45 minutes before the June 15 deadline. It took Newcombe a long time to get over the shock.

"I told them I had a torn muscle," said big Newk, "but I don't think they believed me."

Newcombe won his first start for the Reds, 6-1 against St. Louis. He finished with a 7-6 Cincinnati record.

"I enjoyed pitching for the Reds," he said. "My arm is fine now and I expect to have a big year under Mayo Smith."

Saxton, Ex-Ring Champ, Arrested In $2.50 Burglary

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Saxton, who earned a quarter of a million dollars as world's welterweight champion, has been arrested in a burglary which netted $5.20 in cash.

Spotted Wednesday night on a fire escape of a Jamaica, Queens, apartment house, the onetime Negro ring ace was captured by police, but not before he put up a battle.

He was charged with burglary and held for a hearing.

Saxton, 28, lost his title in 1956. He told police all the money he made in his 10-year professional career was gone, and that he owes $16,000 in back taxes.

"I'm not working. I needed money. I'm spending most of my time up in Harlem training young fighters," he said.

Police said Saxton tossed a small valise into a clump of bushes. In it was $5.20, a fur cape, and a pack of cigarettes. The cape and bag were identified by Adelaide Farrell, 55, a sixth-floor tenant.

Cincinnati Hires Wally Moses To Instruct Batters

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Like to see Cincinnati's Reds do more hitting this season? Team brass would like to see the same thing.

That's why they hired Wally Moses—a plus .300 hitter for seven straight years in the American League—as batting coach.

And Moses said Wednesday he calculates that the difference between a .250 and a .300 hitter is one more base hit a week.

He said there are a few flaws which have to be corrected in several players but that "we've made some progress during our daily batting practice sessions.

"We'll be able to do even more once the exhibition season gets under way.

Moses said he has been emphasizing the importance of laying off the first or second pitch.

"So many boys are too anxious at the plate and swing at the first pitch.

"That makes the job much easier for the opposing pitcher. And they are smart enough to know the batters in the league that go for the first pitch."

Toronto's Hopes Still Alive For Berth In Playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Leafs kept the fire alive Wednesday night by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks for the third time in 13 clashes this season. The score was 5-2.

The victory boosted the Leafs into a fifth-place tie with the Detroit Red Wings but they still trail the fourth-place New York Rangers by five points. And there are only nine games to go with each team.

Bob Pulford scored two of Toronto's goals. Other Toronto goals were by Bert Olmstead, Marc Reaume and Frank Mahovlich. Earl Balfour and Pierre Pilote were the Chicago scorers.

Attell, Ex-Ring King, Collapses But Is OK

NEW YORK (AP) — Abe Attell, former world featherweight champion and a member of Boxing's Hall of Fame, collapsed in a restaurant Wednesday night, but he still talked like a champ from a hospital bed.

"I'm all right," he said. "I've got a touch of the flu, but I'll be out of here by tomorrow. Why son, I expect to live to be 100."

Attell, a native of San Francisco who held the featherweight crown from 1904 to 1912, is 75.

Dr. Sidney Rubenstein said Attell suffered a "circulatory condition not considered serious."

Blame It On 'Visa Trouble'

Miranda And Avila Still Absent From Oriole Camp

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One temperamental Latin would seem to be all that Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, needs to keep his mind occupied these days. But Richards has three, and two of them are still absent from the Orioles' training camp in Miami.

Chico Carrasquel, the Venezuelan shortstop, did manage to make camp six days late. He blamed it on "visa trouble." Carrasquel was traded to Baltimore by Kansas City last fall after six years at Chicago and Cleveland.

Willie Miranda, who has been the Baltimore shortstop since 1955, and Bob Avila, the second sacker who was acquired from Cleveland last December, are missing — whereabouts unknown.

Miranda may not have been the inventor of the "visa trouble" excuse, but he's probably used it more than any other absentee. He has signed his 1959 contract, and presumably is in Cuba.

Avila, the team's only holdout, was thought to be at home in Vera Cruz, Mexico. Roberto was in Havana last month — perhaps getting a fill-in on the Orioles from Senor Miranda. At that time, Avila said he was considering quitting baseball.

Bob Lemon, who won 20 or more games for Cleveland in seven seasons, gave up his comeback ambitions and signed with the Indians as a scout-coach. He pitched part of 1958 for San Diego but was handicapped by arm trouble.

Outfielder Bob Cerv finally signed with the Kansas City Athletics for an estimated $32,000. He had his first workout Wednesday at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dave Philly agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Phillies. The outfielder was barred from a morning workout at the Phillies' camp in Clearwater, Fla., but later signed his contract. Terms were not announced.

Indians Are Happy Now To Have 'Mudcat' Grant

By BOB MYERS

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Even though the Cleveland Indians seem something less than a threat to the Yankees, they are thankful they added James Timothy Grant to their roster last spring.

At the time there were doubts about Herb Score because of his eye injury. Bob Lemon was getting on in pitching years. Mike Garcia seemed near trail's end. Early Wynn had been traded. In short, the pitching looked thin.

Along came Grant, better known as Mudcat. Althouth the 23-year-old Negro had won 18 games and lost only 7 with a 2.32 earned run average at San Diego in 1957, General Manager Frank Lane was critical.

"He's got to show us more of a breaking pitch," said Lane. "He has a fast ball, but not fast enough to go in the majors. And so far he hasn't shown us a sharp curve. This may develop, of course. That's what we're waiting for."

That was last March. Now Lane feels differently about the 190-pound 6-foot-2 pitcher.

Grant got the nickname of Mudcat in 1954 when he reported to Fargo-Moorhead in the Class C Northern League. A teammate thought he came from Mississippi and promptly dubbed him "Mississippi Mudcat." Actually Grant is from LaCoochee, Fla.

Mudcat not only was great in the Pacific Coast League but his enthusiasm and personality caught on with the fans.

When the 1958 season turned into August, Grant was one of the Indians' big three. He had won 8, lost 8. In July he beat Bob Turley and the Yankees and followed this with a relief effort that shattered Arnold Portocarrero's six-game winning streak for Baltimore.

Grant's earned run average still must be shaved to have him ranked with the top hurlers but he certainly has come a long way in four years of professional baseball.

He led the Northern League with 21 wins in 1954 and topped the Three-I League with 19 while with Keokuk, Iowa, in 1955.

Grant's first losing season was in Class A with Reading, Pa., in 1956. He was 12-13 with a third place team.

He was a loser as a rookie last year, but Lane has few complaints now. Even with a 10-11 record, Grant did better than expected.

Toronto's Hopes Still Alive For Berth In Playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Leafs kept the fire alive Wednesday night by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks for the third time in 13 clashes this season. The score was 5-2.

The victory boosted the Leafs into a fifth-place tie with the Detroit Red Wings but they still trail the fourth-place New York Rangers by five points. And there are only nine games to go with each team.

Bob Pulford scored two of Toronto's goals. Other Toronto goals were by Bert Olmstead, Marc Reaume and Frank Mahovlich. Earl Balfour and Pierre Pilote were the Chicago scorers.

Attell, Ex-Ring King, Collapses But Is OK

NEW YORK (AP) — Abe Attell, former world featherweight champion and a member of Boxing's Hall of Fame, collapsed in a restaurant Wednesday night, but he still talked like a champ from a hospital bed.

"I'm all right," he said. "I've got a touch of the flu, but I'll be out of here by tomorrow. Why son, I expect to live to be 100."

Attell, a native of San Francisco who held the featherweight crown from 1904 to 1912, is 75.

Miranda And Avila Still Absent From Oriole Camp

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One temperamental Latin would seem to be all that Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, needs to keep his mind occupied these days. But Richards has three, and two of them are still absent from the Orioles' training camp in Miami.

Chico Carrasquel, the Venezuelan shortstop, did manage to make camp six days late. He blamed it on "visa trouble." Carrasquel was traded to Baltimore by Kansas City last fall after six years at Chicago and Cleveland.

Willie Miranda, who has been the Baltimore shortstop since 1955, and Bob Avila, the second sacker who was acquired from Cleveland last December, are missing — whereabouts unknown.

Miranda may not have been the inventor of the "visa trouble" excuse, but he's probably used it more than any other absentee. He has signed his 1959 contract, and presumably is in Cuba.

Avila, the team's only holdout, was thought to be at home in Vera Cruz, Mexico. Roberto was in Havana last month — perhaps getting a fill-in on the Orioles from Senor Miranda. At that time, Avila said he was considering quitting baseball.

Bob Lemon, who won 20 or more games for Cleveland in seven seasons, gave up his comeback ambitions and signed with the Indians as a scout-coach. He pitched part of 1958 for San Diego but was handicapped by arm trouble.

Outfielder Bob Cerv finally signed with the Kansas City Athletics for an estimated $32,000. He had his first workout Wednesday at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dave Philly agreed to terms with the Philadelphia Phillies. The outfielder was barred from a morning workout at the Phillies' camp in Clearwater, Fla., but later signed his contract. Terms were not announced.

Indians Are Happy Now To Have 'Mudcat' Grant

By BOB MYERS

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Even though the Cleveland Indians seem something less than a threat to the Yankees, they are thankful they added James Timothy Grant to their roster last spring.

At the time there were doubts about Herb Score because of his eye injury. Bob Lemon was getting on in pitching years. Mike Garcia seemed near trail's end. Early Wynn had been traded. In short, the pitching looked thin.

Along came Grant, better known as Mudcat. Althouth the 23-year-old Negro had won 18 games and lost only 7 with a 2.32 earned run average at San Diego in 1957, General Manager Frank Lane was critical.

"He's got to show us more of a breaking pitch," said Lane. "He has a fast ball, but not fast enough to go in the majors. And so far he hasn't shown us a sharp curve. This may develop, of course. That's what we're waiting for."

That was last March. Now Lane feels differently about the 190-pound 6-foot-2 pitcher.

Grant got the nickname of Mudcat in 1954 when he reported to Fargo-Moorhead in the Class C Northern League. A teammate thought he came from Mississippi and promptly dubbed him "Mississippi Mudcat." Actually Grant is from LaCoochee, Fla.

Mudcat not only was great in the Pacific Coast League but his enthusiasm and personality caught on with the fans.

When the 1958 season turned into August, Grant was one of the Indians' big three. He had won 8, lost 8. In July he beat Bob Turley and the Yankees and followed this with a relief effort that shattered Arnold Portocarrero's six-game winning streak for Baltimore.

Grant's earned run average still must be shaved to have him ranked with the top hurlers but he certainly has come a long way in four years of professional baseball.

He led the Northern League with 21 wins in 1954 and topped the Three-I League with 19 while with Keokuk, Iowa, in 1955.

Grant's first losing season was in Class A with Reading, Pa., in 1956. He was 12-13 with a third place team.

He was a loser as a rookie last year, but Lane has few complaints now. Even with a 10-11 record, Grant did better than expected.

Hamilton Five Eliminated In District Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The tournament trail is still eating away Ohio's high school basketball talent.

Latest to be sidelined in the "lose - and - out" district tournaments was Hamilton's Big Blue—state champion in 1937, 1949 and 1954, and runnerup in 1951.

The Butler County team, playing its final season of basketball, was nosed out 66-64 in overtime Wednesday night by Princeton in the Middletown district meet.

Middletown, seven-time champion of the state—a record unchallenged by anyone—rolled on to an 18-4 record by defeating Wyoming 82-41 at Oxford. The Middies will meet Princeton Friday at Cincinnati for a regional tourney berth.

Steubenville's Big Red, showing its late - season scoring ability, crushed Bellaire St. John 90-35 at New Concord, and Elyria—one of the three unbeaten teams in Class AA—raced over Berea 70-52 at Bedford for its 22nd in a row. Steubenville is 18-4.

In Class A, unbeaten Salem Local made it 24-0 with a 68-41 win over Houston (18-6) at Springfield; Pickerington ran its record to 22-1 with a 44-39 conquest over Licking Heights (16-7) at Westerville, and Ridgedale (23-3) whipped Fredericktown (15-8) by 65-49 at Marion.

Eleven games are slated in the Class AA districts tonight, along with five in Class A. Wednesday night's frays cut the 412 - team Class AA field to 63, and the 601-team Class A contingent to 47.

Pulled Back Muscle Slowed Newcombe Down In 1958

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Memo to Buzzie Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

Don Newcombe had a winless record with the Dodgers last year not because he was lazy and wasn't trying. He actually suffered from a pulled back muscle, just as he claimed.

Wayne Anderson, trainer of the Cincinnati Reds, the club to which the big pitcher was traded, attests to that.

"There's no question about it," Anderson vouched. "The longitudenal cord which extends across the shoulders, was affected. I recognized the symptoms the first time I examined him. I just busted it down with therapy and massages and heat treatments did the rest."

Newcombe, baseball's outstanding pitcher only three years ago, was only a shadow of his former self in 1958. After losing all seven decisions, he was traded by the Dodgers to the Reds 45 minutes before the June 15 deadline. It took Newcombe a long time to get over the shock.

"I told them I had a torn muscle," said big Newk, "but I don't think they believed me."

Newcombe won his first start for the Reds, 6-1 against St. Louis. He finished with a 7-6 Cincinnati record.

"I enjoyed pitching for the Reds," he said. "My arm is fine now and I expect to have a big year under Mayo Smith."

Powell Stops Nino Valdes In 8th Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The heavyweight championship dreams and claims of Nino Valdes and his slightly articulate manager, Bobby Gleason, are in the nightmare class today.

The massive Cuban was thoroughly beaten and eventually knocked out at the Miami Beach Auditorium Wednesday night by a 4-1 underdog, Charley Powell of San Diego, Calif.

The end of the bloody, bruising, mauling affair came at 2:03 of the eighth round when referee Cy Gottfried stopped the contest as the exhausted Valdes, seemingly flabby at 224 pounds, sat on his haunches. Powell weighed 213½.

Gottfried said those were the only two knockdowns of the round and that Valdes went down the third time on a stumble. The referee ruled he was too exhausted to continue.

Valdes made violent protest in the ring, and later in his dressing room was semi-hysterical. He thought Gottfried had stopped the fight because he was down three times. There is no Florida rule that says a fight must be stopped when a man has been down three times.

It was a confident Valdes who answered the first bell, and he went through the first round almost casually. In the second round, however, Powell staggered him with a left hook, splitting his lip. From that point on the weighty Cuban was fighting for survival.

Powell was ahead on the cards of all three officials when the end came. The nationally televised bout drew 2,523 fans who paid $6,064.

Ohio House Committee Votes 13-4 On SUB Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill to permit simultaneous payment of supplemental unemployment benefits and state jobless compensation has the approval of the Ohio House Industry and Labor Committee.

The committee voted 13-4 Wednesday night to recommend the bill for House passage. The Senate already has passed it. The committee reinserted an emergency clause—which the Senate defeated by one vote—to make the bill effective when the governor signs it.

If the House passes the bill with the emergency clause, it will have to be resubmitted to the Senate.

Disarmed In Police Trap

Ohio Girl, 14, Forces Man, Boy On Ride At Gunpoint

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A darkhaired teenage girl sat passively in county jail Wednesday night, answering questions about the ride she forced a man and a boy to take at gunpoint.

The 14-year-old girl, disarmed in a police trap here said she didn't want to shoot anyone; she just wanted to see her mother, a waitress in a Mason truck stop.

But sheriff's deputies said the girl spent half the nine-mile ride Wednesday with a .22 caliber pistol at the head of a boy, age 5, and the rest of the trip with the gun rammed in the ribs of the driver, George McGuire, 35.

Deputies, alerted by a storekeeper in Auburn where the forced ride started, had followed the car at a discreet distance but hesitated at first to close in.

McGuire said, "I talked to her on the way and tried to get her sympathy. I told her I would write a note for the sheriff to drop back and after we got to where she wanted to go, she could go her way and I'd go mine."

McGuire first talked the girl into taking the gun from the boy's head and then persuaded the girl to let the youngster, Dwight Begley, out at a filling station. He said her lips trembled as she gave the boy 40 cents for candy.

Police and deputies closed in when the car stopped in traffic here. While her attention was distracted, a detective reached in the car window and snatched the gun away.

Deputies said the girl had first entered the store of Forrest Waltz at Auburn and demanded a ride to Hamilton.

Waltz said he went to get car keys — and phoned the sheriff's office. When he returned with McGuire, a friend, the girl had two women and the Begley boy at gunpoint.

McGuire offered to drive her to Hamilton but could not persuade her to leave the youngster.

Officers said the girl, a county ward living in an Auburn home, was due to be sent to a Columbus school next Sunday. She earlier had spent time at the Girls' Industrial School and the Columbus Juvenile Diagnostic Center.

5 Stark Truck Firms Protest To Ohio UC

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Utilities Commission attorney-examiner has heard five Stark County trucking firms protest that a sixth carrier is charging unreasonably low rates for hauling such iron and steel articles as bars, sheets and tubes.

The five want the commission to suspend rates presently charged by Globe Cartage Inc. of Canton, and restore them to a higher amount previously charged. They appeared at a commission hearing Wednesday before Attorney-Examiner William E. McGinnis.

McGinnis said Globe can present its side of the matter when the hearing resumes in a week or two.

The trucking firms whose names appeared on the protest are Modern Motor Express Inc., Stark Trucking Inc., Lattavo Brothers Inc., Saunders Cartage Inc. and Oyler Motor Transit Co. Inc.

Youth, 19, Wounded In Battle With Police

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 19-year-old left-handed shooter lost a fierce gun battle with police today inside a downtown bar he attempted to rob. Twenty-eight shots were fired in the 10-minute duel.

Lee Moore, who police said listed no address but told them he came from Cincinnati a few days ago, was treated at Charity Hospital for gunshot wounds in the left hand.

Six patrolmen had a hand in exchanging shots with Moore. James Mayes, a traffic officer, was treated for head bruises.

$600,000 Paid So Far For Real Estate Taxes

LISBON — A total of $600,000 had been processed as of Wednesday in the current collection of real estate taxes for the first half of 1958, according to Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer.

This is about 35 per cent of the billed amount. Closing date for payment is March 14 after which a penalty will be added, Judge said. The collection began Feb. 16.

Wilman Tries Comeback In ABC Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — They won't be expecting any spectacular scores from him, but the crowd is sure to give a roaring welcome to Joe Wilman when he competes in the American Bowling Congress Tournament here tonight.

The balding little Berwyn, Ill., pro, who has won virtually every tenpin title of significance, suffered a heart attack as he rolled his ABC singles event last year in Syracuse, N. Y.

Wednesday's highlights included fourth place moves in the singles and open team divisions. The Park Bowl of Sioux City assembled a 3046 series in the open division on games of 1045, 1022 and 979 to make their dent in the standings. Bob Moser of St. Louis used a 226-256-222—704 series to propel himself into the big money in the individual section.

There were no other significant standings changes.

Hopes For Safety Of Family Of 4 In Virginia Dim

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) —Hopes for the safety of a missing Louisa County family of four flickered today as authorities pushed for positive identification of two bodies found Wednesday in a field near here. There were indications there might be a third body.

State police said it was reasonable to assume the bodies visible atop a tangle of brush were those of Carroll V. Jackson Jr., 29, a feed truck driver, and one of his two blonde-haired daughters.

State Police Capt. W. W. Blythe said "There are indications that a second child's body may lie beneath the body of the man."

The bodies were stumbled upon by two Fredericksburg men near a mound of sawdust two miles west of here.

Jackson, his wife, 27, and their two young girls vanished Jan. 11 as they drove home from a visit to relatives.

Authorities said clothing worn by the man and the girl resembled that worn by members of the Jackson family.

"I think it is reasonable to assume that they are the Jacksons," Blythe said.

Authorities made no efforts to move the bodies after their discovery shortly before nightfall under a pile of dead branches and leaves at the side of a dirt road. State police guarded the area all night.

The company's 1,300 utility workers went on strike midnight Saturday, when their old contract expired.

Shoemaker, Pettit Rank As Decade's Top Athletes

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeature Sports Editor

Two of the greatest young athletes of this decade are a jockey and a basketball player. This is more than opinion; figures prove it.

Shoemaker refuses to discuss his goals. But with 1959 still in its infancy it's plain to see the Shoe hopes to lead the little saddlemen once again. He has been top man an unprecedented four times, including 1950 when he and Joe Culmone tied.

In seven of his 10 years as a jockey, the native Texas has seen the winner's circle 300 or more times. Last year he led the saddlemen with an even 300. He broke the spell of Bill Hartack, the 26-year-old former altar boy from Colver, Pa., who in 1957 became the first to lead the riders three years running.

Shoe is now fourth in American riding history and by the end of 1960 figures to have passed third place Ted Atkinson, now retired at 42. Atkinson had hoped to ride until 50 but a bad back forced him to quit.

Pettit, a former basketball standout at Louisiana State University, began the season ranking 18th in National Basketball Assn. scoring annals. When the season ends this spring he should be around 12th place.

One of the 6-foot-9 Pettit's best nights came in the final championship playoff game last spring when the St. Louis Hawks beat the Boston Celtics. Prolific Paul netted 50 points. This season he had another 50-point night, but his top effort came in a January game against Boston. He scored 52 markers.

At this season's three - quarter mark (54 games) he had 1,559 points for a 28.9 game average. He's a cinch to break George Yardley's 2,001-point mark made last season. The 215-pound Pettit is now in his fifth season in the NBA.

Due For Observation

MCCONNELSVILLE, Ohio (AP) —Ex-Marine Lowell Eugene Oliver, 20, has been ordered to Lima State Hospital for 30 days observation after pleading innocent by reason of insanity to the Feb. 11 pistol-slaying of Thomas Camden Roach, 31. Oliver is indicted for second-degree murder. Roach, a South Charleston, W. Va., clothing salesman, was shot as he and Oliver argued in a car parked near Chesterhill, 19 miles southwest of here.

Youth, 19, Wounded In Battle With Police

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 19-year-old left-handed shooter lost a fierce gun battle with police today inside a downtown bar he attempted to rob. Twenty-eight shots were fired in the 10-minute duel.

Lee Moore, who police said listed no address but told them he came from Cincinnati a few days ago, was treated at Charity Hospital for gunshot wounds in the left hand.

Six patrolmen had a hand in exchanging shots with Moore. James Mayes, a traffic officer, was treated for head bruises.

$600,000 Paid So Far For Real Estate Taxes

LISBON — A total of $600,000 had been processed as of Wednesday in the current collection of real estate taxes for the first half of 1958, according to Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer.

This is about 35 per cent of the billed amount. Closing date for payment is March 14 after which a penalty will be added, Judge said. The collection began Feb. 16.

Wilman Tries Comeback In ABC Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — They won't be expecting any spectacular scores from him, but the crowd is sure to give a roaring welcome to Joe Wilman when he competes in the American Bowling Congress Tournament here tonight.

The balding little Berwyn, Ill., pro, who has won virtually every tenpin title of significance, suffered a heart attack as he rolled his ABC singles event last year in Syracuse, N. Y.

Wednesday's highlights included fourth place moves in the singles and open team divisions. The Park Bowl of Sioux City assembled a 3046 series in the open division on games of 1045, 1022 and 979 to make their dent in the standings. Bob Moser of St. Louis used a 226-256-222—704 series to propel himself into the big money in the individual section.

There were no other significant standings changes.

Hopes For Safety Of Family Of 4 In Virginia Dim

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) —Hopes for the safety of a missing Louisa County family of four flickered today as authorities pushed for positive identification of two bodies found Wednesday in a field near here. There were indications there might be a third body.

State police said it was reasonable to assume the bodies visible atop a tangle of brush were those of Carroll V. Jackson Jr., 29, a feed truck driver, and one of his two blonde-haired daughters.

State Police Capt. W. W. Blythe said "There are indications that a second child's body may lie beneath the body of the man."

The bodies were stumbled upon by two Fredericksburg men near a mound of sawdust two miles west of here.

Jackson, his wife, 27, and their two young girls vanished Jan. 11 as they drove home from a visit to relatives.

Authorities said clothing worn by the man and the girl resembled that worn by members of the Jackson family.

"I think it is reasonable to assume that they are the Jacksons," Blythe said.

'Little Hoover' Group For Ohio Is Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Lima member of the General Assembly called today for creation of a "little Hoover Commission" to survey Ohio's state governmental agencies.

Rep. Walter L. White (R-Allen) proposes the Ohio commission be named to point out duplication of functions and recommend consolidation or abolition of non-essential bureaus and agencies.

Meeting Slated Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A meeting tentatively has been set for today between representatives of the striking international Union of Electrical Workers and the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. The meeting would be the first get-together of both sides since contract negotiations broke off Friday. The company's 1,300 utility workers went on strike midnight Saturday, when their old contract expired.

Shoemaker, Pettit Rank As Decade's Top Athletes

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeature Sports Editor

Two of the greatest young athletes of this decade are a jockey and a basketball player. This is more than opinion; figures prove it.

Shoemaker refuses to discuss his goals. But with 1959 still in its infancy it's plain to see the Shoe hopes to lead the little saddlemen once again. He has been top man an unprecedented four times, including 1950 when he and Joe Culmone tied.

In seven of his 10 years as a jockey, the native Texas has seen the winner's circle 300 or more times. Last year he led the saddlemen with an even 300. He broke the spell of Bill Hartack, the 26-year-old former altar boy from Colver, Pa., who in 1957 became the first to lead the riders three years running.

Shoe is now fourth in American riding history and by the end of 1960 figures to have passed third place Ted Atkinson, now retired at 42. Atkinson had hoped to ride until 50 but a bad back forced him to quit.

Pettit, a former basketball standout at Louisiana State University, began the season ranking 18th in National Basketball Assn. scoring annals. When the season ends this spring he should be around 12th place.

One of the 6-foot-9 Pettit's best nights came in the final championship playoff game last spring when the St. Louis Hawks beat the Boston Celtics. Prolific Paul netted 50 points. This season he had another 50-point night, but his top effort came in a January game against Boston. He scored 52 markers.

At this season's three - quarter mark (54 games) he had 1,559 points for a 28.9 game average. He's a cinch to break George Yardley's 2,001-point mark made last season. The 215-pound Pettit is now in his fifth season in the NBA.

Disney Ponders TV, Movies Problem

LOS ANGELES

Though Walt Disney is an inveterate purveyor of enriched entertainment, he is entering his sixth year in television with a bewildered air characteristic of the relatively younger entrepreneurs of TV.

Marie Torre

It's not HOW to entertain the public that confounds Disney. That he has been doing for 40 years. It is the general lack of expressed appreciation, on the part of the public as well as the sponsors, that fires his perplexity.

He is even more befuddled when the cry goes up for pay TV and the implied "better quality" of programming that it would being to the medium.

"BETTER QUALITY?" Disney echoes in reflection. "Somebody doesn't know the economic facts of the business. In reaching for 'quality' this year, our television division will lose 1½ million dollars, and I don't see where we've created any unusual excitement.

"One film for television, 'Our Friend, the Atom,' cost us half a million. Educational groups all around the country have requested prints of it, but on TV it wasn't received with more than routine attention.

"Frankly I don't know how much better shows could be under a pay TV system. They say that programs would be better because of the money incentives to theatrical and motion picture producers.

"Well, I'm a motion picture man. I recently finished a picture called 'Sleeping Beauty' which cost six million dollars, and it's a lovely thing to see — the color, the painstaking detail. But you'd never be able to see that kind of detail on a television screen.

"It's something that has to be seen on a motion picture screen for full appreciation.

"Besides, who is going to make it worth my while financially to produce a six-million-dollar picture for pay TV?"

DISNEY, a tactful man, does not give voice to his behind-camera experiences in a medium motivated by ratings ("Their bible is the Nielsen"), but it is surmised that he occasionally reaches the point of painful resignation.

Since he is a major figure in the motion picture industry and owner of the flourishing Disneyland Park in Burbank, Calif., one had to wonder why he bothered.

"For several reasons," he said in explanation. "Television enables me to keep a staff on a regular basis. There are 1,200 people working here for me and, mind you, this is a slack period.

"Television also permits us to experiment with ideas, whereas with movies, because of the cost factor, you're forced to deal with the sure thing. And, of course, the big advantage of TV representation for me is that it lets the public know about my movies. Everything dovetails, if you know what I mean."

"Oh, we're expensive," he remarked. "All my life I've been spending more money than I've received in immediate profits — for ever a source of worry to my brother, Roy, and my banker.

"With time, though, they seem less upset. Time has been our saviour."

THE "ADULT" Western apparently has run its course. Latest oater on the market deals with the adventures of a teen-ager in the Old West, called "The Rebel." . . .

A sponsor renewal will keep Dinah Shore on TV through the next 52 weeks. . .

In answer to letters asking the whereabouts of Dr. Frank Baxter, he is confined to an alternate-week half-hour show on a local Los Angeles station (KRCA). That's network television's loss. Surely if NBC can produce, with excellent results, an early - morning course in physics, there is room on the channels for a continuation of Dr. Baxter's illuminating courses on Shakespeare.

LUCILLE BALL, preparing to visit New York for an Arthur Godfrey chat next Tuesday, rues the fact that "so many of our great comedians are going dramatic" these days.

"We'll have to develop," she says, "a whole new field of comics. Even the younger ones like Red Buttons, Jack Lemmon and Mort Sahl are going dramatic."

And yet, what is Lucy's current ambition?

"I would love," she says, "to do a dramatic show with Jackie Gleason. We're trying to get him for one which we would do in our Desilu Playhouse series."

Hope Told Eye Will Clear Up Without Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope, told his eye trouble would clear up without surgery, was expected to leave for the West Coast today to prepare for a Sunday television show.

In a bulletin Wednesday night from Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center Dr. Algernon B. Reese said: "There is no indication whatever that an operation will be required. Further diagnostic studies are being made in an effort to determine the exact cause."

The hospital said five fans—not identified—have offered to donate an eye to Hope. A hospital spokesman said. "Such a contingency is not being considered."

6 Bills Offered By Legislators From District

The men who represent Columbiana County in the General Assembly dropped six bills into the hopper at Columbus Wednesday, including measures to boost gasoline taxes and auto registration and driver's license fees.

Sen. Arthur Blake, Belmont County Democrat, introduced bills to:

Provide a 3-cent tax on motor vehicle fuel to apply to highway construction and repair at the state, county and municipal level.

Increase the auto registration fee from $10 to $15 a year, along with a 20 per cent hike in licenses for trucks and truck trailers.

Cut the term of a driver's license from three years to one and increase the fee from 75 cents to $2.

Two bills were introduced on behalf of Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Columbiana County, who is in Salem City Hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The first would authorize the State Bridge Commission to take over from the Highway Department the East Liverpool - Chester Bridge and charge tolls to maintain it and relocate or improve approaches.

The measure was introduced in case the city and the state decide to go ahead with a plan for temporary restoration of tolls to help build freeway approaches to the bridge. The bill was filed on behalf of Wetzel by Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County.

Another Wetzel bill was introduced to authorize courts to add $25 to the costs in divorce cases for investigations in suits involving children under 14.

Today is the deadline for introduction of measures the assembly will consider in the current biennium.

Talk of a possible strike was raised Wednesday night for the first time since the union and company sat down two weeks for contract negotiations.

The CWA represents 17,000 Ohio Bell employes. Its old contract has been extended indefinitely from its scheduled expiration date of last Saturday midnight, but the extention is subject to cancellation by either party.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Disney Ponders TV, Movies Problem

LOS ANGELES

Though Walt Disney is an inveterate purveyor of enriched entertainment, he is entering his sixth year in television with a bewildered air characteristic of the relatively younger entrepreneurs of TV.

Marie Torre

It's not HOW to entertain the public that confounds Disney. That he has been doing for 40 years. It is the general lack of expressed appreciation, on the part of the public as well as the sponsors, that fires his perplexity.

He is even more befuddled when the cry goes up for pay TV and the implied "better quality" of programming that it would being to the medium.

"BETTER QUALITY?" Disney echoes in reflection. "Somebody doesn't know the economic facts of the business. In reaching for 'quality' this year, our television division will lose 1½ million dollars, and I don't see where we've created any unusual excitement.

"One film for television, 'Our Friend, the Atom,' cost us half a million. Educational groups all around the country have requested prints of it, but on TV it wasn't received with more than routine attention.

"Frankly I don't know how much better shows could be under a pay TV system. They say that programs would be better because of the money incentives to theatrical and motion picture producers.

"Well, I'm a motion picture man. I recently finished a picture called 'Sleeping Beauty' which cost six million dollars, and it's a lovely thing to see — the color, the painstaking detail. But you'd never be able to see that kind of detail on a television screen.

"It's something that has to be seen on a motion picture screen for full appreciation.

"Besides, who is going to make it worth my while financially to produce a six-million-dollar picture for pay TV?"

DISNEY, a tactful man, does not give voice to his behind-camera experiences in a medium motivated by ratings ("Their bible is the Nielsen"), but it is surmised that he occasionally reaches the point of painful resignation.

Since he is a major figure in the motion picture industry and owner of the flourishing Disneyland Park in Burbank, Calif., one had to wonder why he bothered.

"For several reasons," he said in explanation. "Television enables me to keep a staff on a regular basis. There are 1,200 people working here for me and, mind you, this is a slack period.

"Television also permits us to experiment with ideas, whereas with movies, because of the cost factor, you're forced to deal with the sure thing. And, of course, the big advantage of TV representation for me is that it lets the public know about my movies. Everything dovetails, if you know what I mean."

"Oh, we're expensive," he remarked. "All my life I've been spending more money than I've received in immediate profits — for ever a source of worry to my brother, Roy, and my banker.

"With time, though, they seem less upset. Time has been our saviour."

THE "ADULT" Western apparently has run its course. Latest oater on the market deals with the adventures of a teen-ager in the Old West, called "The Rebel." . . .

A sponsor renewal will keep Dinah Shore on TV through the next 52 weeks. . .

In answer to letters asking the whereabouts of Dr. Frank Baxter, he is confined to an alternate-week half-hour show on a local Los Angeles station (KRCA). That's network television's loss. Surely if NBC can produce, with excellent results, an early - morning course in physics, there is room on the channels for a continuation of Dr. Baxter's illuminating courses on Shakespeare.

LUCILLE BALL, preparing to visit New York for an Arthur Godfrey chat next Tuesday, rues the fact that "so many of our great comedians are going dramatic" these days.

"We'll have to develop," she says, "a whole new field of comics. Even the younger ones like Red Buttons, Jack Lemmon and Mort Sahl are going dramatic."

And yet, what is Lucy's current ambition?

"I would love," she says, "to do a dramatic show with Jackie Gleason. We're trying to get him for one which we would do in our Desilu Playhouse series."

Hope Told Eye Will Clear Up Without Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope, told his eye trouble would clear up without surgery, was expected to leave for the West Coast today to prepare for a Sunday television show.

In a bulletin Wednesday night from Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center Dr. Algernon B. Reese said: "There is no indication whatever that an operation will be required. Further diagnostic studies are being made in an effort to determine the exact cause."

The hospital said five fans—not identified—have offered to donate an eye to Hope. A hospital spokesman said. "Such a contingency is not being considered."

6 Bills Offered By Legislators From District

The men who represent Columbiana County in the General Assembly dropped six bills into the hopper at Columbus Wednesday, including measures to boost gasoline taxes and auto registration and driver's license fees.

Sen. Arthur Blake, Belmont County Democrat, introduced bills to:

Provide a 3-cent tax on motor vehicle fuel to apply to highway construction and repair at the state, county and municipal level.

Increase the auto registration fee from $10 to $15 a year, along with a 20 per cent hike in licenses for trucks and truck trailers.

Cut the term of a driver's license from three years to one and increase the fee from 75 cents to $2.

Two bills were introduced on behalf of Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Columbiana County, who is in Salem City Hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The first would authorize the State Bridge Commission to take over from the Highway Department the East Liverpool - Chester Bridge and charge tolls to maintain it and relocate or improve approaches.

The measure was introduced in case the city and the state decide to go ahead with a plan for temporary restoration of tolls to help build freeway approaches to the bridge. The bill was filed on behalf of Wetzel by Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carroll County.

Another Wetzel bill was introduced to authorize courts to add $25 to the costs in divorce cases for investigations in suits involving children under 14.

Today is the deadline for introduction of measures the assembly will consider in the current biennium.

NEW YORK (AP) — Perry Como has signed a 25-million-dollar television contract with Kraft Foods, said to be the largest individual deal in TV history, his agent said today.

The announcement came in a telegram from Harry Sobol, personal press representative of Como.

Como's premiere for Kraft will be Sept. 30, 1959. The tentative title of the show is "Kraft Music Hall Presents Perry Como."

Ohio Bell-Union Contract Parley Makes 'Progress'

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Substantial progress" was reported to have been made during a marathon bargaining session between the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America. Negotiators recessed early today after talking for 19½ hours.

Another meeting was called for Saturday morning in an attempt to agree on terms of a new contract.

Talk of a possible strike was raised Wednesday night for the first time since the union and company sat down two weeks for contract negotiations.

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio director of the CWA, said locals throughout the state had been advised to proceed with strike votes.

The CWA represents 17,000 Ohio Bell employes. Its old contract has been extended indefinitely from its scheduled expiration date of last Saturday midnight, but the extention is subject to cancellation by either party.

The company and union have reached agreement on pension improvements. The union's demands in the current talks have not been announced.

Beavers Do Good Turn For Water Supply Unit

WANAQUE, N. J. — Beavers whose dam building sometimes is a nuisance, have done a good turn for the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission.

A band of them walled off a three-acre marsh, thus reducing the chances silt might wash into Wanaque reservoir during periods of high run-off. The commission voted not to chase them away.

Mechanization And Shrinking Markets Idling Coal Miners

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Mechanization and shrinking markets are throwing more and more West Virginia coal miners out of work, but the unemployed are staying put and living off surplus commodities.

That's what a Senate subcommittee was told Wednesday in Charleston as it opened the first of three hearings in the nation's biggest coal producing state to gather data for bills to provide federal aid to depressed areas.

The subcommittee on production and stabilization is expected to hear similar information here today.

Mechanization and shrinking coal markets slashed the ranks of West Virginia miners from 125,700 in 1948 to 66,800 in 1957, Lewis said.

He predicted that increasing mechanization could eliminate even more mining jobs.

Thomas Egbert, department of public assistance director, said welfare cases receiving surplus commodities last year jumped about 100,000 to bring the number close to 300,000. He estimated 117,000 persons get monthly DPA checks.

Henry L. Ash, employment security director, said 50,000 new jobs are needed to restore the state to normal economic health.

About 15 per cent of West Virginia's 500,000 work force are jobless, compared with the national average of less than 7 per cent.

Inspection Held For Members Of Patrol Auxiliary

Some 40 Columbiana County State Highway Patrol Auxiliary members received annual inspection at a meeting Wednesday night at the Columbiana American Legion home.

Maj. H. J. St.John of Ashtabula and Lt. H. T. Cowell of Warren were in charge of the inspection of uniforms and equipment.

Plans were made for the annual awards dinner March 21 at North Georgetown. Lunch was served. James Martin of Wellsville is unit commander.

Also attending were Cpl. John Miller and Patrolmen Norman Kanagy and W. R. Jones of the Lisbon post. The next meeting will be April 8 at American Legion Post 4 in East Liverpool with Sgt. C. S. Shaw of Warren instructing on the new Civil Defense survival program.

Kaycees Will Obtain Estimates On Addition

Midland Council 2005 of the Knights of Columbus Wednesday night authorized Angelo Cellini, building committee co-chairman, to obtain estimates for an addition to be erected at the rear of the K. of C. hall. It will be a first-floor project 24-x-60 feet.

Estimates will be presented at the meeting April 1. Cellini is also architect for the project. Mike Hornick is the co-chairman in charge of finances. The building is sponsored by the Midland Columbian Home Association.

Members will attend a corporate Communion on Palm Sunday, March 22, at the Presentation Catholic Church. Gene Rutherford is in charge.

Plans were discussed for a July 4th celebration project.

Firm Incorporates

COLUMBIANA — The David L. Holloway Co., Inc., has been listed as a new incorporation filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. David Holloway, Betty Holloway and Lee Holloway are the incorporators.

New Mark Twain Material Among Library's Additions

Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Public Library, said Charles Neider brings the spotlight to focus on one of America's most beloved 19th Century heroes in a new book now available.

He has uncovered nearly 40,000 words of text to produce a new and enlarged edition of "The Autobiography of Mark Twain."

Another reminiscence from the Midwest is William E. Wilson's "On the Sunny Side of One-Way Street." The author, who has been a newsman and is now professor of English at Indiana University, writes of his happy boyhood in Evansville.

The new book shelf also includes this week three widely varied discussions of American history:

Robert D. Bass "Swamp Fox," life and campaigns of Gen. Francis Marion; "The Great Chicago Fire," a recreation by Robert Cromie of the great disaster of 1871, which spread for 2 days and left 100,000 homeless, and Arthur M. Schlesinger's "The Coming of the New Deal."

This famous historian includes data on recovery efforts in industry, agriculture and finance and many comic incidents which centered around picturesque figures such as Gen. Hugh Johnson and Harold Ickes.

There also is an abundance of good biographies of famous Englishmen in this season's crop of publications:

"The Pulse of Radar," autobiography of Sir Robert Watson-Watt; "Evelyn Waugh, "Portrait of an Artist," and Geoffrey Household's "Against the Time." Hesketh Pearson, who has related the lives of many Englishmen, has written a dual biography, "Johnson and Boswell."

A well known writer of period novels has penned a new one on the Regency period in England—the author, Georgette Heyer, the title, "Venetia." Turbulent and exciting Tsarist Russia is the background for Daria Olivier's "Snows of December." The author of the latter volume was born in Pre-Soviet Russia but now resides in Paris where she is well known for translating both Balzac and Francoise Sagan into English.

An English woman who was the victim of an accident in France and was nursed back to health is the heroine of I. A. R. Wylie's "Claire Serrat." A vigorous, sophisticated and amusing story of life in the foreign colony in Singapore is the subject of a first novel by John Gilbert, "Face In the Clouds." A young doctor who has turned to writing novels has a new one on the perils and fascinations of big business abroad, "Means to an End," by John Rowan Wilson.

All five of Bennett Cerf's books of jokes and anecdotes have been combined into one volume for handy reference and fittingly called, "The Bumber Crop."

U.S. Puts Okay On 2 Highways In Southwest Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal government, which will pay half the bill, has approved construction of two four-lane highways in Southwest Ohio. The projects, designed to improve traffic flow, are tentatively scheduled to be part of the two-year highway program that starts in July.

One is a section of divided highway about two miles long which would give Middletown residents easy access to the Cincinnati-Dayton expressway. The controlled access highway would begin at the expressway and extend to a point about a mile west of the Butler-Warren county line as a partial relocation of Ohio 122.

The other is about 3,700 feet of four-lane highway which begins where Ohio 70 and 202 come together east of Troy and goes to a point about a mile southeast of Ohio 55 in Miami County. The section replaces part of Ohio 70 to facilitate traffic flow in the Miami River area.

Fire Hydrant Project Launched At Midland

A fire hydrant was installed Wednesday in Midland at 3rd St. and Woodlane Ave. and three more will be placed in a few days, R. E. Steebner, resident Municipal Authority engineer, said.

Others for the project will be installed at 6th St. and Penn Ave., at Beaver Ave. and 6th St. — which is a replacement with a larger hydrant — and at 4th St. and Woodlane Ave.

The installation of the new 8-inch water mains is almost completed, except for about 130 feet on Midland Ave. at the intersections of 3rd and 6th Sts.

Ohio Seaman Killed As 2 U.S. Ships Crash

GIBRALTAR (AP) — One man was killed and four were injured in a collision Wednesday in the Strait of Gibraltar between two U. S. naval vessels bound for Norfolk, Va.

The ships were the destroyer Kenneth D. Bailey and the supply vessel Haiti Victory. All the casualties were aboard the Bailey.

In Washington, the Navy said the man killed was Seaman William Hartley Kelley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, Steubenville, O. Names of the injured men were withheld pending notification of their next of kin.

Both vessels made Gibraltar under their own steam.

Council To Meet

Salineville—Routine business is expected at a meeting of Council Monday night at 7:30 at the village Hall, Mayor Karl Lindner said.

Delay Expected In House Group On Labor Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications developed today that the House Labor Committee will not act on labor legislation for several weeks.

Senate Democratic leaders still are trying to bring a labor measure to a Senate vote before Congress starts its Easter recess March 26, but the Senate Labor Committee ran into a demand Wednesday for more hearings.

In the House, Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky) said he expects two subcommittees sitting together will need three or four weeks to hear all their witnesses.

Then the subcommittees start discussing provisions of a bill — presumably drawn from three major measures before them—for presentation to the full committee.

Hearings were recessed until next Tuesday when AFL-CIO President George Meany is to open the presentation of the unions' views.

Mechanization And Shrinking Markets Idling Coal Miners

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Mechanization and shrinking markets are throwing more and more West Virginia coal miners out of work, but the unemployed are staying put and living off surplus commodities.

That's what a Senate subcommittee was told Wednesday in Charleston as it opened the first of three hearings in the nation's biggest coal producing state to gather data for bills to provide federal aid to depressed areas.

The subcommittee on production and stabilization is expected to hear similar information here today.

Mechanization and shrinking coal markets slashed the ranks of West Virginia miners from 125,700 in 1948 to 66,800 in 1957, Lewis said.

He predicted that increasing mechanization could eliminate even more mining jobs.

Thomas Egbert, department of public assistance director, said welfare cases receiving surplus commodities last year jumped about 100,000 to bring the number close to 300,000. He estimated 117,000 persons get monthly DPA checks.

Henry L. Ash, employment security director, said 50,000 new jobs are needed to restore the state to normal economic health.

About 15 per cent of West Virginia's 500,000 work force are jobless, compared with the national average of less than 7 per cent.

Man Nabbed In Mishap For Drunk Driving

A 28-year-old East End man was arrested early today on a drunken driving charge after his auto sheared off a city street sign standard at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., police said.

Robert F. Buchheit, 961 Ohio Ave., drew the standard penalty when he pleaded guilty to the charge this morning in Municipal Court—a fine of $300 and costs, a 10-day jail term and a six-month suspension of his driver's license.

Police said Buchheit left the scene of the crash, but was apprehended on Mulberry St. by Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes. The right side of his 1957 two-door sedan was damaged, officers said. Torn out of the ground, the standard supporting the sign was twisted in half, officers said. The crash was timed at 12:25 a. m.

Another mishap was reported Wednesday at 1:55 p. m. at W. 6th St. and Dresden Ave. It involved a 1956 sedan operated by Ronald G. Sanford, 27, of 1733 Lincoln Ave., Wellsville, and a 1950 model truck owned by the Worcester Film Corp. of Worcester, Mass., and driven by John J. Villa, 48, of Shrewsbury, Mass.

Columbus Man Killed In Hit-Skip Accident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John B. Wunderlin, 75, Columbus, was injured fatally in a hit-skip accident at an intersection here Wednesday night, police reported.

A half hour later officers arrested Robert W. Stanley, 32, Columbus, and held him for investigation of second-degree manslaughter. Police said a witness at the accident later saw Stanley's damaged car in front of a relative's home.

EAST PALESTINE — Baird Stewart of N. Martin St. Ext., was elected president of a newly organized Stamp Club at a meeting Wednesday night. Postmaster Harry Andrus was guest speaker. Anyone older than 16 is eligible to join, Stewart said.

600 Take X-Ray Exam In Clinic At Hopewell

More than 600 persons were X-rayed at a chest clinic held Tuesday in Hopewell Township High School, the Beaver County Tuberculosis Association announced.

A public X-ray clinic will be held Friday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the Beaver Falls High School and another March 18 in the Third Ward School in Monaca.

The regular monthly clinic will be held in the Rochester Hospital basement March 26. There is no charge for adults for a chest X-ray at any of the clinics, the association said.

Sneak Thief Gets $90 At Physician's Office

A sneak thief took about $90 in currency sometime Wednesday from a desk in the office of Dr. William J. Horger, 1100 Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

The theft occurred between 9:15 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., police said. During that time, the nurse in the physician's office, Mrs. Lola C. Smith, 2141 Harvey Ave., had to leave the desk frequently to administer to patients in another room, which would have allowed time for the thief to remove the money, officers said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: My wife and I have been happily married for 12 years. We have four fine children, own our own home and everything in it. The trouble is my wife is too big-hearted. She is always giving things away.

Around Christmas she heard of a family with seven kids who didn't have any heat in the house because the furnace had fallen apart. She took the money she'd been saving all year for an automatic washing machine and bought these total strangers an oil burner.

She bought shoes for two kids who live near our place of business — just picked them off the street, you might say, and bought them each a pair of oxfords, along with our own kids. I told her this was nutty but she just laughed and said it was "more fun than a picnic."

We are not rich people, Ann. Do you think perhaps her generosity is caused by a hunger to be loved? Maybe she's a little "sick, sick, sick" (as you say). — DICK.

Dear Dick: Now don't go dragging Freud into it and spoil everything. We ALL want to be loved. The human is a complicated animal motivated by countless drives.

Quit trying to psychoanalyze your wife. She sounds like a wonderful woman who knows how to get fun out of life. And she's the one who will have to use the old washing machine, so what are you complaining about?

Innocent Babes

Dear Ann: We are three 15-year-old girls writing about six people who need educating — our parents.

They want to keep us babies all our lives. We three live in the same block and we like to walk uptown after dinner to see what's cookin'. Usually we are home by 9:30 p.m. Sometimes we stop in the drug store but mostly we just look in store windows and talk to the kids we bump into. We've met some swell guys and gals this way.

Just because one of the fellows got into a little misunderstanding with the police, our folks say we can't take evening walks any more. Please remember we are nice girls and have never been in any trouble. We think our parents are unfair and we are depending on you to set them straight. — COOPED-UP TRIO.

Dear Cooped: Glad to hear you're "nice girls" and that you've never been in any trouble. I suggest you listen to your parents and knock off the evening strolls while you can still make these statements.

Fifteen - year - old girls belong at home after dinner. The social contacts you'll make "looking in store windows" and hanging around drug stores can't be much good. If you three value your reputations, stay off the streets and don't cultivate sidewalk friendships.

Marriage-Go-Round

Dear Ann: What do you do when you're in love with a man you can't possibly have? I'm 23, not bad to look at and can get plenty of dates. Fellows my own age bore me silly.

It's always my rotten luck to fall for a man who is married. Right now I'm head over heels in love with my boss, and I don't stand a chance. He's married and has made it perfectly plain he intends to stay that way.

I've been in this same spot at least five times since I got out of high school. Why is it I keep running into these blank walls and blind alleys? Do I need a wig-picker or just a swift kick in the bustle? Please help me.—MARDI.

Dear Mardi: People who repeatedly get themselves into situations they know will be painful and punishing may need a wig-picker.

If, however, married men attract you because they offer more of a challenge — and are safe bets not to press matrimony — I advise you to grow up. The toy which is just out of reach is always the one the baby finds most attractive. After he gets it, it means nothing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Plans for a practice drill Sunday afternoon at 2 were outlined at a meeting of the Liverpool Township, East, volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

The drill will be held in the vicinity of Valley Ave. in East End. Harry C. Smith, assistant chief and a forest fire warden, announced all residents of the township must obtain permits before burning grass or brush. They can be obtained from any of the local wardens, he said.

Those in Liverpool Township include Smith of Dixonville, Wilbur Taylor of Price St. and Homer Cronin and John Gilson, both of LaCroft.

Who Is Spoiling The Kids?

It Could Be The Parents

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Socrates, reputed the wisest man of antiquity, was given a hemlock cup for corrupting the youth of Athens.

Yet all he did was ask them questions designed to help them think for themselves.

In every period of history someone is accused of leading the young folks astray by giving them false ideas. Who today should be handed the lethal cup of hemlock?

Who is spoiling the present younger generation? That is, if we go along with the always popular generalization that the current crop of youngsters is the brattiest, the most irresponsible bunch of smart alecs ever to sorrow and sully a hopeful time.

If anything is spoiling the younger generation today it is the generation that preceded it—our own. If anything is setting them a bad example, it is us. If they are lax, it is because we have been lax with them.

The biggest culprits are probably middle-class parents, by far the largest class in America. The poor don't have the money to spoil their young; the rich, by and large, can afford to—but usually don't. Children born to wealth generally learn its value young.

It's the self-made man who started from nothing and struggled his way up to a $10,000-to-$15,000 a year salary who sometimes seems most adept at spoiling his own children.

Recently we dined at the home of such a man. During the meal he reminisced about how much tougher life was when he was a boy.

"Yeah, popsy," jeered his 18-year-old son. "Tell us again how you used to have to swim three miles each way to school every day."

Later, when we were alone, the father remarked rather wryly on his son's lack of appreciation.

"I had to quit college after two years to help out my family," he said. "But my son has never had to work a day in his life. I give him a good allowance, he has his own car. I couldn't afford to join a fraternity. He belongs to the best one on his campus.

"But with all his advantages, he isn't paying any attention to his studies. I'm afraid he's going to flunk out. And that'll break his mother's heart."

Asked why he didn't make his son earn at least part of his way, he said: "Well, I want life for him to be easier than it was for me. I think I missed a lot by having to work too hard when young."

'Special Groups' Appeal

Local Red Cross Campaign Goes Into Its Third Phase

Another phase of the Red Cross campaign for $15,902 was announced today by Richard Emmerling, fund chairman, as another 56 volunteer workers prepared for solicitation of manufacturers, in-plant personnel, professional groups, organizations and institutional employes.

Eight volunteer units, working as a "Special Groups" division, will contact, either by letter or personal calls, a cassified list of prospective donors.

Nearly 200 letters already have been mailed to local service clubs, women's groups, PTA units, church societies, veteran's and other similar organizations. In many instances, additional appeals are being made through talks by campaign leaders, the showing of special Red Cross films and follow-up calls by volunteer workers.

An advance letter, explaining the need for increased contributions this year, also has been mailed to prospective donors by the Professional Division, headed by Mrs. Norman Birnbaum. Eighteen workers in the six units of this division will follow-up the mailing with a personal call.

Mrs. J. Fraser Jackson captains the unit contacting physicians assisting her will be Mrs. H. F. Banfield, Mrs. J. W. Schoolnic, Mrs. Charles A. Gerace and Mrs. M. M. Gottlieb. Osteopaths will be solicited by Mrs John W. Hayes. Heading the unit to solicit dentists is Mrs. R. Jay Kinsey. She will be aided by Mrs. C. Marvin Kinsey. Mrs. Arthur A. Turner and Mrs. William Sulkes. Mrs. Ben Burman is captain of the unit contacting attorneys. Her aids are Mrs. Louis Tobin, Mrs. J. B. McDonald, Mrs. Francis H. Lang and Mrs. G. William Brokaw. Miss Lena Palmisano will seek gifts from City Hospital and Osteopathic Hospital personnel. The ministers will be contacted by the Rev. Russell C. Owens.

All other units in this "Special Groups" division will employ personal solicitation as their fund-raising method, with no advance letters being sent to prospective donors.

This "Special Groups" solicitation marks the third step in the drive, which opened last Saturday.

The first division to begin its work was the Advance Gifts group headed by Mrs. J. Donald Thompson and comprised of 18 workers contacting some 175 larger donors.

The Business Division, of which Charles Shriver is chairman, began its canvass of the city's 400 business establishments Monday.

The saying "You may fire when you are ready, Gridley" came from the Spanish-American War.

Toledoan Gets Hearing On Tax Evasion Count

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Lima man who works days as a hospital porter and nights as a night club entertainer appeared before U.S. Commissioner John J. Barone Wednesday on an income tax charge.

Shellie L. Spencer, 37, of 1228 W. Spring St., is accused of failing to file tax returns for 1954 and 1955 when his income was $8,579. An Internal Revenue Service agent said Spencer had not filed returns from 1942 to 1956, although the case against him is based on only 1954 and 1955.

Barone set bond at $2,000, pending a further hearing.

Spencer is employed as a porter at St. Rita's Hospital in Lima and as a master of ceremonies at Olivers' Night Club.

To Study Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert W. Levering (D-Ohio) says he has received assurances from the White House that it will look into the need for new flood control measures in Ohio. Another Ohio Democrat, Rep. T. Ludlow Ashley, told the House Wednesday he thinks Ohio has been badly shortchanged on flood control activities. He said only 12 flood control projects have been completed, while two others are under construction, from among 76 such Ohio projects given congressional approval in the last 22 years.

Who Is Spoiling The Kids?

It Could Be The Parents

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Socrates, reputed the wisest man of antiquity, was given a hemlock cup for corrupting the youth of Athens.

Yet all he did was ask them questions designed to help them think for themselves.

In every period of history someone is accused of leading the young folks astray by giving them false ideas. Who today should be handed the lethal cup of hemlock?

Who is spoiling the present younger generation? That is, if we go along with the always popular generalization that the current crop of youngsters is the brattiest, the most irresponsible bunch of smart alecs ever to sorrow and sully a hopeful time.

If anything is spoiling the younger generation today it is the generation that preceded it—our own. If anything is setting them a bad example, it is us. If they are lax, it is because we have been lax with them.

The biggest culprits are probably middle-class parents, by far the largest class in America. The poor don't have the money to spoil their young; the rich, by and large, can afford to—but usually don't. Children born to wealth generally learn its value young.

It's the self-made man who started from nothing and struggled his way up to a $10,000-to-$15,000 a year salary who sometimes seems most adept at spoiling his own children.

Recently we dined at the home of such a man. During the meal he reminisced about how much tougher life was when he was a boy.

"Yeah, popsy," jeered his 18-year-old son. "Tell us again how you used to have to swim three miles each way to school every day."

Later, when we were alone, the father remarked rather wryly on his son's lack of appreciation.

"I had to quit college after two years to help out my family," he said. "But my son has never had to work a day in his life. I give him a good allowance, he has his own car. I couldn't afford to join a fraternity. He belongs to the best one on his campus.

"But with all his advantages, he isn't paying any attention to his studies. I'm afraid he's going to flunk out. And that'll break his mother's heart."

Asked why he didn't make his son earn at least part of his way, he said: "Well, I want life for him to be easier than it was for me. I think I missed a lot by having to work too hard when young."

Relative To DiSalle Recommendation

Care Urged On Reclamation Shift

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Whatever the Legislature decides to do with Gov. DiSalle's recommendation to shift the Reclamation Division from Agriculture to Natural Resources, at least three voices are urging an unhurried approach to any problems relating to surface mining operations.

"Let's not be hasty about this."

They got together about a week ago to discuss, among other things, DiSalle's proposal to change the Reclamation Division from the Agriculture Department to the Natural Resources Department.

Then they told the governor at last Friday's Cabinet meeting that:

2. The reclamation problem is pretty complicated to try and cope with on such short notice.

3. It would be better to spend some time studying the matter, then perhaps recommend steps to the next Legislature—if the need is indicated. (DiSalle recommended the shift Tuesday night, anyway.)

Here are some of the aspects of reclamation the three say they'll look into:

The pattern of ownership — Do the companies that worked the land own it, or did they pay fees to private landowners to use it? If it's private land, can the state legally institute erosion - control and appearance - restoring programs?

Location of coal reserves—There are indications that coal can be found in good quantity in some areas strip-mined earlier with less efficient equipment than exists today. There wouldn't be much sense in working to restore the appearance and usefulness of the land if it's apt to be mined again.

Location of deposits of other minerals which may be developed by surface mining methods — again, the matter of restoring land only to possibly have it reworked.

Relationship to water resources development, flood control and recreation—And with this comes consideration of bringing the worked-over land into harmony with the area around it, maintaining a natural balance.

Availability of manpower from the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction for employment on reclamation projects—As the result of laws which went into effect 1948 and 1949, companies which strip-mine for coal in Ohio must restore the land when they are through or forfeit bond, money from which is then used to hire private help to restore the mined area. What's considered here is the use of honor camp inmates to restore areas mined in the "pre-law" 1914-1948 period when no such protection was incorporated in the law.

Reclamation of areas disturbed by development of ceramic clays, sand, gravel and limestone—These surface operations are not required by law to restore the land after it has been worked.

Anti-American Outbursts

Bolivians Cite Paragraph In Time Reason For Riots

By THOMAS J. STONE

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP) — How could a magazine article touch off violent anti-American demonstrations in Bolivia, traditionally friendly to the United States?

Bolivians violently objected to one paragraph of a two-column article in the Latin-American edition of Time magazine on the country's acutely serious economic situation.

The paragraph, not carried in the U.S. edition of the magazine, quoted a U.S. Embassy official as saying that "the only solution to Bolivia's problems is to abolish Bolivia. Let her neighbors divide up the country and the problems."

The article made it clear the official was wisecracking.

But it was not funny in a country which over the centuries has lost territory to its five neighbors —Chile, Peru, Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina.

Bolivia, with a population of four million, is beset by one of the worst cases of inflation in South America and is up to its ears in critical economic troubles. As Time pointed out, U.S. aid has saved Bolivia from economic catastrophe.

But when Bolivians read Spanish translations in La Paz newspapers of the Time article, the reaction was explosive.

Two thousand marched on the U.S. Embassy Monday and hurled stones through the windows, set fire to U.S. automobiles and shouted anti-American slogans. The U.S. Information Service library was invaded, windows were broken, and books and magazines were destroyed.

In another riot the next day dentist Juan Maldonado Barrios, 32 was hit by a stray bullet. Almost 40 policemen were hurt. All government and business offices closed and thousands marched through the streets to protest the article.

No Americans were injured.

The U.S. Embassy denied that any of its officials had made the remark that offended.

One embassy official told a reporter, "I am positive no one would have said a thing like that for quotation even if joking." Time's editor in chief, Henry R. Luce, expressed regret at the results but didn't mention the quotation.

Columbus Cites Pennsy In Service Complaint

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City officials say Columbus is without adequate service and have filed a formal complaint with the Utilities Commission against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Ferd Pickens, city utilities director and City Atty. Russell Lzeach Wednesday asked the railroad to restore trains No. 40 and 41 which the railroad consolidated with other runs on Feb. 22 to cope with a "tremendous passenger deficit."

Injured Driver Cited In Highway Violation

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — P. W. Richeson, 35, Mount Gilead, was injured Wednesday when his automobile and a trailer truck collided on U.S. 42 five miles north of here.

Richeson was cited by the highway patrol on a charge of driving left of the center line, and is scheduled for a hearing in mayor's court here March 21.

Richeson is the son of Morrow County Judge Paul A. Richeson of Cardington. Earlier it had been reported erroneously that it was the judge who was injured and cited by the patrol.

Relative To DiSalle Recommendation

Care Urged On Reclamation Shift

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Whatever the Legislature decides to do with Gov. DiSalle's recommendation to shift the Reclamation Division from Agriculture to Natural Resources, at least three voices are urging an unhurried approach to any problems relating to surface mining operations.

"Let's not be hasty about this."

They got together about a week ago to discuss, among other things, DiSalle's proposal to change the Reclamation Division from the Agriculture Department to the Natural Resources Department.

Then they told the governor at last Friday's Cabinet meeting that:

1. Friday's deadline for introduction of routine legislation didn't give them much time.

2. The reclamation problem is pretty complicated to try and cope with on such short notice.

3. It would be better to spend some time studying the matter, then perhaps recommend steps to the next Legislature—if the need is indicated. (DiSalle recommended the shift Tuesday night, anyway.)

Here are some of the aspects of reclamation the three say they'll look into:

The pattern of ownership — Do the companies that worked the land own it, or did they pay fees to private landowners to use it? If it's private land, can the state legally institute erosion - control and appearance - restoring programs?

Location of coal reserves—There are indications that coal can be found in good quantity in some areas strip-mined earlier with less efficient equipment than exists today. There wouldn't be much sense in working to restore the appearance and usefulness of the land if it's apt to be mined again.

Location of deposits of other minerals which may be developed by surface mining methods — again, the matter of restoring land only to possibly have it reworked.

Relationship to water resources development, flood control and recreation—And with this comes consideration of bringing the worked-over land into harmony with the area around it, maintaining a natural balance.

Availability of manpower from the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction for employment on reclamation projects—As the result of laws which went into effect 1948 and 1949, companies which strip-mine for coal in Ohio must restore the land when they are through or forfeit bond, money from which is then used to hire private help to restore the mined area. What's considered here is the use of honor camp inmates to restore areas mined in the "pre-law" 1914-1948 period when no such protection was incorporated in the law.

Reclamation of areas disturbed by development of ceramic clays, sand, gravel and limestone—These surface operations are not required by law to restore the land after it has been worked.

Anti-American Outbursts

Bolivians Cite Paragraph In Time Reason For Riots

By THOMAS J. STONE

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP) — How could a magazine article touch off violent anti-American demonstrations in Bolivia, traditionally friendly to the United States?

Bolivians violently objected to one paragraph of a two-column article in the Latin-American edition of Time magazine on the country's acutely serious economic situation.

The paragraph, not carried in the U.S. edition of the magazine, quoted a U.S. Embassy official as saying that "the only solution to Bolivia's problems is to abolish Bolivia. Let her neighbors divide up the country and the problems."

The article made it clear the official was wisecracking.

But it was not funny in a country which over the centuries has lost territory to its five neighbors —Chile, Peru, Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina.

Bolivia, with a population of four million, is beset by one of the worst cases of inflation in South America and is up to its ears in critical economic troubles. As Time pointed out, U.S. aid has saved Bolivia from economic catastrophe.

But when Bolivians read Spanish translations in La Paz newspapers of the Time article, the reaction was explosive.

Two thousand marched on the U.S. Embassy Monday and hurled stones through the windows, set fire to U.S. automobiles and shouted anti-American slogans. The U.S. Information Service library was invaded, windows were broken, and books and magazines were destroyed.

Police, trying to control the mob, used tear gas and fired riot guns. In the melee student Isidro Condori Mendoza, 15, was killed.

In another riot the next day dentist Juan Maldonado Barrios, 32 was hit by a stray bullet. Almost 40 policemen were hurt. All government and business offices closed and thousands marched through the streets to protest the article.

No Americans were injured.

The U.S. Embassy denied that any of its officials had made the remark that offended.

One embassy official told a reporter, "I am positive no one would have said a thing like that for quotation even if joking." Time's editor in chief, Henry R. Luce, expressed regret at the results but didn't mention the quotation.

Columbus Cites Pennsy In Service Complaint

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City officials say Columbus is without adequate service and have filed a formal complaint with the Utilities Commission against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Ferd Pickens, city utilities director and City Atty. Russell Lzeach Wednesday asked the railroad to restore trains No. 40 and 41 which the railroad consolidated with other runs on Feb. 22 to cope with a "tremendous passenger deficit."

Injured Driver Cited In Highway Violation

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — P. W. Richeson, 35, Mount Gilead, was injured Wednesday when his automobile and a trailer truck collided on U.S. 42 five miles north of here.

Richeson was cited by the highway patrol on a charge of driving left of the center line, and is scheduled for a hearing in mayor's court here March 21.

Richeson is the son of Morrow County Judge Paul A. Richeson of Cardington. Earlier it had been reported erroneously that it was the judge who was injured and cited by the patrol.

Minister Believes Antarctica Group Of Isles, Not Continent

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, just back from 16 months at the South Pole, says he believes research will show that Antarctica is not a continent but a series of islands.

Father Birkenhauer, who operated a seismological station at Wilkes Station, qualified this to say these would be "hypothetical kinds of islands—they would only be islands if the ice melted."

For the last 10 years, he said, "we had suspected that this was not a continent. Now, the men of California Institute of Technology, who were at Wilkes Station, speak of the island theory, and my research, I am sure, will bear them out."

The Jesuit priest, dean of the Graduate School at John Carroll University here, made complex studies of surface waves to determine the earth's structure. Knowing the structure of the antarctic area would help scientists answer one question that has intrigued many: How high would the oceans rise if a temperature change should melt the polar ice?

Father Birkenhauer said there is solid ice down to the rock surface in Antarctica.

One hazard was the whiteout, a white fog that reduces visibility to zero.

"Once we were out in a weazel," he said, "and there was a whiteout. They told us when there was a whiteout to stop, don't go on. My guardian angel must have been watching. I suddenly got out and looked, and there a few feet in front was a 100-foot cliff waiting for us."

The priest said he is not eager to go back but added that polar living "has a tremendous fascination."

Ohioans Indifferent To Wife On Payroll Of Rep. Levering

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters back home—judging from his mail—seem to be indifferent to the presence of Mrs. Eileen Levering on the payroll of her husband, Rep. Robert Levering (D-Ohio).

"I would say we haven't had more than 12 letters, and those weren't all from our district," Mrs. Levering, his $12,500-a-year secretary, said today.

"Some of them are critical. Some just want an explanation."

Where requested, Levering has carefully replied about the work his wife does. He says his wife, a lawyer, does far more than he would ask of anyone outside of his family.

One Democrat in Newark, Ohio, did take exception to a statement by Levering noting that his GOP predecessor, J. Harry McGregor, also had his wife on the payroll.

"Because it was traditional with the Republican in this district to hire his wife as his top aide is no reason," she wrote. "We Democrats would have liked to see you do differently."

On the other hand, a man in Coshocton wrote: "Don't give it a thought. Your wife is intelligent and beautiful."

A sampling of Levering's district mail on the subject shows he has received only two or three letters from Mount Vernon, one from Coshocton, none from Mansfield, one from Newark and a few more from smaller towns.

First Fatality Of '59

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Ashland County recorded its first traffic fatality of the year Wednesday with the death of Walter Worst, 65, of West Salem, in a truck-auo crash on U. S. 42 just outisde Ashland. The Ohio Highway Patrol said Worst's car crossed the center line into the path of a pickup truck.

Steel Local, 2 Officers Fined For Contempt

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Local 5760, United Steel Workers Union, and its two top officers have been fined $500 each by Monroe County Common Pleas Judge Merle Hoddinott for contempt of court.

Sheriff Homer Antill, armed with a writ from Hoddinott to allow aluminum sheeting to be picked up at the plant, said he was thwarted by more than 100 strikers when he tried to lead a fleet of turcks onto company grounds.

The USW local struck the plant Feb. 2, but after a contract agreement, the 450 production workers returned to their jobs Feb. 25.

Found guilty were James Neuhart and James Bowen, the local's president and vice president, respectively, and the local itself. Both are from Woodsfield.

Claimed At 79

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Cecil Cashen 79, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America from 1921 to 1947, died Wednesday after a brief illness. He was a former member of the War Assets Administration.

Father Birkenhauer said there is solid ice down to the rock surface in Antarctica.

One hazard was the whiteout, a white fog that reduces visibility to zero.

"Once we were out in a weazel," he said, "and there was a whiteout. They told us when there was a whiteout to stop, don't go on. My guardian angel must have been watching. I suddenly got out and looked, and there a few feet in front was a 100-foot cliff waiting for us."

The priest said he is not eager to go back but added that polar living "has a tremendous fascination."

Ohioans Indifferent To Wife On Payroll Of Rep. Levering

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters back home—judging from his mail—seem to be indifferent to the presence of Mrs. Eileen Levering on the payroll of her husband, Rep. Robert Levering (D-Ohio).

"I would say we haven't had more than 12 letters, and those weren't all from our district," Mrs. Levering, his $12,500-a-year secretary, said today.

"Some of them are critical. Some just want an explanation."

Where requested, Levering has carefully replied about the work his wife does. He says his wife, a lawyer, does far more than he would ask of anyone outside of his family.

One Democrat in Newark, Ohio, did take exception to a statement by Levering noting that his GOP predecessor, J. Harry McGregor, also had his wife on the payroll.

"Because it was traditional with the Republican in this district to hire his wife as his top aide is no reason," she wrote. "We Democrats would have liked to see you do differently."

On the other hand, a man in Coshocton wrote: "Don't give it a thought. Your wife is intelligent and beautiful."

A sampling of Levering's district mail on the subject shows he has received only two or three letters from Mount Vernon, one from Coshocton, none from Mansfield, one from Newark and a few more from smaller towns.

First Fatality Of '59

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Ashland County recorded its first traffic fatality of the year Wednesday with the death of Walter Worst, 65, of West Salem, in a truck-auo crash on U. S. 42 just outside Ashland. The Ohio Highway Patrol said Worst's car crossed the center line into the path of a pickup truck.

Steel Local, 2 Officers Fined For Contempt

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Local 5760, United Steel Workers Union, and its two top officers have been fined $500 each by Monroe County Common Pleas Judge Merle Hoddinott for contempt of court.

Sheriff Homer Antill, armed with a writ from Hoddinott to allow aluminum sheeting to be picked up at the plant, said he was thwarted by more than 100 strikers when he tried to lead a fleet of turcks onto company grounds.

The USW local struck the plant Feb. 2, but after a contract agreement, the 450 production workers returned to their jobs Feb. 25.

Found guilty were James Neuhart and James Bowen, the local's president and vice president, respectively, and the local itself. Both are from Woodsfield.

Financing National Debt

Officials Suggest Cures For Borrowing Problems

(High officials in Washington are discussing possible remedies for the borrowing problems which beset the Treasury. Suggested cures are discussed in this, the last of four articles on financing the national debt.)

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—How can Uncle Sam finance the record national debt without inviting a fiscal crisis or fostering the inflation he hopes to avoid?

President Eisenhower and his top advisers on money matters argue that a balanced budget offers a basic solution. They say a budget in the red threatens financial stability on two counts:

1. Directly, by forcing the Treasury to borrow more cash. This promotes inflation of the money supply because the government must rely heavily on bank credit when it borrows.

2. Psychologically, by increasing inflation fears.

Officials say that if the budget isn't balanced in the coming fiscal year, in a time of relative prosperity, people will doubt that red ink spending can ever be controlled.

People who expect continued budget deficits are less apt to save and lend, lest the value of their savings be whittled by inflation.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson recently told Congress: "If we ever reach the point where people believe that to speculate is safe but to save is to gamble, then we are indeed in trouble."

He was unquestionably thinking (1. of the present reluctance of many people to save through investment in government securities (treasury I.O.U.'s) and (2. of the rush of money into the stock market.

Anderson and other administration policymakers have made the balanced budget a major article of faith because they believe even a small deficit would do great harm.

Besides hoping to balance the budget, the administration sees another possible solution to the Treasury's debt management problems: more borrowing on an intermediate and long-term basis.

No one will guess when the government will be able to do this. Officials say they expect to have the chance later in the year.

Right now, because lenders are motivated by fear of rising interest rates and inflation, the Treasury has to do most of its borrowing for short terms.

Long-term loans generally are much less inflationary because a smaller proportion of long-term money is provided by the banks. Bank credit means inflation of the money supply.

Since last July, the Treasury has gotten only one loan which comes due in more than five years. It borrowed 885 million dollars in January on a 21-year bond priced to yield 4.07 per cent interest.

Interest on the debt now totals more than eight billion dollars a year and is second only to defense as the largest single category of federal spending.

The administration wants to avoid a donnybrook over the interest ceiling. However, if the Treasury has to continue relying on short term loans, and sees real trouble ahead, an increase may be requested.

Still another suggestion is to have the Federal Reserve System peg the price of government securities at pre-determined levels. When prices fell below these levels the reserve system would buy; if prices rose, it would sell.

While this would increase confidence in the stability of bond prices, it might also touch off an inflationary rise in bank credit if the Federal Reserve were forced to buy vast amounts of Treasury securities.

The Treasury is opposed to this plan.

Anderson and his aides hope, in fact, that they can avoid any drastic solution. They say they are optimistic the problem won't get acute enough to require this.

Bringing Up A Family

Prepare Child Early In Learning To Read

Suppose your child is 3, 4 or 5. You can do a good deal now about getting him ready to read when he enters the first grade. If possible, you should read to him for an hour or more daily. Read some nursery rhymes and good verse to him and encourage his interest in sounds of words and words that rhyme. Perhaps you could get him to name some words which rhyme with a word you name. Move a finger under the line of words from left to right, from time to time, as you read to him.

By Garry Meyers

Talk with him companionably. Listen attentively to what he has to say. Answer his questions kindly and explain things to him.

Place a few small objects in a row. Ask him to watch as you tap certain ones of them from left to right so he can do the same. Start by tapping only two, then more later, never making it too hard for him.

Ask him to carry out some directions like these and have him wait until you have completed each group of directions: Open the door and put this book on the table. Close the door, bring me the book and then open the book.

SET TWO different containers on the floor, Put a mixed pile of potatoes and apples near. Have him put the potatoes in one container and the apples in another. As he succeeds, you could increase the number of containers and the number of things to be sorted. This is excellent practice in observing, comparing and classifying. You can invent all sorts of games for him along these lines. Have him imitate you in making simple drawings of horizontal or vertical lines, a cross, a circle, a square, a rectangle, a triangle.

Call his attention to the names on packaged foods, signs at food stores or on the street. It would be fine, too, if he had practice at play in recognizing some or all the letters of the alphabet.

AS HE will be with other children at school when he learns to read, he needs to have practice at normal fun with other chlidren. It is good for him to hear you read a story, sometimes, when several other children are listening.

Keep In Trim

Weight Control Hinges On Prevention

Prevention is the best approach to easy weight control. If you are a "mere" 10 to 15 pounds above ideal weight, here's a thought that should jolt you into action. All those who are 40 or more pounds above their healthy normal weight were once just 10 pounds to 15 pounds past pleasing. The moral is: Do something about your weight before the creeping pounds get completely out of control.

Ida Jean Kain

An early dieter from Ohio writes: "I am so glad I started to diet before I had gained too much. I am 5 feet 9 tall and I look best at about 145 pounds. I was up to 160 pounds and all my clothes were getting uncomfortably tight—especially around the midsection.

—:—

"WITH THE HELP of your diet and exercise plan, I have already reduced 12 pounds, along with two inches from my waist and two from the hips, and I am a perfect size 16 again. I have only six pounds more to go. Thanks so much for your encouragement and help. I feel ever so much better."

There's a wise and far-sighted young woman. She resisted the temptation to shrug off the excess pounds as "a trifle, hardly enough to notice."

Many of you who are 10 or so pounds above ideal weight honestly feel that such a small abount is nothing to be concerned about. What can this dietitian say that will jolt you? Unless you make a change in your food habits now, you will keep gaining. Those 10 little pounds will grow—and slowly but surely you'll be forced to wear a larger size dress. It's later than you think!

Do yourself a real favor—take action while it's easy to deal with the pounds. To slim down ten pounds there is no need to go on a rigid diet. In fact, it's far better to change your eating pattern to conform to a lower calorie intake. It's changed food habits that help you to stay slim.

At breakfast, skip the sweet roll and have an egg and a thin slice or two of high protein bread. Protein in the morning meal steps up energy early in the day. At noon, eat a good lunch, but choose fruit for dessert.

At dinner, limit calories to 450. Choose only one starch: bread or potatoes. Skip the gravy. Have a second vegetable, without added fat, and a salad with only a small amount of dressing or a low calorie dressing. Have a generous serving of lean meat, poultry or fish.

FIVE NIGHTS a week, choose fruit for dessert. This menu pattern helps to re-educate your palate. Then keeping weight normal is no trouble at all.

Just a few minutes daily of precision stretch-bends will help you shape up as you slim off those 10 extra pounds.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet," and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Midland Firm's Scholarship Plan To Be Continued

J. Ralph Patterson, division manager of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Co. at Midland, said the E. W. Bliss Co., the parent firm, will continue its scholarship program for the fourth consecutive year.

Twenty-one students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last three years, are now being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under this program. They are located at 14 universities and include candidates for mechanical, electrical and metallurgical engineering degrees. Represented among the 21 are students sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions in Pittsburgh, Canton, Salem, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio and Hastings, Mich.

Administered through the company's personnel office on South Side Pittsburgh, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need, Patterson said.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school at a fairly recent date with good scholastic rating and take qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

Applications must be made on or before April 15 on forms obtainable from R. F. Crawford, personnel manager, at the company's personnel office in Midland. Interviews will follow, and the company's Scholarship Board will make the final selections.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering and he must maintain scholastic and personal standings satisfactory to the college of his choice.

Financing National Debt

Officials Suggest Cures For Borrowing Problems

(High officials in Washington are discussing possible remedies for the borrowing problems which beset the Treasury. Suggested cures are discussed in this, the last of four articles on financing the national debt.)

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—How can Uncle Sam finance the record national debt without inviting a fiscal crisis or fostering the inflation he hopes to avoid?

President Eisenhower and his top advisers on money matters argue that a balanced budget offers a basic solution. They say a budget in the red threatens financial stability on two counts:

1. Directly, by forcing the Treasury to borrow more cash. This promotes inflation of the money supply because the government must rely heavily on bank credit when it borrows.

2. Psychologically, by increasing inflation fears.

Officials say that if the budget isn't balanced in the coming fiscal year, in a time of relative prosperity, people will doubt that red ink spending can ever be controlled.

People who expect continued budget deficits are less apt to save and lend, lest the value of their savings be whittled by inflation.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson recently told Congress: "If we ever reach the point where people believe that to speculate is safe but to save is to gamble, then we are indeed in trouble."

He was unquestionably thinking (1. of the present reluctance of many people to save through investment in government securities (treasury I.O.U.'s) and (2. of the rush of money into the stock market.

Anderson and other administration policymakers have made the balanced budget a major article of faith because they believe even a small deficit would do great harm.

Besides hoping to balance the budget, the administration sees another possible solution to the Treasury's debt management problems: more borrowing on an intermediate and long-term basis.

No one will guess when the government will be able to do this. Officials say they expect to have the chance later in the year.

Right now, because lenders are motivated by fear of rising interest rates and inflation, the Treasury has to do most of its borrowing for short terms.

Long-term loans generally are much less inflationary because a smaller proportion of long-term money is provided by the banks. Bank credit means inflation of the money supply.

Since last July, the Treasury has gotten only one loan which comes due in more than five years. It borrowed 885 million dollars in January on a 21-year bond priced to yield 4.07 per cent interest.

Interest on the debt now totals more than eight billion dollars a year and is second only to defense as the largest single category of federal spending.

The administration wants to avoid a donnybrook over the interest ceiling. However, if the Treasury has to continue relying on short term loans, and sees real trouble ahead, an increase may be requested.

Still another suggestion is to have the Federal Reserve System peg the price of government securities at pre-determined levels. When prices fell below these levels the reserve system would buy; if prices rose, it would sell.

While this would increase confidence in the stability of bond prices, it might also touch off an inflationary rise in bank credit if the Federal Reserve were forced to buy vast amounts of Treasury securities.

The Treasury is opposed to this plan.

Anderson and his aides hope, in fact, that they can avoid any drastic solution. They say they are optimistic the problem won't get acute enough to require this.

Talk with him companionably. Listen attentively to what he has to say. Answer his questions kindly and explain things to him.

Place a few small objects in a row. Ask him to watch as you tap certain ones of them from left to right so he can do the same. Start by tapping only two, then more later, never making it too hard for him.

Ask him to carry out some directions like these and have him wait until you have completed each group of directions: Open the door and put this book on the table. Close the door, bring me the book and then open the book.

SET TWO different containers on the floor, Put a mixed pile of potatoes and apples near. Have him put the potatoes in one container and the apples in another. As he succeeds, you could increase the number of containers and the number of things to be sorted. This is excellent practice in observing, comparing and classifying. You can invent all sorts of games for him along these lines.

Have him imitate you in making simple drawings of horizontal or vertical lines, a cross, a circle, a square, a rectangle, a triangle.

Call his attention to the names on packaged foods, signs at food stores or on the street. It would be fine, too, if he had practice at play in recognizing some or all the letters of the alphabet.

AS HE will be with other children at school when he learns to read, he needs to have practice at normal fun with other chlidren. It is good for him to hear you read a story, sometimes, when several other children are listening.

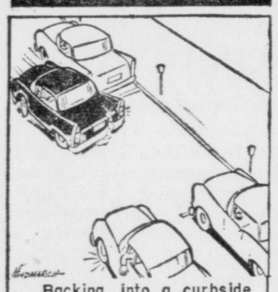
SAFE DRIVING TIP



Backing into a curbside parking space on a busy street requires a sharp lookout through the rear window for approaching traffic.

Often in crowded districts the driver following you does not know you are going to park, the Chicago Motor Club points out, so be sure to signal him.

Don't forget that when backing into a parking place, the left front fender of your car will jut into the adjoining traffic lane. Wait for an opening before starting the rearward swing.

Q. How can I hem an old window shade if the needle breaks the fabric?

A. When making a new hem in an old window shade and one is not sure it will stand stitching, make a deeper hem and try gluing it shut to hold the stick.

Q. How can I get quick relief from a burn?

A. Baking soda affords instant relief from a burn or a scald. Applied either wet or dry to the burned part, it gives immediate relief.

Q. How can I give an added flavor to apple pie?

A. When an apple pie is two-thirds baked, sprinkle grated cheese over the top. It adds much to the flavor of the pie.

Weight Control Hinges On Prevention

Prevention is the best approach to easy weight control. If you are a "mere" 10 to 15 pounds above ideal weight, here's a thought that should jolt you into action. All those who are 40 or more pounds above their healthy normal weight were once just 10 pounds to 15 pounds past pleasing. The moral is: Do something about your weight before the creeping pounds get completely out of control.

Ida Jean Kain

An early dieter from Ohio writes: "I am so glad I started to diet before I had gained too much. I am 5 feet 9 tall and I look best at about 145 pounds. I was up to 160 pounds and all my clothes were getting uncomfortably tight—especially around the midsection.

—:—

"WITH THE HELP of your diet and exercise plan, I have already reduced 12 pounds, along with two inches from my waist and two from the hips, and I am a perfect size 16 again. I have only six pounds more to go. Thanks so much for your encouragement and help. I feel ever so much better."

There's a wise and far-sighted young woman. She resisted the temptation to shrug off the excess pounds as "a trifle, hardly enough to notice."

Many of you who are 10 or so pounds above ideal weight honestly feel that such a small abount is nothing to be concerned about. What can this dietitian say that will jolt you? Unless you make a change in your food habits now, you will keep gaining. Those 10 little pounds will grow—and slowly but surely you'll be forced to wear a larger size dress. It's later than you think!

Do yourself a real favor—take action while it's easy to deal with the pounds. To slim down ten pounds there is no need to go on a rigid diet. In fact, it's far better to change your eating pattern to conform to a lower calorie intake. It's changed food habits that help you to stay slim.

At breakfast, skip the sweet roll and have an egg and a thin slice or two of high protein bread. Protein in the morning meal steps up energy early in the day. At noon, eat a good lunch, but choose fruit for dessert.

At dinner, limit calories to 450. Choose only one starch: bread or potatoes. Skip the gravy. Have a second vegetable, without added fat, and a salad with only a small amount of dressing or a low calorie dressing. Have a generous serving of lean meat, poultry or fish.

FIVE NIGHTS a week, choose fruit for dessert. This menu pattern helps to re-educate your palate. Then keeping weight normal is no trouble at all.

Just a few minutes daily of precision stretch-bends will help you shape up as you slim off those 10 extra pounds.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet," and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Midland Firm's Scholarship Plan To Be Continued

J. Ralph Patterson, division manager of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Co. at Midland, said the E. W. Bliss Co., the parent firm, will continue its scholarship program for the fourth consecutive year.

Twenty-one students, chosen in competitive interviews in the last three years, are now being assisted in obtaining engineering degrees in the nation's colleges under this program. They are located at 14 universities and include candidates for mechanical, electrical and metallurgical engineering degrees. Represented among the 21 are students sponsored by each of the company's major manufacturing divisions in Pittsburgh, Canton, Salem, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio and Hastings, Mich.

Administered through the company's personnel office on South Side Pittsburgh, this year's program will start with the fall term and the scholarships will be renewable each year as the student's need and eligibility continues.

The amount of financial assistance will be determined by individual need, Patterson said.

To qualify as a candidate, each applicant must have graduated from high school at a fairly recent date with good scholastic rating and take qualifying tests prescribed and administered by the company.

Applications must be made on or before April 15 on forms obtainable from R. F. Crawford, personnel manager, at the company's personnel office in Midland. Interviews will follow, and the company's Scholarship Board will make the final selections.

The scholarship student may select the engineering college he desires to attend. His curriculum should lead to a bachelor's degree in engineering and he must maintain scholastic and personal standings satisfactory to the college of his choice.

Record Total Of Proposed Laws Looms

Ohio's Legislature Hits Deadline For Introducing Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers are rushing toward today's bill - introduction deadline with a new modern-day record almost assured.

They need offer only 144 proposed laws to surpass the modern record of 1,384 bills submitted two years ago.

Wednesday, 197 bills were introduced, including a number of measures asked by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, to raise the total to 1,241.

The DiSalle administration legislative program began to emerge in the late flurry of bills. The administration tag was hung on such measures as bills to:

Revise the state sales tax to eliminate tax stamps, restore the first bracket of tax beginning at 16 cents, impose the tax on services like transient occupancy of hotel and motel rooms, on laundry and dry cleaning, on entertainment admissions, some club dues and on parking and printing.

Eliminate most rotary funds held within state departments and transfer the funds to the State Treasury. (Rotary funds, generally, represent money collected for services which is held by a department to defray the cost of services. The Legislature has little or no control over these funds.)

Establish a Bureau of Watercraft in the Department of Natural Resources to license boats. Such licensing now is done by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Create a State Canal Land Authority to sell unneeded canal lands while still keeping a string on the property in case it is needed again.

Put state park roads on the state highway system to permit their maintenance.

Increase auto registration fee from $10 to $15 and increase truck and truck trailer licenses 15 to 20 per cent.

Also proposed were a number of other bills described as "department" bills including measures to:

Take distribution of poor relief away from Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission and put the distribution in the hands of the county welfare departments.

Make killing a game protector or park officer first-degree murder.

In still a fourth class was a measure to split the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction whereby the state industrial schools and juvenile research would remain in mental hygiene. DiSalle has talked of such a change and gives it his blessing if it is found to be workable, Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) told newsmen.

In another major development, Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) offered a gross weight tax on trucks as a substitute for Ohio's controversial axle-mile tax on big trucks.

He and the co-sponsor, Sen. Stephen R. Olenick (D-Youngstown), said the gross weight tax would produce 11 million dollars a year—as much or more than the axle-mile tax—and avoid reciprocity battles with other states.

All funds produced by the axle-mile tax now are pledged to retirement of the 500-million-dollar highway construction bond issue approved in 1953.

House Minority Leader Roger Cloud (R-Logan) told newsmen he will oppose repeal of the axle-mile tax on grounds the new proposal would abandon the concept that trucks should be taxed according to their use of the roads.

The Senate adopted and sent to the House a resolution asking Congress to refrain from adopting an increase in the three-cent federal gasoline tax. The state is considering an increase in its present five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to seven cents to finance future highway building. The vote was 27-1 with only Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) dissenting.

Senators also confirmed unanimously a number of appointments including several made by former Gov. C. William O'Neill. They included Stanley G. Allyn of Dayton as an Ohio State University trustee and former Highway Safety Director Gordon Jeffery of Toledo as a member of the Toledo Regional Board of Review of the Bureau of Workmens Compensation.

U. S. agricultural exports for the 12 months ending in mid-1959 are estimated to be about 3.8 billion dollars.

Outlook Bright For 1959

West Virginia Sees Steady Rise In Jobs, Prosperity

CHARLESTON (AP) — Steady increases in employment and prosperity in West Virginia this year were predicted by experts in the state government.

Director Crawford L. Wilson of the State Mines Department said he looked for a 3 per cent rise in the number of men working in the mines.

Henry L. Ash, director of the department of employment security, foresaw non-agricultural employment going up steadily but moderately from the 453,000 reported at the end of January.

Wilson put the number of miners to be taken on during the year at 1,500. Employment in the mines now is reported at 50,000.

Ash hesitated to specify the addition in general employment that might develop. He said that certain indications, like the large number of construction contracts entered into last year, made him moderately optimistic.

His belief that the unemployment compensation fund will reach its low point at the end of this month was repeated. Ash said he doubted that the balance would drop below 35 million dollars. It is at that point when all employers have to pay the maximum rate toward unemployment compensation.

Wilson spoke for the state's largest industry.

For farming, next in importance, Johnson predicted good times, but with reservations. He pointed out that livestock prices had been doing the most to improve the condition of farmers and that the market could fall off.

The business pickup throughout the country lay behind the optimisim of the three department heads.

Wilson was particularly heartened by the increased demand for coal by public utilities and steel mills.

He also dwelt on the benefits expected for the industry if residual oil imports are reduced through mandatory restrictions.

He estimated present unemployment at "upwards of 80,000." He said he foresaw little permanent improvement without additional federal or state financial aid.

Operation Okay But Complications Fatal To Horse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The operation was proclaimed a success, but the four-legged patient died of complications.

That was the report Wednesday of a pediatric surgeon who, with a veterinarian, performed a delicate heart operation on a three-year-old harness racing trotter, Wilky Way.

The operation, performed here Feb. 26, apparently was the first of its type on a horse. It involved closing off a blood vessel, which normally should have closed of its own accord after birth.

The surgeon, who declined use of his name, said two days after surgery, the horse developed a high temperature, had a convulsion and died.

He said a post-mortem examination disclosed that death was not attributable to surgery, but rather to a central nervous system complication.

Record Total Of Proposed Laws Looms

Ohio's Legislature Hits Deadline For Introducing Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers are rushing toward today's bill - introduction deadline with a new modern-day record almost assured.

They need offer only 144 proposed laws to surpass the modern record of 1,384 bills submitted two years ago.

Wednesday, 197 bills were introduced, including a number of measures asked by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, to raise the total to 1,241.

The DiSalle administration legislative program began to emerge in the late flurry of bills. The administration tag was hung on such measures as bills to:

Revise the state sales tax to eliminate tax stamps, restore the first bracket of tax beginning at 16 cents, impose the tax on services like transient occupancy of hotel and motel rooms, on laundry and dry cleaning, on entertainment admissions, some club dues and on parking and printing.

Eliminate most rotary funds held within state departments and transfer the funds to the State Treasury. (Rotary funds, generally, represent money collected for services which is held by a department to defray the cost of services. The Legislature has little or no control over these funds.)

Establish a Bureau of Watercraft in the Department of Natural Resources to license boats. Such licensing now is done by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Create a State Canal Land Authority to sell unneeded canal lands while still keeping a string on the property in case it is needed again.

Another batch which bore the tag "governor's bill" but which are not, at this time, a part of his administration's program, included bills to:

Put state park roads on the state highway system to permit their maintenance.

Increase auto registration fee from $10 to $15 and increase truck and truck trailer licenses 15 to 20 per cent.

Cut the present three - year driver licenses to one year and raise their cost from 75 cents to $2.

Also proposed were a number of other bills described as "department" bills including measures to:

Take distribution of poor relief away from Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission and put the distribution in the hands of the county welfare departments.

Eliminate the present prohibition on Sunday fishing.

Make killing a game protector or park officer first-degree murder.

In still a fourth class was a measure to split the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction whereby the state industrial schools and juvenile research would remain in mental hygiene. DiSalle has talked of such a change and gives it his blessing if it is found to be workable, Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) told newsmen.

In another major development, Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) offered a gross weight tax on trucks as a substitute for Ohio's controversial axle-mile tax on big trucks.

He and the co-sponsor, Sen. Stephen R. Olenick (D-Youngstown), said the gross weight tax would produce 11 million dollars a year—as much or more than the axle-mile tax—and avoid reciprocity battles with other states.

All funds produced by the axle-mile tax now are pledged to retirement of the 500-million-dollar highway construction bond issue approved in 1953.

House Minority Leader Roger Cloud (R-Logan) told newsmen he will oppose repeal of the axle-mile tax on grounds the new proposal would abandon the concept that trucks should be taxed according to their use of the roads.

The Senate adopted and sent to the House a resolution asking Congress to refrain from adopting an increase in the three-cent federal gasoline tax. The state is considering an increase in its present five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to seven cents to finance future highway building. The vote was 27-1 with only Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) dissenting.

Senators also confirmed unanimously a number of appointments including several made by former Gov. C. William O'Neill. They included Stanley G. Allyn of Dayton as an Ohio State University trustee and former Highway Safety Director Gordon Jeffery of Toledo as a member of the Toledo Regional Board of Review of the Bureau of Workmens Compensation.

Outlook Bright For 1959

West Virginia Sees Steady Rise In Jobs, Prosperity

CHARLESTON (AP) — Steady increases in employment and prosperity in West Virginia this year were predicted by experts in the state government.

Director Crawford L. Wilson of the State Mines Department said he looked for a 3 per cent rise in the number of men working in the mines.

Henry L. Ash, director of the department of employment security, foresaw non-agricultural employment going up steadily but moderately from the 453,000 reported at the end of January.

Wilson put the number of miners to be taken on during the year at 1,500. Employment in the mines now is reported at 50,000.

Ash hesitated to specify the addition in general employment that might develop. He said that certain indications, like the large number of construction contracts entered into last year, made him moderately optimistic.

His belief that the unemployment compensation fund will reach its low point at the end of this month was repeated. Ash said he doubted that the balance would drop below 35 million dollars. It is at that point when all employers have to pay the maximum rate toward unemployment compensation.

Wilson spoke for the state's largest industry.

For farming, next in importance, Johnson predicted good times, but with reservations. He pointed out that livestock prices had been doing the most to improve the condition of farmers and that the market could fall off.

The business pickup throughout the country lay behind the optimisim of the three department heads.

Wilson was particularly heartened by the increased demand for coal by public utilities and steel mills.

He also dwelt on the benefits expected for the industry if residual oil imports are reduced through mandatory restrictions.

He estimated present unemployment at "upwards of 80,000." He said he foresaw little permanent improvement without additional federal or state financial aid.

Operation Okay But Complications Fatal To Horse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The operation was proclaimed a success, but the four-legged patient died of complications.

That was the report Wednesday of a pediatric surgeon who, with a veterinarian, performed a delicate heart operation on a three-year-old harness racing trotter, Wilky Way.

The operation, performed here Feb. 26, apparently was the first of its type on a horse. It involved closing off a blood vessel, which normally should have closed of its own accord after birth.

The surgeon, who declined use of his name, said two days after surgery, the horse developed a high temperature, had a convulsion and died.

He said a post-mortem examination disclosed that death was not attributable to surgery, but rather to a central nervous system complication.

Music Pupils Entertain PTA

Group At Grandview Will Elect April 7

An instrumental program by students of the Celli School of Music was presented at a meeting of the Grandview Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night at the school near Chester.

Solos were played by Phillip Smith, guitar; Rosemary Morris, clarinet; Johnny Cline, trumpet, and Patty Pugh, saxophone. Cecil Boyd, an instructor, directed the program and played the guitar.

Mrs. Albert Shroades, chairman of the ways and means committee, said a bake sale will be held April 11 at the Eberhart Grocery in Lawrenceville.

William Schladen announced the Hancock County PTA Council will meet March 31 at the school. Mrs. Elizabeth Hillyard, Mrs. Gaynell Shroades and Mrs. Russell Smith were named a nominating committee for election of officers at the next meeting April 7.

The attendance award was won by rooms taught by C. B. Smith, principal, and Mrs. Winifred Hetzler. Russell Smith led devotions. Refreshments were served 30 by Mrs. Merle Williams and committee.

3 Officials Advanced With Weirton Steel

WEIRTON — Three advancements in the operating department at the Weirton Steel Co. division of the National Steel Corp. have been announced by A. J. Berdis, president. All appointments were effective immediately.

Arch Miller Jr. has been named assistant general superintendent, advancing to that position from manager of the Tin Mill Department; George E. Hugus has been promoted from assistant manager to manager, succeeding Miller, and Ralph W. Harris advanced from night superintendent to assistant manager, succeeding Hugus.

In his new position, Miller succeeds G. W. Gould, who has been named general superintendent of the new Midwest Steel Corp. plant which National Steel will build in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Railroad Transfers Former City Resident

Walter C. Rockey of Weirton, a former East Liverpool resident, has been promoted to trainmaster at Logansport, Ind., with the Northwestern Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was assistant trainmaster at Mingo Junction.

Rockey was named assistant at Mingo in 1954. He will be succeeded by John M. McGuigan of Oil City, Pa. The territory includes East Liverpool, Wellsville, Toronto and Steubenville.

McGuigan was assistant trainmaster and assistant road foreman of engines at Oil City. He previously was a master mechanic at Williamsport, Pa.

Invitation Rejected

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic party leaders sent out invitations to midwestern governors of nine states to attend a conference planned here in March. They got back one quick reply. It was from Gov. John E. Davis of North Dakota. He turned down the invitation. He's a Republican.

Group At Grandview Will Elect April 7

An instrumental program by students of the Celli School of Music was presented at a meeting of the Grandview Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night at the school near Chester.

Solos were played by Phillip Smith, guitar; Rosemary Morris, clarinet; Johnny Cline, trumpet, and Patty Pugh, saxophone. Cecil Boyd, an instructor, directed the program and played the guitar.

Mrs. Albert Shroades, chairman of the ways and means committee, said a bake sale will be held April 11 at the Eberhart Grocery in Lawrenceville.

William Schladen announced the Hancock County PTA Council will meet March 31 at the school. Mrs. Elizabeth Hillyard, Mrs. Gaynell Shroades and Mrs. Russell Smith were named a nominating committee for election of officers at the next meeting April 7.

The attendance award was won by rooms taught by C. B. Smith, principal, and Mrs. Winifred Hetzler. Russell Smith led devotions. Refreshments were served 30 by Mrs. Merle Williams and committee.

3 Officials Advanced With Weirton Steel

WEIRTON — Three advancements in the operating department at the Weirton Steel Co. division of the National Steel Corp. have been announced by A. J. Berdis, president. All appointments were effective immediately.

Arch Miller Jr. has been named assistant general superintendent, advancing to that position from manager of the Tin Mill Department; George E. Hugus has been promoted from assistant manager to manager, succeeding Miller, and Ralph W. Harris advanced from night superintendent to assistant manager, succeeding Hugus.

In his new position, Miller succeeds G. W. Gould, who has been named general superintendent of the new Midwest Steel Corp. plant which National Steel will build in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Railroad Transfers Former City Resident

Walter C. Rockey of Weirton, a former East Liverpool resident, has been promoted to trainmaster at Logansport, Ind., with the Northwestern Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was assistant trainmaster at Mingo Junction.

Rockey was named assistant at Mingo in 1954. He will be succeeded by John M. McGuigan of Oil City, Pa. The territory includes East Liverpool, Wellsville, Toronto and Steubenville.

McGuigan was assistant trainmaster and assistant road foreman of engines at Oil City. He previously was a master mechanic at Williamsport, Pa.

Invitation Rejected

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic party leaders sent out invitations to midwestern governors of nine states to attend a conference planned here in March. They got back one quick reply. It was from Gov. John E. Davis of North Dakota. He turned down the invitation. He's a Republican.
